Reaction Mixed On Pullout

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today President Richard M. Nixon's decision to withdraw 25,000 troops from Vietnam represented "the first solid hope for the American people since this conflict began six years ago."

At the other end of a wide spectrum of reaction on Capital hill, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., a leading dove, said the withdrawl amounted to mere "tokenism."

SLOW HAUL

Midway between those views, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the President's action appeared to be the start of a graduated pullout but "I'm afraid it will be slow."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., former chairman of the armed services panel and regarded as one of Congress' foremost authorities on military matters, commented:

"The withdrawal of 25,000 men from South Vietnam is of no great significant. And it will not substantially reduce American casualties."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he hoped the announced withdrawal "signifies a change in United States policy." He added he hoped it could be followed by additional pullouts.

McGOVERN SLAP

Senate Republican Whip Hugh Scott, Pa., in apparent reply to McGovern, told newsmen: "The President's approach is to do exactly the same thing the doves have been demanding. Now they have their feathers ruffled because they're not in the seats of power."

Scott took up the same topic later on the Senate floor, saying the complaints about the withdrawal: "That takes the cake."

For his part, Dirksen said in a Senate speech:

He (Nixon) returns from the Midway conference with the first tangible, specific immediate step to de-Americanize that struggle . . . What President Nixon brings back is the first solid hope for the American people since this conflict began six years ago."

But Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, one of the Senate's most strident doves, said the withdrawal would fall far short of Nixon's campaign promise to "end the war in Vietnam and bring the boys home."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., a "hawk," called the withdrawal plan "a risk, but it demonstrates America's peaceful intentions."

U.S. To Withdraw 25,000 In Vietnam

Defense Boss Sees Pullout Peace Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird declared today President Richard M. Nixon's decision to pull 25,000 troops out of Vietnam moves the United States "closer to peace."

Arriving from the joint U.S.-Vietnamese meeting at Midway, Laird said: "I believe we return closer to peace and we now have a program moving forward to change the role of United States forces in Vietnam and in Southeast Asia."

The defense chief said he believes the U.S. effort to give South Vietnam a bigger role in the war "will bear fruit" in the coming days.

UNITS NOT IDENTIFIED

Laird did not identify which units will be the first to leave the war zone. He said that will be decided Thursday by a joint service task force which is being assigned to prepare for the movement of withdrawing units in early July.

Other sources indicated the withdrawn troops would not return to this country, but would be held in reserve in such areas as Okinawa and Hawaii, from which they could be rushed back to Vietnam in case they should be needed.

The pullout is expected to start with the withdrawal of severa combat battalions or support-type forces.

The task force, to convene at the Pacific command in Hawaii, will include representatives of Laird's office and of each of the military services, and air and sea transport specialists.

NO FORECAST

"I don't make predictions as to what kind of response there will be," he said.

But Laird contended that the U.S. decision "should be a signal to the North Vietnamese that the United States is going to maintain its objective" of self determination for the South Vietnamese by its carefully measured troop reduction.

This should also indicate to the North Vietnamese, Laird said, that the United States "is firm in its resolve to see that the South Vietnamese do take over and are prepared and are capable" of defending themselves.

THIEU TAKES THE CREDIT FOR PULLOUT

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu asserted today it was his idea to pull 25,000 U.S. troops out of Vietnam and declared that no differences arose during his meeting with President Richard M. Nixon over the course of the war or steps to peace.

Thieu told a news conference no decisions on pulling out more American troops can be made until after the departure of the first contingent of 25,000 by late August.

He said any decisions on such troops deployment will be based on an assessment of the ability of South Vietnamese forces to take over the fighting, on the progress of the Paris peace talks and the level of enemy activity.

Sudden Drop In Attacks By Red Bloc

U.S. spokesmen could offer no firm explanation for the sudden drop in North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks, except possibly the heavy losses the enemy had suffered. Military sources estimated about 2,500 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have been killed by allied forces since the sudden upsurge in enemy activity began last Thursday night.

The U.S. Command has made no announcement of total U.S. casualties during this period, but informed sources estimate that more than 150 Americans have been killed.

Military analysts considered the step-up in enemy attacks an attempt to influence the Midway meeting between Presidents Nixon and Nguyen Van Thieu. With the meeting over, it appeared that the Viet Cong might be returning to business as usual.

The U.S. Command reported attacks last night and early today, less than half the 59 attacks the night before. There were 63 on Friday night and more than 100 Thursday.

U.S. headquarters said overall casualties and damage were light last night.

Troop Plan Disclosed At Midway

MIDWAY ISLAND (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon has announced he will withdraw 25,000 American troops from Vietnam by the end of August and indicated others will be sent home as conditions warrant. They will be replaced by South Vietnamese combat forces.

Nixon made the announcemet yesterday at a summit conference with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, the seventh meeting of a U.S. president with leaders of the Saigon government. They appeared affable and relaxed, confident of the course of the war and mildly optimistic about peace.

FIRM WORDS

In the firm words of a joint communique, they told the Communists to realize the futility and danger of trying to win a military victory in Vietnam and said there must be self-determination for the Vietnamese people without interference or terror. They ruled out imposition of a coalition government on South Vietnam.

Nixon called the Midway meeting a "significant step forward" toward peace in Vietnam. Their joint communique added that a study of recent Communist and allied peace plans in Paris showed "certain points which appear not too far" from the allied positions.

(In Paris, North Vietnam denounced today as a "crude farce" the decision to withdraw 25,000 U.S. troops from South Vietnam. The National Liberation Front also assailed the decision.

CONG ATTACK

(Lashing out at the Midway meeting of Presidents Nixon and Nguyen Van Thieu and the troop withdrawal announcement, a spokesman for the NLF delegation at the Paris peace talks said the decision would have no effect on what he called the U.S. war of aggression.

(He said the withdrawal of 25,000 U.S. troops "constitutes only a grain of sand thrown in an ocean." He called it a "propaganda maneuver intended to calm the demands of the American people and mislead world opinion.")

Nixon did not wait for conclusion of the meeting to

Elementary School Bond Vote Tomorrow

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. tomorrow for voters in the San Rafael Elementary School District to decide on a $2.1 million bond issue to finance a new school and improve others.

Some 16,619 persons are eligible to vote on the bond measure — generally the same one defeated in February when it garnered 60.4 per cent approval, about 6 per cent short of the required two-thirds majority.

Funds would be used to build a Glenwood Middle School, for sixth, seventh and eighth graders, improve Davidson Junior High School and modernize other older schools.

Polling places in the special election are:

Sun Valley School, West End School, San Rafael City Hall, the Farley residence at 1480 Lincoln Avenue, Gallinas School, MacPhail School, Oliver Hartzell School and San Pedro School;

Boy Scout Hall, Second and A streets, Schools Administration Building, Third and E streets, Davidson School, Laurel Dell Intermediate School, San Quentin Recreation Room, Bahia Vista School, Dufficy residence at 31 Palm Avenue, Coleman School, Tait residence at 71 Lochinvar Road and Glenwood School.

Prime Bank Lending Rate Increased By 1 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP) — Major banks today raised the prime rate—the interest charged their biggest and best customers for loans—to a historic high of 8.5 per cent from 7.5 per cent, effective immediately.

An increase had been expected for some time. but the amount of the hike — a full 1 per cent—was surprising.

The first bank to increase the rate was Bankers Trust Co. of New York and it did so without making any comment on its reasons. Other New York banks, and then Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston banks quickly made the same move. Among the banks was Chase Manhattan and First National City of New York.

Reacting to the move, the Dow Jones industrial average dropped about seven points shortly after the New York Stock Exchange opened.

When one bank increases the prime rate, others usually follow.

The prime rate is used in determining the interest rate charged most large corporations. Other rates, such as interest rates to consumers, are scaled upward from the prime rate.

The old rate of 7.5 per cent was a record high when it was set on March 17. As recently as last Dec. 2 the rate was 6.25. A series of rate increases, usually one-fourth or one-half of a per cent at a time, had occurred between December and March.

(In California, Crocker-Citizens National Bank, the state's second largest, became the first banking institution to raise the prime interest rate.)

New Plan To Preserve The Creek

By FRANK FARRARA

A group of Ross residents has come up with a flood control plan to preserve the natural beauty of Corte Madera Creek through their town, which they see threatened by present creek flood control plans.

And tonight town residents will have a chance to discuss the plan — prepared by a committee of 75 townsmen — at a public meeting at 8 o'clock in the multipurpose room at Ross School.

"Some flood control is necessary," said committee chairman William C. Bricca. "It is up to the people to decide if they want the plans made by the Army Corps of Engineers, or something that will preserve the beauty of Ross. If the people show they aren't interested, all right. This committee and I will then just fade away."

They are seeking to stave off the Army Corps of Engineers plan for an open concrete ditch, 33 feet wide, 13 feet deep and topped by a six-foot fence.

The Ross Citizens Committee proposes an underground channel parallel to the creek, which YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Tioga Pass highway, crossing the Sierra through Yosemite National Park, was closed again today after being opened for the season only last Friday.

Snow in the high country and a rock slide near the summit of the 10,000-foot pass resulted in its closure early today.

U.S. Report On Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission said today a small but determined minority, resorting to "dramatic tactics of terror," has often induced university authorities to surrender or meet force with force.

But it urged "Americans to reject hasty and simplistic answers" and asked restraint on "those who would punish colleges."

For colleges, the report had this word: act faster and don't hesitate to call civil police.

The National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, established by President Lyndon B. Johnson after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy a year ago, said "so threatening is the situation . . . that this commission feels compelled to speak now rather than to remain silent until publication of its final report next fall."

Hans Fischel, Part-Time Hub Treasurer, Dies In Auto Crash

Hans E. Fischel, 65, a public accountant who served as San Anselmo's parttime city treasurer, was fatally injured Saturday night when his car flipped off Highway 37, east of Lakeville Road, Sonoma County.

Fischel, who suffered internal abdominal and chest injuries, died at Novato General Hospital at 9:15 p.m., 90 minutes after the solo crash.

His wife, Greta, 63, who suffered severe head and body cuts and internal injuries, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital.

Fischel's car was traveling west when it swerved onto the shoulder of the roadway, struck a guard rail, flipped over and landed 25 feet below the roadway, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Ken Allan Fowler, 22, of 45 Creek Road, Fairfax, according to patrol officers, said Fischel, traveling in the slow lane, started to change into the fast lane in front of him.

There was less than a car length between them so he honked his horn to warn Fischel, Fowler said.

Then, Fowler reported, according to the patrol, that Fischel jerked his car back to the slow lane, and it apparently went out of control, going from one lane to the other until it hit the guard rail.

San Anselmo's treasurer

Fischel was elected San Anselmo city treasurer in April 1968, unseating George W. Prydz. Mrs. Fischel was nominated last month for Marin Senior Citizen of the Year by the Senior Adult Group of San Anselmo.

Fischel, who lived at 107 Brookside Drive, had been a resident of San Anselmo since 1953. He was a native of Germany.

Before opening his own office in San Anselmo, he was employed by Standard Oil Co. of California for 28 years. He was a member of the National Society of Public Accountants, Marin County Historical Society, Marin Council for Civic Affairs and San Anselmo Homes Association.

PAPAL AUDIENCE — Abdo Kardiber, a Lebanese oil worker, kneels to kiss the hand of Pope Paul VI during a rare midnight mass last week at Vatican City. Pardoned Oilmen Forgive Biafrans

ROME (AP) — "We bear no hate toward the Biafrans," one of the oilmen freed by the rebels in Eastern Nigeria said last night. "They are a people who know nothing of the rest of the world."

"They don't even know that Italy exists, that Italy helps them," Vittorio Lucarelli continued as he told how the Biafran soldiers that overran the oilmen's camp near Kwale, Midwest Nigeria, a month ago argued among themselves about how many to kill. They shot 11 of 29.

"The ones who fired into our group were part of an advance patrol; they were all young, "Lucarelli said." They understood only that their job was to kill, not be killed."

After 10 Italians and a Jordanian were shot, Lucarelli said, "they took us to a nearby village where the people wanted to jump on us and kill us. They put us in a big hole covered with cloth. We stayed there for three days.

"Then we had a trial, but even before that someone gave us to understand that we would be condemned to die. We were convinced that there was no hope left. No one, in fact, said anything about the intervention of the Italian government. We felt abandoned."

The Biafran leader, Lt. Gen. Odumegu Ojukwu, pardoned the men after appeals by other African governments, the governments of France and Portugal and by Pope Paul VI. Biafra had charged that the oilmen were fighting alongside federal Nigerian troops.

The 18 survivors—14 Italians, three West Germans and a Lebanese—were taken to Gabon, an African nation that recognizes Biafara. They were flown to Rome Saturday, arriving just before midnight to be welcomed by thousands at the airport and by the Pope.

Last night in Metanopoli, near Milan, the survivors attended funeral services for the 10 Italians killed by the Biafrans. Giovanni Cardinal Colombo, archbishop of Milan, celebrated the mass, which was attended by Italian Premier Mariano Rumor, other government officials and officials of ENI, the state oil firm that employed the men.

Robinson Rips ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former baseball great Jackie Robinson today urged Congress not to appropriate funds for President Nixon's proposed Safeguard antimissile system.

In testimony prepared for a hearing by the House Appropriations Committee, the Negro athlete argued that "an overpreoccupation with a possible future external threat on which we are preparing to spend billions of dollars has blinded us to human misery at home."

He said deployment of the Safeguard would distort national priorities, lead to an escalation of the arms race and ruin any potential arms control agreements with other nations.

Robinson represented the Council for Christian Social Action of the United Church of Christ.

A vice president of the NAACP, Robinson was a Republican and a former aide to New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, but last year he endorsed Democratic candidate Hubert H. Humphrey for president.

His testimony came as the major showdown on the antiballistic missile—ABM—issue is nearing in the Senate.

June Meeting Off

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization has canceled its June 18 meeting because it does not expect a quorum. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. July 16 in the Marin County schools office in Corte Madera.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Cornell Resignation

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — The resignation of James A. Perkins as president of Cornell University has been accepted by the university trustees.

The trustees decided yesterday that full executive authority would be given to Dale R. Corson, the unviersity provost, until a successor to Perkins can be found.

Spy Boat Sinks

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean coastal defense forces have reported sinking a North Korean spy boat in a 20-minute gun battle 140 miles southeast of Seoul.

The Defense Ministry said the rubber boat, capable of holding six persons, was discovered attempting to land agents and was sunk early yesterday off the east coast city of Pukp'yong-ni.

Searchers recovered the body of a North Korean officer, a submachine gun and four pounds of TNT from the water, a spokesman said. A search for the boat's other occupants continued but all were believed to have drowned.

Six Released

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has released the six persons arrested in a Moscow square Friday during a demonstration protesting the treatment of Crimean Tatars, friends report.

Five members of the group were freed Saturday and sent back to their homes in the Soviet Ukraine. The sixth, a non-Tatar, had been released earlier.

Police seized the six after they unfurled banners claiming the government was persecuting the Tatars, a minority evicted from their Crimean homeland in 1945 on charges of collaboration with the Nazis. They were cleared of this charge in 1967 but say they are still barred from returning to the Crimea.

Permission To Wed

ROME (AP) — Ex-King Umberto of Italy has agreed to the wedding of his daughter Princess Maria Gabriella of Savoy to Robert de Balkany, Romanian-born French financier whose previous marriage ended in divorce.

A royal aide who announced this yesterday mentioned no date for the ceremony.

Umberto now lives in Cascais, Portugal. The aide said Queen Maria Jose, who lives in Geneva, Switzerland, also consented to the marriage.

21-Year-Old Elected To College Board

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—A 21-year-old student who participated in a Princeton University sit-in this spring hes become the first Negro and the youngest person ever to be named a trustee at the Ivy League school.

Brent L. Henry of Florence, N.J., was elected to the board by 3,200 juniors, seniors and recent graduates under a new program set up by the board of trustees to keep it more closely with undergraduate ideas.

Henry, who will enter Yale Law School in the fall, met the press over the weekend with another newly elected trustee, 22-year-old Richard W. Cass, a 1968 Princeton graduate who attends Yale Law School.

He said he planned to serve as a "liaison between the student body I am leaving and the alumni whom I soon will join."

Floods In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A preliminary survey shows at least 25,000 persons made homeless by torrential rains and floods throughout Chile in the past three days.

The count includes 10,000 in Santiago whose homes were flooded by the Mapocho River.

There were no reports of casualties, but national police reported considerable damage to crops.

The rains came after two years of drought. They brought down power and telephone lines and made land transportation impossible in many places.

Mine Wounds Two

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli army vehicle set off an antivehicle mine today on a dirt track near Houssainiye, on the Golan Heights of occupied Syria, a military spokesman said. Two Israeli soldiers were wounded.

Publishing Ban

BRASILIA (AP) — Brazilian editors have been ordered not to publish news stories that might inspire violence during Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's three-day visit beginning June 16.

Col. Aluisio Mulethaler, chief of the Federal Police Censorship Services, told newspaper and broadcast news editors Saturday night that they could not "publish or divulge news of hostile acts against the illustrious visitor in any country of Latin America, or news referring to the postponement or cancellation of his visit."

Earlier Sunday, government censors told editors to tone down both domestic and foreign news dealing with labor strife, student disorders and subversive activities.

Spain Shuts Border At Gibraltar

Cut off from their jobs in the 250-year-old British bastion that guards the entrance to the Mediterranean were most of the peninsula's barbers, cobblers and bakers. Other Spaniards worked in the dockyards, hotels, restaurants and on building projects.

The La Linea customs and police post at the base of the two and three-quarter mile peninsula was closed. The move was part of Gen. Francisco Franco's campaign to cripple the British territory economically and force Britain to return the Rock to Spain, a transfer an overwhelming majority of Gibraltarians oppose.

The Spanish Cabinet ordered the shutdown Friday, giving only 48 hours' notice that the border would be sealed. The order probably will sharply curtail tourist visits. Foreigners can now come only by ship or plane from some country outside Spain.

There were tearful scenes at the La Linea gate Saturday night as workers, shopkeepers and businessmen crossed the border in a slow procession. Streets and bars were crowded in the border town of La Linea de la Conception, which exists mainly on wages brought in from Gibraltar.

Trustees To Meet

The Mill Valley School Sistrict Board will hold a closed meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the district office to instruct Supt. James A. Collins on salary negotiations with district employees.

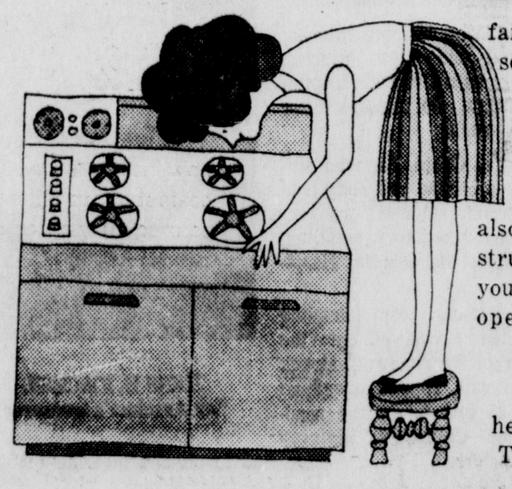
More Helpful Hints from PG&E:

"Clip and Save"

How to warm up a cold pilot.

Even the most faithful pilot light can go out. So check your pilot first if one of your gas appliances or furnace isn't operating.

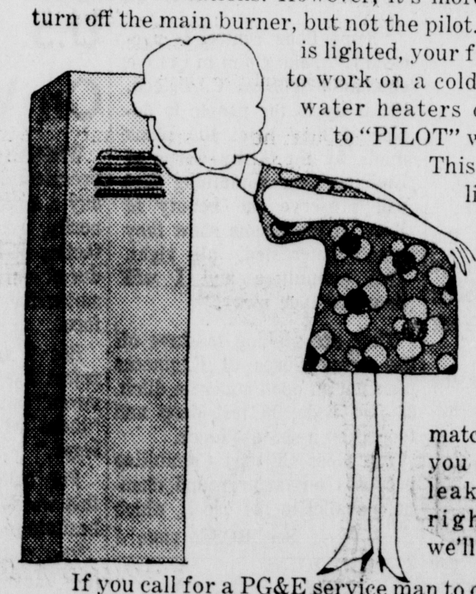
Most gas ranges have more than one pilot. If you're not sure where they're located, consult your owner's manual. (If you need help, call us.) Before relighting a pilot, be sure all burners are turned off. Allow a few minutes for the air to clear, then touch a lighted match to the pilot opening. The pilot should light with a small, blue flame, and the burner should light when you turn it on. If the burner fails to light, call us. We'll send a man out to check it.



Modern gas water heaters and dryers shut off completely if the pilot goes out. Most models also bear manufacturer instructions for relighting. If you can't get the appliance operating, call us or the installer.

If the pilot of any gas heater or furnace goes out, TURN OFF THE MAIN BURNER VALVE FIRST. Allow ten or fifteen minutes for any accumulation of gas to clear before relighting pilot (following the instructions on the equipment). With the pilot relighted, the furnace or heater should operate. If it won't, call us.

PILOTS NEEDN'T GO ON VACATION. Some folks prefer to shut off furnaces and water heaters during the summer or vacations. However, it's more convenient to turn off the main burner, but not the pilot. When the pilot is lighted, your furnace is ready to work on a cold day. Most hot water heaters can be turned to "PILOT" when not in use. This keeps the pilot lighted and prevents the main burner from heating water.



WARNING: Never look for a gas leak with a lighted match or candle. If you suspect a gas leak, call PG&E right away and we'll check it.

If you call for a PG&E service man to check out a gas leak or an appliance, have him show you where your pilots are, and how to relight them. If an appliance needs repairs or parts, an appliance man, plumber, or furnace man should be called.

P.S. Although the cost of living is up 183% since 1935, typical PG&E gas and electric rates are down 13.9%. We do all we can to give good service at low rates.

Admiral Testifies On Ghastly Collision

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Australian Adm. G. J. B. Crabb refused to say today whether there had been any communications difficulties between the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne and the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans before the carrier sliced the destroyer in two.

Crabb was asked by a joint U.S.-Australian board investigating the collision whether communication troubles had arisen on June 3. He said he preferred not to answer the question.

The two ships collided early that morning during maneuvers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization off the coast of South Vietnam. Crabb, commander of the Australian fleet, was aboard the carrier commanding the task force that included the Melbourne and the Evans.

Seventy-four of the Evans' crew members were killed. There were no casualties aboard the carrier.

Crabb told the board he was awakened three minutes before the collision and told the destroyer and the carrier were on "a collision course."

By the time he reached the bridge, he said, the nose of the Evans was directly in front of the Melbourne less than 40 feet away and "moving right to left in my vision."

Within seconds the Melbourne plowed through the Evans. It was a "ghastly sight," Crabb said. "I could see the Evans clearly, vividly. I didn't see any men on the deck of the Evans. That surprised me."

Crabb told the board it was standard procedure in the Australian navy for escort destroyers to turn away from a carrier when changing direction.

"It is a basic rule," he said. "I have told my officers I would sack any man who turned in."

Earlier, the admiral revealed that the Melbourne narrowly missed ramming another ship three days before she and the Evans collided.

He told the board that "another ship passed within 50 feet—50 feet—of the Melbourne" early on the morning of May 31. He termed the incident a "near collision."

Crabb did not name the other ship, but informed sources said it was the U.S. destroyer Everett F. Larson.

Russ Attack On China Is Deplored

MOSCOW (AP — Romanian Communist chief Nicolae Ceausescu sharply criticized Soviet attacks on Red China today and said they threatened the success of the Soviet-organized international Communist "unity" confernce.

Ceausescu said Romania was concerned about the anti-China course the conference had taken but said he would continue to participate in it to express his position.

Romania walked out of a 1968 meeting which prepared for the current session because of similar attacks on China. Emphasizing Romania's neutrality in the Moscow-Peking rivalry, Ceausescu balanced praise of the Soviet Communist revolution with that of the Chinese Communist revolution.

His praise of China sharply contrasted with a bitter attack on China delivered Saturday by Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, who warned that Peking was subverting the Communist movement and preparing for atomic war with Moscow.

President Opens Drive For $2.6 Million In Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration opened its drive in Congress today for $2.6 billion in new foreign aid funds, saying the U.S. program must continue if America is to keep its influence in developing lands.

"We must face up to the fact that politically, the United States cannot opt out of participation in the struggle for development and still expect to remain influential and relevant in the developing world," Elliot L. Richardson said.

Richardson, as acting secretary of state, was the scheduled lead-off witness in closed session as the House Foreign Affairs Committee began about a month of hearings on the new overseas assistance bill.

Congress chopped deeply into the program last year, and President Richard M. Nixon is seeking $900 million more than last year's appropriation in an effort to prevent a slump in U.S. economic help to developing countries in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Richardson testified that "if we do not follow through now until the courtries we aid become self-sustaining, our earlier investment will be lost."

"We now stand at a point where our will to follow through is in doubt," he said.

And "if the United States gave up, progress would falter or perhaps even cease" in the over-all development effort because U.S. funds are the "critical factor," he added in his prepared statement.

Nixon's program for the new fiscal year starting July 1 includes $2.2 billion for economic aid, $375 million for military assistance and $75 million to help launch a public corporation to spur private investment in backward areas. His blueprint stresses technical assistance and help for private enterprise pending an over-all aid review to be completed late this year.

Admiral Testifies On Ghastly Collision

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Australian Adm. G. J. B. Crabb refused to say today whether there had been any communications difficulties between the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne and the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans before the carrier sliced the destroyer in two.

Crabb was asked by a joint U.S.-Australian board investigating the collision whether communication troubles had arisen on June 3. He said he preferred not to answer the question.

The two ships collided early that morning during maneuvers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization off the coast of South Vietnam. Crabb, commander of the Australian fleet, was aboard the carrier commanding the task force that included the Melbourne and the Evans.

Seventy-four of the Evans' crew members were killed. There were no casualties aboard the carrier.

Crabb told the board he was awakened three minutes before the collision and told the destroyer and the carrier were on "a collision course."

By the time he reached the bridge, he said, the nose of the Evans was directly in front of the Melbourne less than 40 feet away and "moving right to left in my vision."

Within seconds the Melbourne plowed through the Evans. It was a "ghastly sight," Crabb said. "I could see the Evans clearly, vividly. I didn't see any men on the deck of the Evans. That surprised me."

Crabb told the board it was standard procedure in the Australian navy for escort destroyers to turn away from a carrier when changing direction.

"It is a basic rule," he said. "I have told my officers I would sack any man who turned in."

Earlier, the admiral revealed that the Melbourne narrowly missed ramming another ship three days before she and the Evans collided.

He told the board that "another ship passed within 50 feet—50 feet—of the Melbourne" early on the morning of May 31. He termed the incident a "near collision."

Crabb did not name the other ship, but informed sources said it was the U.S. destroyer Everett F. Larson.

Russ Attack On China Is Deplored

MOSCOW (AP — Romanian Communist chief Nicolae Ceausescu sharply criticized Soviet attacks on Red China today and said they threatened the success of the Soviet-organized international Communist "unity" confernce.

Ceausescu said Romania was concerned about the anti-China course the conference had taken but said he would continue to participate in it to express his position.

Romania walked out of a 1968 meeting which prepared for the current session because of similar attacks on China. Emphasizing Romania's neutrality in the Moscow-Peking rivalry, Ceausescu balanced praise of the Soviet Communist revolution with that of the Chinese Communist revolution.

His praise of China sharply contrasted with a bitter attack on China delivered Saturday by Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, who warned that Peking was subverting the Communist movement and preparing for atomic war with Moscow.

President Opens Drive For $2.6 Million In Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration opened its drive in Congress today for $2.6 billion in new foreign aid funds, saying the U.S. program must continue if America is to keep its influence in developing lands.

"We must face up to the fact that politically, the United States cannot opt out of participation in the struggle for development and still expect to remain influential and relevant in the developing world," Elliot L. Richardson said.

Richardson, as acting secretary of state, was the scheduled lead-off witness in closed session as the House Foreign Affairs Committee began about a month of hearings on the new overseas assistance bill.

Congress chopped deeply into the program last year, and President Richard M. Nixon is seeking $900 million more than last year's appropriation in an effort to prevent a slump in U.S. economic help to developing countries in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Richardson testified that "if we do not follow through now until the courtries we aid become self-sustaining, our earlier investment will be lost."

"We now stand at a point where our will to follow through is in doubt," he said.

And "if the United States gave up, progress would falter or perhaps even cease" in the over-all development effort because U.S. funds are the "critical factor," he added in his prepared statement.

Nixon's program for the new fiscal year starting July 1 includes $2.2 billion for economic aid, $375 million for military assistance and $75 million to help launch a public corporation to spur private investment in backward areas. His blueprint stresses technical assistance and help for private enterprise pending an over-all aid review to be completed late this year.

ROSS

will leave the creek untouched, reported Chairman William C. Bricca.

An underground creek, once considered too costly now appears feasible because landowners are willing to grant right-of-way at no cost to protect their environment, Bricca reported.

Residents were spurred into action last month by the spectacle of their neighbors in Kent Woodlands standing in the path of bulldozers, to fight a concrete ditch, in Tamalpais Creek.

Ross now stands in the path of the project with Phase III to extend from College Avenue in Kentfield to the confluence of Ross and Corte Madera Creeks, near the San Anselmo line, slightly more than one mile.

An underground channel could be constructed beneath the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. right-of-way, west of the creek for the full length of Phase III, Bricca said.

It has been named the "Ross-Bruff Storm Channel" in memory of Stephen C. Bruff, chairman of the Department of Physical Science at the College of Marin "who had the idea," Bricca reported.

The corps' plan "will require the clearing of a 63-foot-wide swath the length of Phase III," while the alternate channel will preserve the "great barrier of trees," which shields residents from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard traffic," he asserted. "Great trees, 50 to 60 feet high, now line both banks."

Excess water would be carried through an underground channel beneath the old railroad right-of-way to the concrete channel at College Avenue, the last section of Phase II of the project, Bricca reported.

The underground channel would handle as much, if not more, water than that contemplated in the corps' plan and "therefore accomplish the same result with virtually no environmental destruction," he said.

With landowners along the creek apparently willing to grant right-of-way at no costs, the saving in land acquisition costs would offset the additional construction costs, he contended, though no figures are available.

Donald R. Frost, Marin County public works director, said the proposed channel is feasible from an engineering standpoint, but doubted that the right-of-way savings would offset the increased cost.

Bricca said he had the word of several engineers that the land savings would offset the additional costs, but a complete feasibility plans hasn't been drawn up. He felt the complete plan should be drawn up by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Army Corps of Engineers has estimated the construction cost of Phase III at $2.5 million with construction slated to start next April and be completed in the fall of 1971. Land acquisition costs are covered by state funds.

Frost said a switch to the underground channel plan would delay the project one year, but Bricca believes that delay now isn't as crucial since the early flood work has been completed downstream.

Frost said that under the corps' plan there wouldn't have to be any utility relocation, but under the alternate plan the Marin Municipal Water District line under the railroad right-of-way probably would have to be relocated.

Some objection to delay can be expected from downstream residents in the Kentfield area, who have undergone serious flooding in past years along Kent Avenue and in the Granton Park area and want action.

Bricca is confident however, that the College of Marin, one of the largest right-of-way owners along the stretch, will look favorably on preserving the creek in its natural state.

"All Ross owners are in favor," Bricca asserted.

One of the advantages of using the old railroad right-of-way is that there are no substantial structures along it, Bricca noted.

If residents of Ross support the plan, it will bs submitted to the Corps of Engineers at a meeting at the office of Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, in San Francisco Wednesday.

Representatives of the town, Kentfield, Marin County and the College of Marin have been invited to the meeting, Bricca said.

Residents still have a chance to have project plans changed since the Ross Town Council, in joining the flood control district, held the right to approve "any and all final plans," reported Ross Mayor Frederick S. Allen. "It's still wide open." Construction cannot start without town council approval.

Marin County supervisors will have a hearing on Phase III of the project at 4 p.m. June 24 at the Marin Civic Center.

Dudley F. Miller of 25 Hill Drive will be moderator of the plan meeting today in Ross.

announce the troop withdrawal. He disclosed it to reporters between morning and afternoon sessions with Thieu and stated complete agreement with the South Vietnam president.

Those criteria were: developments at the Paris talks, developments on the battlefield and in South Vietnam and training and equipping more Vietnamese troops. He said America would never withdraw troops if it cost the South Vietnamese the principle of self-determination.

The lengthy communique made these points:

They agreed to meet again and review developments in the near future.

They agreed t he failure of the other side to achieve its objectives should convince it of its inability to gain a victory by military means.

Thieu reiterated his government's willingness to talk directly with the National Liberation Front (NLF), the political branch of the Viet Cong. His previous offers had been neither formally rejected nor accepted.

They agreed it would be appropriate to offer guarantees and safeguards for free elections to determine the future of the South Vietnamese and said provisions for international supervision could be written into the political settlement.

They rejected in advance Communist attempt to predetermine the outcome of future elections before they are held.

They affirmed the people of South Vietnam must decide themselves what form of government they wanted and reiterated a common resolve to reject any attempt to impose any particular form, such as a coalition.

They reviewed steps being taken to modernize and improve the Vietnamese armed forces and Thieu expressed pleasure at informing Nixon the South Vietnamese can now assume an increasingly large share of combat duties.

Thieu asked for additional assistance in improving the local forces and Nixon assured him of sympathetic consideration for the request.

They called for mutual withdrawal of foreign troops from Vietnam and from Laos and Cambodia where large Communist forces have been reported active; they called for adequate safeguards.

Thieu affirmed the principle of social and political justice in South Vietnam and said this prompted his original proposal for talks with the Viet Cong.

Following the session Nixon winged back to Honolulu where he will remain until late today. He will stay overnight at his California White House before returning to Washington, D.C.

VIOLENCE

self president emeritus of John Hopkins University.

"Our colleges and universities cannot perform their vital functions in an atmosphere that exalts the struggle for power over the search for truth, the rule of passion over the rule of reason, physical confrontation over rational discourse," the report said.

The commission has made public a number of studies made for it, but the report on campus violence is the first it has issued as its own.

It asked Americans to distinguish between peaceful protest and violent disruption, between the nonconformity of youth and the terror tactics of the extremists.

"Students are unwilling to accept the gaps between professed ideals and actual performance," the report said. "They see afresh the injustices that remain unremedied. They are not impressed by the dangers that previous generations have overcome and the problems they have solved."

The report offered these suggestions to the campus community:

A broad consensus should be achieved among students, faculty and administration concerning the permissible methods of presenting ideas, proposals and grievances and the consequences of going beyond them.

Students have the right to due process and to participate in the making of decisions that directly affect them, but their right of participation should not be so extensive as to paralyze the disciplinary process itself. Codes for campus conduct should place primary reliance on the power of the institution to maintain order in its own house and on its courage to apply its own punishment when deserved.

Universities should prepare and currently review contingency plans for dealing with campus disorders.

Most importantly, universities should make known in advance they will not hesitate to call on civil police when circumstances dictate and should review in advance with police officials the degrees of force suitable for particular situations.

Procedures for campus governance and constructive reform should be developed to permit more rapid and effective decision-making.

Greyhound Mechanics Set Vote

Greyhound Bus Lines mechanics were to vote tonight on a tentative contract agreement reached by negotiators which could avert a threatened strike that would strand 23,000 Bay Area commuters.

Some 4,000 commuters in Marin would be affected by a strike. Bus service in 11 Western states also would be disrupted.

Agreement was reached Friday night following a 90-minute bargaining session. Terms of the proposed pact were not announced.

The mechanics, represented by Lodge 1305 of the International Association of Machinists, now earn $5.09 an hour. They had demanded a new three-year contract that would raise pay $1.50 an hour and liberalize benefits.

An earlier offer by Greyhound called for a wage hike of 67 cents an hour over a three-year span.

Agreement on the proposed contract came as somewhat of a surprise after Greyhound officials and union spokesmen broke off talks a few hours earlier and federal mediator Roger Randall reported a strike was imminent.

Residents Set Budget Protest

The Bayside Acres Improvement Club, Glenwood Homeowners Association and the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Peacock Gap Country Club to protest the proposed $200,000 county budget cut in funds for completing San Pedro Road to Riviera Drive.

The cut — from $500,000 to $300,000 — would mean that work could not be completed for five years, Charles W. Dechent, Peaccock Gap Homeowners Association treasurer, said today.

The director's meeting of the Peacock organization, originally scheduled for tonight, has been reset for 8 p.m., next Monday.

ROSS

will leave the creek untouched, reported Chairman William C. Bricca.

An underground creek, once considered too costly, now appears feasible because landowners are willing to grant right-of-way at no cost to protect their environment, Bricca reported.

Residents were spurred into action last month by the spectacle of their neighbors in Kent Woodlands standing in the path of bulldozers, to fight a concrete ditch, in Tamalpais Creek.

Ross now stands in the path of the project with Phase III to extend from College Avenue in Kentfield to the confluence of Ross and Corte Madera Creeks, near the San Anselmo line, slightly more than one mile.

An underground channel could be constructed beneath the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. right-of-way, west of the creek for the full length of Phase III, Bricca said.

It has been named the "Ross-Bruff Storm Channel" in memory of Stephen C. Bruff, chairman of the Department of Physical Science at the College of Marin "who had the idea," Bricca reported.

The corps' plan "will require the clearing of a 63-foot-wide swath the length of Phase III," while the alternate channel will preserve the "great barrier of trees," which shields residents from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard traffic," he asserted. "Great trees, 50 to 60 feet high, now line both banks."

Excess water would be carried through an underground channel beneath the old railroad right-of-way to the concrete channel at College Avenue, the last section of Phase II of the project, Bricca reported.

The underground channel would handle as much, if not more, water than that contemplated in the corps' plan and "therefore accomplish the same result with virtually no environmental destruction," he said.

With landowners along the creek apparently willing to grant right-of-way at no costs, the saving in land acquisition costs would offset the additional construction costs, he contended, though no figures are available.

Donald R. Frost, Marin County public works director, said the proposed channel is feasible from an engineering standpoint, but doubted that the right-of-way savings would offset the increased cost.

Bricca said he had the word of several engineers that the land savings would offset the additional costs, but a complete feasibility plans hasn't been drawn up. He felt the complete plan should be drawn up by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Army Corps of Engineers has estimated the construction cost of Phase III at $2.5 million with construction slated to start next April and be completed in the fall of 1971. Land acquisition costs are covered by state funds.

Frost said a switch to the underground channel plan would delay the project one year, but Bricca believes that delay now isn't as crucial since the early flood work has been completed downstream.

Frost said that under the corps' plan there wouldn't have to be any utility relocation, but under the alternate plan the Marin Municipal Water District line under the railroad right-of-way probably would have to be relocated.

Some objection to delay can be expected from downstream residents in the Kentfield area, who have undergone serious flooding in past years along Kent Avenue and in the Granton Park area and want action.

Bricca is confident however, that the College of Marin, one of the largest right-of-way owners along the stretch, will look favorably on preserving the creek in its natural state.

"All Ross owners are in favor," Bricca asserted.

One of the advantages of using the old railroad right-of-way is that there are no substantial structures aloag it, Bricca noted.

If residents of Ross support the plan, it will bs submitted to the Corps of Engineers at a meeting at the office of Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, in San Francisco Wednesday.

Representatives of the town, Kentfield, Marin County and the College of Marin have been invited to the meeting, Bricca said.

Residents still have a chance to have project plans changed since the Ross Town Council, in joining the flood control district, held the right to approve "any and all final plans," reported Ross Mayor Frederick S. Allen. "It's still wide open." Construction cannot start without town council approval.

Marin County supervisors will have a hearing on Phase III of the project at 4 p.m. June 24 at the Marin Civic Center.

Dudley F. Miller of 25 Hill Drive will be moderator of the plan meeting today in Ross.

announce the troop withdrawal. He disclosed it to reporters between morning and afternoon sessions with Thieu and stated complete agreement with the South Vietnam president.

Those criteria were: developments at the Paris talks, developments on the battlefield and in South Vietnam and training and equipping more Vietnamese troops. He said America would never withdraw troops if it cost the South Vietnamese the principle of self-determination.

The lengthy communique made these points:

They agreed to meet again and review developments in the near future.

They agreed t he failure of the other side to achieve its objectives should convince it of its inability to gain a victory by military means.

Thieu reiterated his government's willingness to talk directly with the National Liberation Front (NLF), the political branch of the Viet Cong. His previous offers had been neither formally rejected nor accepted.

They agreed it would be appropriate to offer guarantees and safeguards for free elections to determine the future of the South Vietnamese and said provisions for international supervision could be written into the political settlement.

They rejected in advance Communist attempt to predetermine the outcome of future elections before they are held.

They affirmed the people of South Vietnam must decide themselves what form of government they wanted and reiterated a common resolve to reject any attempt to impose any particular form, such as a coalition.

They reviewed steps being taken to modernize and improve the Vietnamese armed forces and Thieu expressed pleasure at informing Nixon the South Vietnamese can now assume an increasingly large share of combat duties.

Thieu asked for additional assistance in improving the local forces and Nixon assured him of sympathetic consideration for the request.

They called for mutual withdrawal of foreign troops from Vietnam and from Laos and Cambodia where large Communist forces have been reported active; they called for adequate safeguards.

Thieu affirmed the principle of social and political justice in South Vietnam and said this prompted his original proposal for talks with the Viet Cong.

Following the session Nixon winged back to Honolulu where he will remain until late today. He will stay overnight at his California White House before returning to Washington, D.C.

VIOLENCE

self president emeritus of John Hopkins University.

"Our colleges and universities cannot perform their vital functions in an atmosphere that exalts the struggle for power over the search for truth, the rule of passion over the rule of reason, physical confrontation over rational discourse," the report said.

The commission has made public a number of studies made for it, but the report on campus violence is the first it has issued as its own.

It asked Americans to distinguish between peaceful protest and violent disruption, between the nonconformity of youth and the terror tactics of the extremists.

"Students are unwilling to accept the gaps between professed ideals and actual performance," the report said. "They see afresh the injustices that remain unremedied. They are not impressed by the dangers that previous generations have overcome and the problems they have solved."

The report offered these suggestions to the campus community:

A broad consensus should be achieved among students, faculty and administration concerning the permissible methods of presenting ideas, proposals and grievances and the consequences of going beyond them.

Students have the right to due process and to participate in the making of decisions that directly affect them, but their right of participation should not be so extensive as to paralyze the disciplinary process itself. Codes for campus conduct should place primary reliance on the power of the institution to maintain order in its own house and on its courage to apply its own punishment when deserved.

Universities should prepare and currently review contingency plans for dealing with campus disorders.

Most importantly, universities should make known in advance they will not hesitate to call on civil police when circumstances dictate and should review in advance with police officials the degrees of force suitable for particular situations.

Procedures for campus governance and constructive reform should be developed to permit more rapid and effective decision-making.

provide a new northerly route to Petaluma Boulevard with the improvement of Lakeville Highway, Hopper Street, D Street and a new lift bridge on the Petaluma River at D Street. Included in the issue are funds for a pedestrian overcrossing attached to or nearby the East Washington Street overcrossing of Highway 101.

A charter amendment on the ballot would allow the library board of trustees to enter into a merger agreement with the Sonoma County Library System and would permit the board to accept gifts to the library in forms other than books.

The second charter ammendment would permit ordinances introduced by the city council to be posted rather than published upon a two-thirds vote rather than by the unanimous opunion needed now.

A heavy turnout is expected by City Clerk Lillian Nommsen. Eligible voters total 9,218.

Polling places within the city are the Veterans Memorial Building, McNear School, City Hall, Valley Vista School, the George Buick showroom, Kenilworth Recreation Center, McDowell School and the Church of Christ.

Polling places outside the city for voters in the board of education election are John Reed School, Cotati School, Old Adobe School, Penngrove Women's Club, Cinnabar School, Liberty School, Wilson School, Two Rock School and the Goree residence at 630 Sunnyslope Road. $45,000 for an addition to the police station. Measure "C" would provide $100,000 for the improvement of Lucchesi Park and funds to purchase park sites on the "neighborhood park system."

Measure "D" involves $1,580,000 for the widening and improvement of Petaluma Boulevard North from D Street to Prospect Street and widening and signalization of Washington Street from Kentucky Street to Keokuk Street.

Listed as measure "E" on the ballot is a $1,295,000 issue to improve Caulfield Lane between South McDowell Boulevard and Lakeville Highway. It will also

Greyhound Mechanics Set Vote

Greyhound Bus Lines mechanics were to vote tonight on a tentative contract agreement reached by negotiators which could avert a threatened strike that would strand 23,000 Bay Area commuters.

Some 4,000 commuters in Marin would be affected by a strike. Bus service in 11 Western states also would be disrupted.

Agreement was reached Friday night following a 90-minute bargaining session. Terms of the proposed pact were not announced.

The mechanics, represented by Lodge 1305 of the International Association of Machinists, now earn $5.09 an hour. They had demanded a new three-year contract that would raise pay $1.50 an hour and liberalize benefits.

An earlier offer by Greyhound called for a wage hike of 67 cents an hour over a three-year span.

Agreement on the proposed contract came as somewhat of a surprise after Greyhound officials and union spokesmen broke off talks a few hours earlier and federal mediator Roger Randall reported a strike was imminent.

Residents Set Budget Protest

The Bayside Acres Improvement Club, Glenwood Homeowners Association and the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Peacock Gap Country Club to protest the proposed $200,000 county budget cut in funds for completing San Pedro Road to Riviera Drive.

The cut — from $500,000 to $300,000 — would mean that work could not be completed for five years, Charles W. Dechent, Peaccock Gap Homeowners Association treasurer, said today.

The director's meeting of the Peacock organization, originally scheduled for tonight, has been reset for 8 p.m., next Monday.

Private Group Offers State Financial Help

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Reagan administration is considering a unique financial offer from private enterprise to help the state borrow $200 million for new state buildings—without a vote of the people.

The offer was made to Andrew Lolfi, director of general services. He said he is turning it over without recommendation to the Public Works Board, in charge of the state building program.

It would allow the state to bypass the electorate in floating bond issues. In 1968, the voters rejected a bond issue to finance university, college and other school buildings, the first such education bond ever rejected.

The plan would permit the state to offer a new type of bond to raise money, promising buyers a higher interest rate than now permitted by law. Present bonds, at 5 per cent interest, are going unsold.

Under the proposal, the state would form a nonprofit corporation to put up new buildings.

The corporation, under a little known 1968 law, would have the authority to issue tax-exempt bonds without the consent of voters. When the state wants to issue the bonds itself, directly, it must go to the electorate.

After the bonds were sold, the corporation would lease the buildings to the state. The state lease payments would be used to repay the bond holders.

The proposal was made by a Los Angeles real estate man, who told Lolli that he represented financial interests who would buy the bonds, and resell them at an interest rate of nomore than 6.75 per cent.

The realtor, who declined the use ofhis name, said one advantage of the plan to the state would be assurance of construction funds without risking a popular vote.

Fairfax Councilmen To Discuss Budget

The Fairfax City Council will consider the 1969-70 budget at 8 p.m. today in the Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

The council is also expected to discuss a proposed housing code ordinance and to hear a report from the park and recreation commission on the violence which broke out at the Memorial Day dance at the pavilion.

Light Mutiny Terms Cheered

FORT ORD (UPI)—The Army completed the mutiny trial of 14 GI prisoners from San Francisco's Presidio this weekend and announced that two of their fellow inmates will go before a court-martial board here June 16.

Proceedings will be started next week against Pvt. Michael Murphy, 18, Concord, and Pvt. Lawrence Zaino, 20, Toledo, Ohio. The pair was among 27 prisoners taking part in a singing sit down strike in a courtyard of the Presidio last Oct. 14.

The two were to have been tried earlier but Murphy was undergoing treatment for hepatitis while Zaino was receiving psychological evaluation after cutting his wrists in the Presidio prison.

The 27 soldiers said they were protesting poor conditions in the stockade and particularly the shooting death of a fellow inmate by a guard when they took part in the demonstration.

The case against the 14 was concluded in the tiny Fort Ord courtroom Saturday when 12 young army privates received fines, discharges and relatively light prison sentences ranging from three to 15 months at hard labor. The two remaining defendants were convicted on lesser charges of disobedience.

The penalties were remarkably lighter than those received by the first three mutineers to be convicted. They were sentenced to 14, 15 and 16 years at hard labor before the terms were reduced by higher Army authorities.

Military defense counsel Capt. Emmit Yeary said after Saturday's sentencing he felt the Army made a mistake "in charging the 27 with mutiny. It was simple overreaction," he said.

Chief defense lawyer Terence Hallinan—who had brought 14 Bay Area psychiatrists to Fort Ord to testify about the mental conditions of each of the defendants — let out a whoop of joy after hearing the light sentences.

The maximum penalty for nonviolent mutiny in the Army is life imprisonment and the maximum punishment for the lesser charge, willful disobedience of an order, is five years in prison.

Pvt. Danny Seals, 22, Orangeville, Sacramento County, received six months and a bad conduct discharge for wilful disobedience, and Pvt. Larry Saes, 20, Modesto, was given three months and a bad conduct discharge for failure to obey an order. Both men had long histories of psychological trouble dating back to childhood.

Sentenced to 15 months and a dishonorable discharge for mutiny were Privates Michael J. Marino, 21, Vacaville, Roy A. Pulley, 19, Clear Lake Park, Stephen Rowland, 22, San Francisco and Buddy J. Shaw, 18, Hayward.

Given one year and a dishonorable discharge each were Pvts. Richard N. Duncan, St. Helena, Alan L. Rupert, 20 Bellingham, Wash., Francis Schiro, 21, St. Petersburg, Fla., Richard B. Stevens, 20, Centerville, Shasta County, Ernest Trefethen, 18, Gatzville, N.Y., and Patrick Wright, 20, Santa Rosa.

The only Vietnam veteran among the 14, Pvt. Richard L. Gentile, 20, Hampton, Va., was given six months and a bad conduct discharge and the final defendant, Pvt. Danny L. Wilkins, 20, Central, Utah, was sentenced to nine months and a dishonorable discharge.

Yesterday, Gentile, who faces trial on Wednesday at San Francisco's Presidio for twice escaping from the stockade, yesterday asked the chief prosecutor in the mutiny case to defend him against the desertion charges.

Maj. John Novinger said he was surprised by the request but did not refuse pending official notification.

In addition to the 22 who have now been convicted and the two scheduled for trial, three defendants have escaped.

Police Raid On Park Draws Fire

Park supporters claim officers intentionally knocked down small trees, flowers, a tool shed and a playground swing while clearing out young persons camping overnight.

Patrol Capt. Charles Plummer said police did not intend to destroy the park. He said the damage was done during "the wild process of clearing several hundred people" from the park on rapid transit district property about a mile from the original people's park.

Police Lt. Henry Sanders said "we don't like the reports we've heard concerning the damage" and said if any officers were found guilty of misconduct, they would be disciplined.

Berkeley City Councilman Ronald Dellums declared he wants "a full explanation." It was "way out of bounds" for police to damage plants and playground equipment, he said.

Capt. Plummer said the park was cleared after a number of neighbors in the area had complained about noise.

U.C. Regents Slate Another Park Talk

BERKELEY (AP) — A University of California regents committee has decided to hold a second meeting over the disputed Berkeley "people's park" as the controversy over the U.C.-owned land moved to new territory.

Police arrested more than 30 persons in two Friday night incidents—a raid that cleared the so-called "people's park annex" and an attempt by demonstrtors to hold a torchlight parade.

Fencing of the original, impromptu "people's park" by the university May 15 led to violent demonstrations and one death.

The regents committee on building and grounds heard 21 speakers Saturday and decided to meet again to determine its recommendation for the full board of regents June 20.

No date for the other committee session was set, but it was indicated the meeting might be closed to the public.

"It is absolutely essential that this committee come up with a recommendation," said chairman William K. Coblentz of San Francisco.

He referred to four alternatives suggested by U.C. President Charles J. Hitch:

That the university continue to develop the disputed block of land for playing fields and recreational areas as planned;

That U.C. lease a portion of the land to Berkeley for a park;

That U.C. create its own park, or, — That administrators speed up long range plans to build student apartments on the land.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, who attended Saturday's meeting, said "personally, I would hope U.C. would continue to develop the park" and not lease the land to the city. He also said he hoped "the hardened positions of the past would not determine the future."

Gov. Ronald Reagan did not attend the session, but has said he would oppose any lease to Berkeley that would turn the land over to the "street people."

Assemblyman Plans Probe Of DDT Use

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A rancher-Assemblyman who says he's "frankly alarmed about what's happening to the California environment" today announced he plans to conduct a major investigation of pesticides.

"The evidence cannot be ignored," said Assemblyman George Milias, R-Gilroy, "and I think the evidence against the use of DDT is overpowering."

Milias is chairman of the Assembly Committee on Natural Resources and Conservation. He's also owner of a ranch so huge that when somebody asks him how many acres it is, he replies: "Gee, I don't know —thousands."

"I haven't used DDT in years," he proudly adds, "because of what I hear about it."

Milias, a former state Republican chairman, wants his 12-member committee to conduct an extensive between-sessions probe into the whole question of "what's happening to the California environment."

Pesticides would be the chief topic. But he also wants to examine Lake Tahoe pollution, San Francisco Bay pollution, logging practices and solid waste.

Under new Assembly procedure, when a committee chairman desires to conduct an interim study he must ask Speaker Robert Monagan, R-Tracy. Milias anticipates no trouble getting the authorization.

The 43-year-old soft-spoken lawmaker first became alarmed about pesticides a year ago when 10,000 fish were poisoned along a 20-mile stretch of the Pajaro River near his ranch.

Some youths had been scooping rough fish out of a spring-fed creek which runs into the Pajaro. As a scoop they were using an empty can which formerly contained the insecticide endrin. The drop or two of endrin still in the can was sufficient to kill fish for miles.

The oryx, an African antelope, can go weeks or even months without water, deriving moisture from plants.

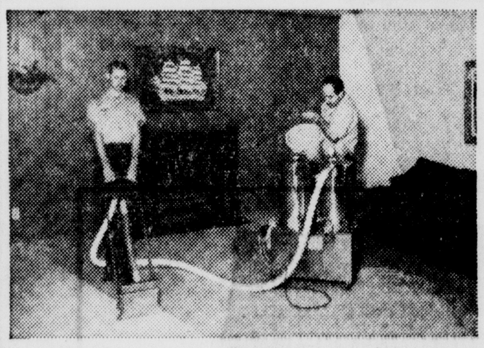
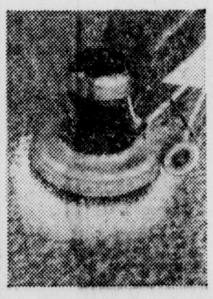
DEEP STEAM Wall to Wall Carpet Cleaning



CLEANS DEEP actually removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. It does not scrub it deeper.
GENTLE ACTION uses no brushes or scrubbing action, so it does not distort the pile of the carpet.
SAFE PROCESS scientifically developed specially for the professional carpet cleaner. It is completely safe for all carpet fibers.
RESTORES PILE the powerful extraction process removes moisture immediately, thus avoiding shrinkage, and lifts matted pile to 'like new' appearance.
ECONOMICAL reduces the need for frequent professional cleaning because it removes the deeply embedded soil and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt.
SOIL RETARDING AND MOTH PROOFING are included at no extra cost.



The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric . . . and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!

Soil Extracted, Not Scrubbed Deeper! That's the Difference . . .

HOW DEEP STEAM SOIL EXTRACTION WORKS
Deep Steam Soil Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. The two cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil deep in the pile of the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. Then, instantly, the moisture and soil are removed by the powerful continuous extraction process into a separate stainless steel container. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with SOIL RETARDANT and MOTHPROOFING to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.

Light Mutiny Terms Cheered

FORT ORD (UPI)—The Army completed the mutiny trial of 14 GI prisoners from San Francisco's Presidio this weekend and announced that two of their fellow inmates will go before a court-martial board here June 16.

Proceedings will be started next week against Pvt. Michael Murphy, 18, Concord, and Pvt. Lawrence Zaino, 20, Toledo, Ohio. The pair was among 27 prisoners taking part in a singing sit down strike in a courtyard of the Presidio last Oct. 14.

The two were to have been tried earlier but Murphy was undergoing treatment for hepatitis while Zaino was receiving psychological evaluation after cutting his wrists in the Presidio prison.

The 27 soldiers said they were protesting poor conditions in the stockade and particularly the shooting death of a fellow inmate by a guard when they took part in the demonstration.

The case against the 14 was concluded in the tiny Fort Ord courtroom Saturday when 12 young army privates received fines, discharges and relatively light prison sentences ranging from three to 15 months at hard labor. The two remaining defendants were convicted on lesser charges of disobedience.

The penalties were remarkably lighter than those received by the first three mutineers to be convicted. They were sentenced to 14, 15 and 16 years at hard labor before the terms were reduced by higher Army authorities.

Military defense counsel Capt. Emmit Yeary said after Saturday's sentencing he felt the Army made a mistake "in charging the 27 with mutiny. It was simple overreaction," he said.

Chief defense lawyer Terence Hallinan—who had brought 14 Bay Area psychiatrists to Fort Ord to testify about the mental conditions of each of the defendants — let out a whoop of joy after hearing the light sentences.

The maximum penalty for nonviolent mutiny in the Army is life imprisonment and the maximum punishment for the lesser charge, willful disobedience of an order, is five years in prison.

Pvt. Danny Seals, 22, Orangeville, Sacramento County, received six months and a bad conduct discharge for wilful disobedience, and Pvt. Larry Saes, 20, Modesto, was given three months and a bad conduct discharge for failure to obey an order. Both men had long histories of psychological trouble dating back to childhood.

Sentenced to 15 months and a dishonorable discharge for mutiny were Privates Michael J. Marino, 21, Vacaville, Roy A. Pulley, 19, Clear Lake Park, Stephen Rowland, 22, San Francisco and Buddy J. Shaw, 18, Hayward.

Western Country Fair Opens Thursday

Novato's Western Weekend has taken on a new format, new location and a new name in an attempt to return to a family-type, community celebration.

The event, now called the Western Weekend Country Fair, will start Thursday and run through Sunday. Most of the action will take place on Rowland Boulevard between South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101.

However, the cross country race will follow its route over the hills as in past years and the rodeo will be held in the Horsemen's arena on Bugeia Lane.

The biggest single attraction missing this year will be the parade. In past years, the event drew crowds of upwards of 40,000 to the city, but harassment by the Gypsy Jokers motorcycle gang is blamed for a decline in spectators in recent years.

The name of the organization remains the same, Western Weekend Inc., but "Country fair" was added to the title to try to give the event a family atmosphere, according to John I. Regan, president of Western Weekend Inc.

Actual events started on May 24 when Cindy Tornai, a sophomore at San Marin High School, was chosen queen to reign over the celebration and rodeo. Tommi Holt, a senior at Novato High School and Patricia Carson, a sophomore at San Marin High School, were chosen as princesses. Nancy Lehigh, a senior at Novato High School, was chosen reserve princess.

The queen and two princesses will be crowned at opening ceremonies at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

During the same evening, the beard contest will be judged. A total of 26 entries have been received.

The Novato Community Players also will present the annual melodrama that night. Joseph Jacob will be the master of ceremonies for the entire evening's entertainment.

The Foley and Burk Carnival Show will open on the main fairgrounds on Thursday, as will booths of local organizations. A total of $100 in prizes for the best decorated booth in western or country theme.

FRIDAY EVENTS

Children's games will be conducted by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department with prizes by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Boyd Wood and the Tall Timbers, a western band, will perform from 7 to 8 p.m., followed by a square dancing exhibition by the Novato Squares and Stump Jumpers.

Dancing to a western band will follow from 10 p.m. to midnight. Myrle Dahl and the Novato Rural Band also will perform.

SATURDAY EVENTS

No one can start the day out without a hearty breakfast, and as in past years, the Mariners Club of the Novato Presbyterian Church will serve the Buckaroo Breakfast starting at 7 a.m. on the fair grounds. Members of the Antique Car Club will be guests of the chamber of commerce for breakfast at 10 a.m.

Cross country runners will depart on a 6.87-mile course at 9 a.m. from the main fire station on Grant Avenue. The event is sponsored by the Marin Athletic League, with Carl Jensen chairman. Trophies and ribbons will be presented.

Antique cars will parade at 11 a.m. on Grant Avenue, moving to the shopping centers and Hamilton Air Force Base. Mayor Harley A. McAskill, City Mgr. Charles A. Brown and fair queen Cindy Tornai will ride in the old cars.

Children's games will be conducted from 10 a.m. to noon by the parks and recreation department with prizes by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Larry O'Brien of the Novato Jaycees will be the master of ceremonies for the events the balance of the day at the fairgrounds.

The struggle between youth and age will take place at 11:30 a.m. when the Jaycees and chamber of commerce members hold a tug-of-war across Novato Creek. The winners will stay dry.

Everyone who participates in the next event — or even watches too closely — will get wet. It is the waterball fight betweeen the Novato and Kentfield fire departments at noon.

The contest for old-fashioned costumes will be judged at 1 p.m. at the fairgrounds. There will be prizes for the most original costume, oldest, prettiest and funniest, with the winners dividing $50 in prizes.

Prizes will then be awarded for the best booths.

A special parade of horses — followed by judging — will be held at 2:30 p.m. At 3 p.m. riders will try to spear rings as they rade past.

At 4:30 p.m. a demonstration will be conducted by members of the 4-H.

Downtown Merchants Association members have made available 60 windows which junior and senior high school students will decorate all day Saturday. These will be judged on Sunday with three cash prizes for each junior and senior high school artists.

Dick Saltzman's Band will play waltzes, swing, ballads, polkas and Dixieland music Saturday night. Other entertainment will be provided by the vocal group "Sweet Adelines;" Martin Beebe will perform a dance; Carroll Martinucci and Carrol Varner will sing duets and solos and there will be Can-Can dancers.

SUNDAY EVENTS

The 12th annual Rodeo Cowboys Association championship rodeo, sponsored by the Novato Horsemen's Association, will start at 1 p.m. at the arena on Bugeia Lane.

This year's events include calf roping, steer wrestling, team roping, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, bull riding, girls' barrel race and a businessman's calf roping.

Participating cowboys from throughout the west can gain points toward the national championship. A total of 127 cowboys entered last year in search of more than $5,000 in prizes.

Novato High School's championship wrestling team will demonstrate the sport at 3 p.m. This will be followed at 4 p.m. by an exhibition of the Novato High School girls drill team. A pony will be given away at 4:30 p.m.

The battle of the bands will start at 5 p.m. At the same time, a home-sewn fashion parade will begin.

The Edwards Brothers Rock Band will play from 8 p.m. to midnight. During this time, a fashion show, conducted by local merchants, will be held.

Sausalito Trustees To Hear Pay Proposal

Sausalito School District teachers will bring a salary proposal before the district board when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the district office. Supt. Phillip W. Schneider has handled salary negotiations with the teachers so far this year, acting under board instructions.

The board also will take up the preliminary 1969-70 budget for further study.

'Professional' Sought In Jade Theft

Esther Goodman, 65, reported the theft yesterday after returning from a three-day trip to Las Vegas.

Mrs. Goodman, widow of the late Lester Goodman, an importer, said the intruder took the most valuable pieces—a carved vase and a carved box—from her large jade and ivory collection.

"It was obviously the work of a real professional," said Police Inspector Robert Kane. "He knew exactly what he was looking for. And he knew how to get in, and out, without attracting attention."

There was no sign the door to the 18th floor suite had been forced, officers said.

Picnic Is Set

The American Association of Retired Persons will hold its annual picnic at noon Saturday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Frantic Auto Ride But Gun Victim Dies

SAN PABLO (AP) — A man crashed his car into another while trying frantically to get a shooting victim to a hospital and ended up in jail because of the victim's death, police said.

James R. Mullarny, 26, of San Pablo, was held for investigation of murder in the death of his friend, John L. Burgess, 21, San Pablo, who was shot in the chest Saturday night.

Police inspector Ray Morris said yesterday Burgess was shot outside Mullarny's home and that Mullarny sped off with the victim toward the Richmond Hospital three miles away.

But because the hospital has neither an emergency room nor an emergency physician, police said, Mullarny raced off for Brookside Hospital in San Pablo, about two miles away.

The car was put out of commission when it struck another broadside, and an ambulance was called.

Burgess was taken to Brookside, police said, where he died an hour and 15 minutes after the shooting. Mullarny was taken to the Contra Costa County Hospital and later to the county jail.

Morris said he found a weapon at the Mullarny home but gave no details of the shooting.

Tri-Partite Body's June Meeting Off

There will be no meeting of the Tri-Partite Transportation Committee in June, secretary Seymour Kashin has announced.

The next meeting of the committee will be held July 16, Kashin said. Kashin said the June meeting was canceled because the final report by the Marin County Transit District on bus transportation will not be ready.

More Budget Study By Kentfield Board

Kentfield School District trustees will continue their discussion of the preliminary 1969-70 budget at 8 p.m. today in Wolfe Grade School.

Trustees will also hear a presentation of the Adaline E. Kent art program by teacher Beverly Davis.

Scraped In Skid

Dale A. Davis, 18, of 333 Myrtle Street, San Rafael, was treated for multiple scrapes yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his car skidded into a utility pole and overturned at 10:15 p.m. on North San Pedro Road near Porto Bello Estates, the California Highway Patrol said.

Western Country Fair Opens Thursday

Novato's Western Weekend has taken on a new format, new location and a new name in an attempt to return to a family-type, community celebration.

The event, now called the Western Weekend Country Fair, will start Thursday and run through Sunday. Most of the action will take place on Rowland Boulevard between South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101.

However, the cross country race will follow its route over the hills as in past years and the rodeo will be held in the Horsemen's arena on Bugeia Lane.

The biggest single attraction missing this year will be the parade. In past years, the event drew crowds of upwards of 40,000 to the city, but harassment by the Gypsy Jokers motorcycle gang is blamed for a decline in spectators in recent years.

The name of the organization remains the same, Western Weekend Inc., but "Country fair" was added to the title to try to give the event a family atmosphere, according to John I. Regan, president of Western Weekend Inc.

Actual events started on May 24 when Cindy Tornai, a sophomore at San Marin High School, was chosen queen to reign over the celebration and rodeo. Tommi Holt, a senior at Novato High School and Patricia Carson, a sophomore at San Marin High School, were chosen as princesses. Nancy Lehigh, a senior at Novato High School, was chosen reserve princess.

The queen and two princesses will be crowned at opening ceremonies at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

During the same evening, the beard contest will be judged. A total of 26 entries have been received.

The Novato Community Players also will present the annual melodrama that night. Joseph Jacob will be the master of ceremonies for the entire evening's entertainment.

The Foley and Burk Carnival Show will open on the main fairgrounds on Thursday, as will booths of local organizations. A total of $100 in prizes for the best decorated booth in western or country theme.

FRIDAY EVENTS

Children's games will be conducted by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department with prizes by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Boyd Wood and the Tall Timbers, a western band, will perform from 7 to 8 p.m., followed by a square dancing exhibition by the Novato Squares and Stump Jumpers.

Dancing to a western band will follow from 10 p.m. to midnight. Myrle Dahl and the Novato Rural Band also will perform.

SATURDAY EVENTS

No one can start the day out without a hearty breakfast, and as in past years, the Mariners Club of the Novato Presbyterian Church will serve the Buckaroo Breakfast starting at 7 a.m. on the fair grounds. Members of the Antique Car Club will be guests of the chamber of commerce for breakfast at 10 a.m.

Cross country runners will depart on a 6.87-mile course at 9 a.m. from the main fire station on Grant Avenue. The event is sponsored by the Marin Athletic League, with Carl Jensen chairman. Trophies and ribbons will be presented.

Antique cars will parade at 11 a.m. on Grant Avenue, moving to the shopping centers and Hamilton Air Force Base. Mayor Harley A. McAskill, City Mgr. Charles A. Brown and fair queen Cindy Tornai will ride in the old cars.

Children's games will be conducted from 10 a.m. to noon by the parks and recreation department with prizes by the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Larry O'Brien of the Novato Jaycees will be the master of ceremonies for the events the balance of the day at the fairgrounds.

The struggle between youth and age will take place at 11:30 a.m. when the Jaycees and chamber of commerce members hold a tug-of-war across Novato Creek. The winners will stay dry.

Everyone who participates in the next event — or even watches too closely — will get wet. It is the waterball fight betweeen the Novato and Kentfield fire departments at noon.

The contest for old-fashioned costumes will be judged at 1 p.m. at the fairgrounds. There will be prizes for the most original costume, oldest, prettiest and funniest, with the winners dividing $50 in prizes.

Prizes will then be awarded for the best booths.

A special parade of horses — followed by judging — will be held at 2:30 p.m. At 3 p.m. riders will try to spear rings as they rade past.

At 4:30 p.m. a demonstration will be conducted by members of the 4-H.

Downtown Merchants Association members have made available 60 windows which junior and senior high school students will decorate all day Saturday. These will be judged on Sunday with three cash prizes for each junior and senior high school artists.

Dick Saltzman's Band will play waltzes, swing, ballads, polkas and Dixieland music Saturday night. Other entertainment will be provided by the vocal group "Sweet Adelines;" Martin Beebe will perform a dance; Carroll Martinucci and Carrol Varner will sing duets and solos and there will be Can-Can dancers.

SUNDAY EVENTS

The 12th annual Rodeo Cowboys Association championship rodeo, sponsored by the Novato Horsemen's Association, will start at 1 p.m. at the arena on Bugeia Lane.

This year's events include calf roping, steer wrestling, team roping, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, bull riding, girls' barrel race and a businessman's calf roping.

Participating cowboys from throughout the west can gain points toward the national championship. A total of 127 cowboys entered last year in search of more than $5,000 in prizes.

Novato High School's championship wrestling team will demonstrate the sport at 3 p.m. This will be followed at 4 p.m. by an exhibition of the Novato High School girls drill team. A pony will be given away at 4:30 p.m.

The battle of the bands will start at 5 p.m. At the same time, a home-sewn fashion parade will begin.

The Edwards Brothers Rock Band will play from 8 p.m. to midnight. During this time, a fashion show, conducted by local merchants, will be held.

'Professional' Sought In Jade Theft

Esther Goodman, 65, reported the theft yesterday after returning from a three-day trip to Las Vegas.

Mrs. Goodman, widow of the late Lester Goodman, an importer, said the intruder took the most valuable pieces—a carved vase and a carved box—from her large jade and ivory collection.

"It was obviously the work of a real professional," said Police Inspector Robert Kane. "He knew exactly what he was looking for. And he knew how to get in, and out, without attracting attention."

There was no sign the door to the 18th floor suite had been forced, officers said.

Picnic Is Set

The American Association of Retired Persons will hold its annual picnic at noon Saturday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Frantic Auto Ride But Gun Victim Dies

SAN PABLO (AP) — A man crashed his car into another while trying frantically to get a shooting victim to a hospital and ended up in jail because of the victim's death, police said.

James R. Mullarny, 26, of San Pablo, was held for investigation of murder in the death of his friend, John L. Burgess, 21, San Pablo, who was shot in the chest Saturday night.

Police inspector Ray Morris said yesterday Burgess was shot outside Mullarny's home and that Mullarny sped off with the victim toward the Richmond Hospital three miles away.

But because the hospital has neither an emergency room nor an emergency physician, police said, Mullarny raced off for Brookside Hospital in San Pablo, about two miles away.

The car was put out of commission when it struck another broadside, and an ambulance was called.

Burgess was taken to Brookside, police said, where he died an hour and 15 minutes after the shooting. Mullarny was taken to the Contra Costa County Hospital and later to the county jail.

Morris said he found a weapon at the Mullarny home but gave no details of the shooting.

Tri-Partite Body's June Meeting Off

There will be no meeting of the Tri-Partite Transportation Committee in June, secretary Seymour Kashin has announced.

The next meeting of the committee will be held July 16, Kashin said. Kashin said the June meeting was canceled because the final report by the Marin County Transit District on bus transportation will not be ready.

More Budget Study By Kentfield Board

Kentfield School District trustees will continue their discussion of the preliminary 1969-70 budget at 8 p.m. today in Wolfe Grade School.

Trustees will also hear a presentation of the Adaline E. Kent art program by teacher Beverly Davis.

Scraped In Skid

Dale A. Davis, 18, of 333 Myrtle Street, San Rafael, was treated for multiple scrapes yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his car skidded into a utility pole and overturned at 10:15 p.m. on North San Pedro Road near Porto Bello Estates, the California Highway Patrol said.

Arson Is Suspected In $8,000 House Fire

Fire, believed to have been deliberately set, caused damage estimated at $8,000 to the unoccupied three bedroom house of Douglas Trost in San Anselmo Saturday.

It was a second bad luck chapter in the house's history.

The structure, now at 90 Forest Avenue, was threatened by slides for two years when it was located in Fairfax. When heavy rains last March threatened to finish off the building by slides, its owner had it moved one lot away into San Anselmo.

"We think it was arson," Fire Chief Francis A. Sousa said today. He explained that firemen found evidence of hippies sleeping in the house, with two mattresses and a sleeping bag discovered on the floor of one room.

We also found a can of gasoline or kerosene, Sousa reported in the east bedroom, one of the rooms most extensively damaged. Other areas badly damaged were the kitchen, living room, bath and hall.

Sousa said the house was in a "tilted" position and leaning against some redwoods. It had underpinnings but no foundation. He estimated damage at at least $8,000.

Firemen received the alarm at 6:49 p.m. and brought the blaze under control in five minutes, Sousa said.

Teen Reports Beating Attack

A Marin City youth told sheriff's deputies early Saturday that two men not only burglarized his apartment, but beat him up and struck him with a toaster they were stealing.

The victim, Mark Arnott, 18, of 79 Cole Drive, Apt. 3, said he was sleeping and awoke to find the men burglarizing his room at 3:55 a.m.

Then he was beaten, and taken was a portable television and a toaster, he said. Arnott was treated at Marin General Hospital for facial and head cuts, deputies reported.

Planting Contract

The state Department of Public Works today announced it has awarded a $9,714 contract to A & J. Shooter, Inc., of San Rafael, for tree planting and functional planting in Cotati and Rohnert Park along Highway 101.

Auto Found Before Its Reported Lost

Deputies in Marin City today reported recovering a stolen car before its Tamalpais Valley owner knew it was missing.

Deputies saw the car parked at Buckelew Street and Drake Avenue at 1:05 a.m. yesterday, found it registered to Mrs. J. C. Ingle of 538 Pinecrest Road, and called her. Mrs. Ingle first said her car was in the carport, but then checked and discovered it was missing.

12 Cars In Four Accidents During Rush-Hour Traffic

Rush hour traffic on Highway 101 was snarled yesterday by a series of four accidents in half an hour involving 12 cars in southbound traffic on the Waldo Grade, the California Highway Patrol said. Only minor injuries were reported.

The series was triggered, the patrol said, at 5 p.m. when a pickup truck driven by Jackson R. Gilmore of San Francisco hit the rear of a car driven by Robert J. Johnson, 20, of San Francisco, near the Sausalito Lateral. Neither was injured.

A moment later as traffic dodged the first accident, a four-car collision occurred yards away when a car driven by Erasmo V. Francheschi, 33, of Daly City, hit the rear of a car driven by Donald E. Smith, 33, of 10 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael. Smith's car hit one driven by Michael F. Cale, 24, of San Francisco, which then hit the car of Robert L. Dutil, 50, of Fort Bragg.

Cale had a neck pain, Geraldine Smith, 26, of 10 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, had a cut right leg, Giuliana Giometti, 23, of Daly City, had a pain in the side and Maria Giometti, 43, of Daly City had a cut left leg. The Giomettis were passengers in Francheschi's car and Mrs. Smith a passenger in Smith's.

At 5:10 p.m. as traffic continued to slow there was a three-car collision at the north end of the Waldo Tunnel when a car driven by Michael D. Grulli, 23, of Alameda Naval Air Station, hit the rear of a car driven by James S. Noonan, of South San Francisco, knocking it into the car of Charles R. Compton, 47, of Pacific Way, Muir Beach. Compton's passenger, Virginia Schuppe, 48, of San Bruno, had a sore neck, the patrol said.

The fourth accident occurred at 5:30 p.m. at the south end of the tunnel, the patrol said, involving three cars. James S. McCauley, 26, of San Francisco, said another car hit his from the rear, knocking him into a third vehicle. Both other cars left the scene, the patrol said. McCauley's passenger, Elizabeth De Sayssa, 24, of San Francisco, complained of a headache.

All the injured were to see their own doctors, according to the patrol.

Cut In Overturn

David Tooley, 16, of San Francisco, was treated for a cut thumb yesterday at Marin General Hospital after the car he rode in, driven by Peter G. Rockwell, 17, of San Francisco, overturned on a curve on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard five miles west of Inverness at 4 p.m., the California Highway Patrol said.

Auto Found Before Its Reported Lost

Deputies in Marin City today reported recovering a stolen car before its Tamalpais Valley owner knew it was missing.

Deputies saw the car parked at Buckelew Street and Drake Avenue at 1:05 a.m. yesterday, found it registered to Mrs. J. C. Ingle of 538 Pinecrest Road, and called her. Mrs. Ingle first said her car was in the carport, but then checked and discovered it was missing.

12 Cars In Four Accidents During Rush-Hour Traffic

Rush hour traffic on Highway 101 was snarled yesterday by a series of four accidents in half an hour involving 12 cars in southbound traffic on the Waldo Grade, the California Highway Patrol said. Only minor injuries were reported.

The series was triggered, the patrol said, at 5 p.m. when a pickup truck driven by Jackson R. Gilmore of San Francisco hit the rear of a car driven by Robert J. Johnson, 20, of San Francisco, near the Sausalito Lateral. Neither was injured.

A moment later as traffic dodged the first accident, a four-car collision occurred yards away when a car driven by Erasmo V. Francheschi, 33, of Daly City, hit the rear of a car driven by Donald E. Smith, 33, of 10 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael. Smith's car hit one driven by Michael F. Cale, 24, of San Francisco, which then hit the car of Robert L. Dutil, 50, of Fort Bragg.

Cale had a neck pain, Geraldine Smith, 26, of 10 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, had a cut right leg, Giuliana Giometti, 23, of Daly City, had a pain in the side and Maria Giometti, 43, of Daly City had a cut left leg. The Giomettis were passengers in Francheschi's car and Mrs. Smith a passenger in Smith's.

At 5:10 p.m. as traffic continued to slow there was a three-car collision at the north end of the Waldo Tunnel when a car driven by Michael D. Grulli, 23, of Alameda Naval Air Station, hit the rear of a car driven by James S. Noonan, of South San Francisco, knocking it into the car of Charles R. Compton, 47, of Pacific Way, Muir Beach. Compton's passenger, Virginia Schuppe, 48, of San Bruno, had a sore neck, the patrol said.

The fourth accident occurred at 5:30 p.m. at the south end of the tunnel, the patrol said, involving three cars. James S. McCauley, 26, of San Francisco, said another car hit his from the rear, knocking him into a third vehicle. Both other cars left the scene, the patrol said. McCauley's passenger, Elizabeth De Sayssa, 24, of San Francisco, complained of a headache.

All the injured were to see their own doctors, according to the patrol.

Cut In Overturn

David Tooley, 16, of San Francisco, was treated for a cut thumb yesterday at Marin General Hospital after the car he rode in, driven by Peter G. Rockwell, 17, of San Francisco, overturned on a curve on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard five miles west of Inverness at 4 p.m., the California Highway Patrol said.

Young People Already Have Place In Democracy

A poignant plea is being heard from students who claim to represent the hitherto-silent majority at California colleges and universities.

These students decry the violence and destruction of the campus anarchists. But, they say, students have legitimate complaints and no way to make themselves heard except by "confrontation" tactics.

"There are students who want to overthrow or destroy the 'system.' I am not one of them. I think what many of the striking and demonstrating students are saying is this: We want a place in the system. There is no effective agency or way that we can communicate with the governor or the regents. . . . Most of us cannot even vote yet."

THE KEY TO THIS and similar complaints is in the sentence: "We want a place in the system." These students wants to participate in democracy.

The tragic irony in this is that California young people live in the most participatory democracy to be found anywhere on earth, and do not know it.

In this state, one need not even be old enough to vote to circulate a petition which will force the legislature to act or to place an issue before the people.

California's initiative and referendum system allows such complete public participation in law-making that it has been assailed by some experts in government and social science as going too far.

When Hiram Johnson and the Progressives controlled statehouse and legislature prior to World War I, they wrote these sections into the California constitution — and the people approved.

SAYS ARTICLE IV, Section 1: "The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and amendments to the constitution, and to adopt or reject the same, at the polls independent of the legislature."

The following sections tell how it can be done. By a petition bearing the names of five per cent of qualified electors who voted at the latest gubernatorial election, a law can be presented which the legislature must either enact or place on the ballot for the next election. By the same number of signatures, a constitutional amendment can be placed on the ballot.

HOW WIDELY initiative and referendum is used is plainly evident from the number of propositions on the state ballot at each general election. Last year, there were 10; in 1966 there were 17, and in 1964, a like number; in 1962, there were 25.

Although most of these were referendums on constitutional changes proposed by the legislature, many resulted from initiative petitions. Among the latter were last year's Proposition 9, for tax limitation; the "anti-smut" proposition of 1966, and four propositions in 1964: one to outlaw train crew "featherbedding," one to ban pay television (which passed), one to establish a state lottery, and one to repeal the state's fair housing act (which also passed, but subsequently was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court).

ANYONE CAN CIRCULATE an initiative petition, though only voters may sign. The way is open for disenchanted students to seek public support in a manner which would force the governor and legislature to recognize their demands — and without breaking either a law or a window to do it.

It is tragic indeed that, although the schools are required to teach California history beginning in the elementary grades, and a course in government is required for graduation from high school, the students in colleges and universities are so unaware of this participatory democracy that they really believe they have no way to put their wants before those who make and administer the laws.

The participatory democracy for which they cry is here. They are part of it. But neither they nor many of their professors seem to know it.

Criticism At Home Again Found Hurting Effort For Peace

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The recent public statement of the two most highly placed Democratic critics of President Richard Nixon's effort to settle the Vietnamese war ought to be put down for exactly what they are: irresponsible, erratic and injurious to the cause of an early peace.

The remarks were made by Senators Edward Kennedy and Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leaders of the Senate.

How irresponsible?

ON THE EVE of Mr. Nixon's crucial meeting with President Thieu of South Vietnam to concert peace proposals and discuss the withdrawal of some U.S. troops, Senator Kennedy suggested that if the elected heads of the Saigon government won't accept unelected Communists into the government, the United States ought to try to get rid of Thieu and others.

Is that what Senator Kennedy would have said if President John F. Kennedy were going off to confer with the president of South Vietnam on how fast to achieve an honorable settlement?

Kennedy said: "We have not fought in the heat and mud simply to keep one or two individuals in Saigon's presidential palace."

THE SLUR is evident. It was no off-the-cuff slip. It was part of a carefully prepared commencement address. It rests on an egregious misstatement of why Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson acted to defend South Vietnam.

Of course the United States isn't fighting in Vietnam "to keep one or two individuals in Saigon's presidential palace." The United States is defending South Vietnam to protect the right of the South Vietnamese to have a government of their choosing, not to have one imposed on them by outsiders, including America.

Despite the pressures of the war, South Vietnam elected a parliament, president and vice president. The election, in which a great majority participated, was watched at firsthand by many outsiders who certified it as free of serious irregularity.

And what kind of a provisional coalition government does the Viet Cong say it must have as a condition for ending the war? The VC proposal, enunciated many times in Paris, is that members of the NLF must be taken into the government and that President Thieu and Vice President Ky must be removed from the government prior to the election. In other words, the elected leaders of South Vietnam would be ousted and the unelected Communists would be elevated to office.

Put alongside that proposal the words of the Massachusetts senator — that the United States isn't defending South Vietnam "to keep one or two individuals in Saigon's presidential palace" — and you can see where Kennedy is headed.

How erratic?

WHEN SOME of Kennedy's remarks, including his criticism of the tactics of U.S. field commanders in Vietnam, which Hanoi gleefully radioed back to the American troops, were called into question, Senator Mansfield endorsed them and said it was quite in order for Kennedy to keep making them. But the next day Mansfield asked that there be a "moratorium" on such talks while President Nixon is meeting with Thieu, on the grounds that it would make progress more difficult.

A sound second thought. But if this kind of loose talk, this kind of playing at being President without the responsibility of being President, ought to be suspended during the Nixon-Thieu meetings, such a moratorium is even more needed during the difficult, delicate negotiations in Paris. Heckling from the sidelines can do nothing but push a Vietnam peace further into the future.

Council Dilatory On NWP Property

Numerous Tiburon residents are deeply concerned about the safety of their children, and how dangerous bike or pedestrian travel is on narrow Tiburon Boulevard. They have asked for city acquisition of the NWPRR right of way to be used for a bike and walk path. The Tiburon City Council should respond to this urgent appeal, however time passes on and nothing has happened.

February 1968 a petition containing over 400 signatures asking for public use of the right of way was presented to the council. January 1969 the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee offered a formula for acquisition recommending appraisal, and condemnation. The council so far responds that negotiation with the owner (Southern Pacific Co.) is the most effective way to buy it.

The extent of their negotiation, as I see, has been to write to S.P. asking if the property is for sale and at what price. S.P. promised to decide in April, however it is now late May, and still no news . . .

How long must our patience endure? S.P. is playing a waiting game, and our council naively goofs along. A long time ago we should have abtained an appraisal of the properties fair market value, condemned it for that amount, and we would probably be using it now.

Figures About Air Pollution

We have read with great interest your editorial on May 24 suggesting a simple solution to the Bay Area smog problem. The district is always interested in suggestions which will help solve the air pollution problems in the Bay Area.

Your contention is that the high olefinic content of gasoline is the major cause of smog in the Bay Area. Unfortunately this is only partly true.

Studies by the Air Resources Board of the State of California, and the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District have shown that the exhaust emissions from the automobile are relatively similar in composition regardless of the kind of gasoline used. Thus, high olefin gasolines, branched chain gasolines, and straight run distillate gasolines result in the same quantity of smog-forming olefins coming out of the tail pipe. The reason for this is the fact that the internal combustion engine is in itself a cracking plant, breaking down large molecules into simpler chemical entities, including olefins.

It is true, however, that evaporation of gasoline before it is burned in the engine contributes to the olefinic load of the atmosphere, and thus a high olefin gasoline will contribute more of this compound than a straight run distillate. Of the total of 1000 tons per day of organic compounds emitted to the atmosphere from the motor vehicle, about 15 per cent is derived from evaporative losses in filling gas tanks and from carburetor evaporation. Thus about 150 tons per day of total organics come from these evaporation sources. The average olefinic content of Bay Area gasolines is about 15 per cent, indicating that a total of 22 tons of reactive smog-forming gases are emitted to the atmosphere from evaporative losses. Compare this figure with 480 tons of reactive gases from the tail pipe of the automobile, 90 tons from back yard burning, 60 tons from agricultural burning and 100 tons from industry. Evaporative losses account for approximately 3 per cent of the total of reactive smog-forming gases emitted daily.

Your concern with the smog problem in the Bay Area is reflected by our own and hopefully with implementation of the Air Resources Board controls on automobiles and the district's controls on industrial, commercial, agricultural and back yard burning sources, we will be able to lick the problem.

Bennett Charge Branded Spurious

The statement attributed to former C.P.U. Commissioner William M. Bennett (I-J, May 28) to the effect that "President Nixon was deliberately trying to oust the liberal members of the U. S. Supreme Court because the court had ruled against the El Paso Natural Gas Co., a firm represented by Nixon's former law firm" is, to say the very least, incredible.

It would be my suggestion that Mr. Bennett (and any gullible members of the Democratic Central Committee who may have been taken in by this spurious reasoning) review the record where they will find that the reasons for Mr. (Abe) Fortas' resignation and Justice (William O.) Douglas' criticism are clearly documented and not (like Mr. Bennett's assertion) politically motivated.

Murphy Labor Bill Trick Angers Fellow Senators

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious cloakroom criticism of a senator is a rare thing, and it is even rarer for such criticism to leak beyond the guarded confines of the Senate.

But Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., has aroused such criticism. His transgression: resort to a parliamentary tactic that is considered a breach of good faith.

Murphy acted clearly within the written rules of the Senate. But there is little doubt that he flouted one of the unwritten rules that helps make the Senate's creaky machinery work.

The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, of which Murphy is a member, had a bill before it to bring farm workers under the protection of the National Labor Relations Act. This would permit such workers to organize into unions and to bargain collectively for wages and working conditions.

Many of Murphy's constituents —the growers and planters in California —opposed it.

Murphy wrote a substitute farm labor bill, containing many restrictions on the right to strike. He called his bill the "consumer food protection act of 1969." It would prohibit any strike that would result in crop damage.

Referral of bills in the Senate is an inexact science, but there are rules governing it. Generally, a senator will introduce a bill and ask that it be referred to the "appropriate" committee. The parliamentarian, in the name of the presiding officer, routinely routes the measure to the committee having jurisdiction — paramount jurisdiction if two or more committees would appear to have a claim on the bill.

But under the "unanimous consent" rule, the Senate may do anything it pleases, regardless of what other written rules say. By tradition, a unanimous consent request is seldom made without consultation with others to make sure the consent actually is unanimous.

LAST MONTH, the Democrats held a caucus — a meeting of only Democratic members — while the Senate was in session. Republican senators were holding a policy meeting at the same time.

Besides Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., inattentive at his desk, only Murphy and another Republican or two were on the floor. The Californian chose that moment to introduce his bill.

He asked unanimous consent that it be referred to the committee on Agriculture and Forestry, which generally protects growers.

"Without objection, the bill will be received; and, without objection, will be referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry," said the President of the Senate.

NO OBJECTION was heard from the floor, but there was plenty later. Normally the measure would have gone to the Labor Committee.

A great part of the Senate's routine business is done by unanimous consent. Resorting to its use on non-routine matters is considered a breach of faith.

"We'd have anarchy around here if every Senator tried what Murphy did," one Senator said. "It's unheard of," said another.

Tax Refunds Start Going Out —But Are They Worth Trouble

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When the Legislature voted in 1968 to submit to the people a constitutional provision for a tax refund of $70 on each privately owned residence, it apparently had no conception of the vast amount of paper work that would be involved.

Now, with the mailing of the $70 checks just around the corner, it has a better idea of the immensity of the task.

Probably within a week, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy's staff, which has worked for months getting ready for the big push, will start putting the checks in the mail.

Approximately $168 million will be mailed to some 2.5 million homeowners throughout the state. Two and a half million checks are a lot of checks, even though the lists of recipients are furnished by the 58 counties.

THE POSTAGE bill alone is enough to stagger the ordinary businessman's imagination. And the bill for 2.5 million envelopes won't be easy either. Add to this the printing costs of the checks, the work that went with putting them into a computer, stuffing the envelopes, and the weeding out of the chiselers who tried to get more than one $70 refund, and you have a job that in magnitude could stump an efficiency expert.

But sending out the checks isn't all. They have to be cashed, run through a bank, and be returned to State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest for reconciliation.

This is going to be one of the hard parts of the operation. Although Mrs. Priest is changing to a computer system for bank reconciliation, which must be accurate to the penny, processes have not yet been completed satisfactorily. Faced with a double job, it may take some time to complete this work.

OF COURSE mailing checks is no new operation for the state of California. This mass process began back in 1938, with the start of the unemployment insurance program. At that time, only now-antiquated IBM machines were available for this mass job, but without this automatic process, it would have been an almost impossible task to accomplish.

Now the state has many types of mass mailings, including unemployment insurance, relief checks, old age pension checks, compensation checks, along with checks paying for the normal functions of government. It is somewhat frightening to think about the amount of checks the state government alone puts out each month. Yet generally, the job is done efficiently and well, and there are minimum complaints that the money does not arrive on time. All of which is a tribute not to the computer, but to the people who program the computer, for a machine still has to have a human brain behind its operations.

February 1968 a petition containing over 400 signatures asking for public use of the right of way was presented to the council. January 1969 the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee offered a formula for acquisition recommending appraisal, and condemnation. The council so far responds that negotiation with the owner (Southern Pacific Co.) is the most effective way to buy it.

The extent of their negotiation, as I see, has been to write to S.P. asking if the property is for sale and at what price. S.P. promised to decide in April, however it is now late May, and still no news . . .

How long must our patience endure? S.P. is playing a waiting game, and our council naively goofs along. A long time ago we should have obtained an appraisal of the properties fair market value, condemned it for that amount, and we would probably be using it now.

Figures About Air Pollution

We have read with great interest your editorial on May 24 suggesting a simple solution to the Bay Area smog problem. The district is always interested in suggestions which will help solve the air pollution problems in the Bay Area.

Your contention is that the high olefinic content of gasoline is the major cause of smog in the Bay Area. Unfortunately this is only partly true.

Studies by the Air Resources Board of the State of California, and the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District have shown that the exhaust emissions from the automobile are relatively similar in composition regardless of the kind of gasoline used. Thus, high olefin gasolines, branched chain gasolines, and straight run distillate gasolines result in the same quantity of smog-forming olefins coming out of the tail pipe. The reason for this is the fact that the internal combustion engine is in itself a cracking plant, breaking down large molecules into simpler chemical entities, including olefins.

It is true, however, that evaporation of gasoline before it is burned in the engine contributes to the olefinic load of the atmosphere, and thus a high olefin gasoline will contribute more of this compound than a straight run distillate. Of the total of 1000 tons per day of organic compounds emitted to the atmosphere from the motor vehicle, about 15 per cent is derived from evaporative losses in filling gas tanks and from carburetor evaporation. Thus about 150 tons per day of total organics come from these evaporation sources. The average olefinic content of Bay Area gasolines is about 15 per cent, indicating that a total of 22 tons of reactive smog-forming gases are emitted to the atmosphere from evaporative losses. Compare this figure with 480 tons of reactive gases from the tail pipe of the automobile, 90 tons from back yard burning, 60 tons from agricultural burning and 100 tons from industry. Evaporative losses account for approximately 3 per cent of the total of reactive smog-forming gases emitted daily.

Your concern with the smog problem in the Bay Area is reflected by our own and hopefully with implementation of the Air Resources Board controls on automobiles and the district's controls on industrial, commercial, agricultural and back yard burning sources, we will be able to lick the problem.

Bennett Charge Branded Spurious

The statement attributed to former C.P.U. Commissioner William M. Bennett (I-J, May 28) to the effect that "President Nixon was deliberately trying to oust the liberal members of the U. S. Supreme Court because the court had ruled against the El Paso Natural Gas Co., a firm represented by Nixon's former law firm" is, to say the very least, incredible.

It would be my suggestion that Mr. Bennett (and any gullible members of the Democratic Central Committee who may have been taken in by this spurious reasoning) review the record where they will find that the reasons for Mr. (Abe) Fortas' resignation and Justice (William O.) Douglas' criticism are clearly documented and not (like Mr. Bennett's assertion) politically motivated.

Editorial Too Late For Use

As a former teacher in a metropolitan high school with easy access only to the Chicago Daily News, Tribune, and Sun-Times, I sometimes found it difficult to locate examples of yellow press to study when that subject arose in my journalism classes. Oh, if only I could have produced the editorial page from the Independent-Journal, especially that irresponsible, unsubstantiated, innuendo-packed smear under the guise of editorial opinion as expressed by you on Tuesday, May 27. (I am not referring to Marin Birdsongs, but to your attack on your favorite victim, the school systems of Marin). With you around, who needs enemies?

Criticism At Home Again Found Hurting Effort For Peace

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON . — The recent public statement of the two most highly placed Democratic critics of President Richard Nixon's effort to settle the Vietnamese war ought to be put down for exactly what they are: irresponsible, erratic and injurious to the cause of an early peace.

The remarks were made by Senators Edward Kennedy and Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leaders of the Senate.

How irresponsible?

ON THE EVE of Mr. Nixon's crucial meeting with President Thieu of South Vietnam to concert peace proposals and discuss the withdrawal of some U.S. troops, Senator Kennedy suggested that if the elected heads of the Saigon government won't accept unelected Communists into the government, the United States ought to try to get rid of Thieu and others.

Is that what Senator Kennedy would have said if President John F. Kennedy were going off to confer with the president of South Vietnam on how fast to achieve an honorable settlement?

Kennedy said: "We have not fought in the heat and mud simply to keep one or two individuals in Saigon's presidential palace."

THE SLUR is evident. It was no off-the-cuff slip. It was part of a carefully prepared commencement address. It rests on an egregious misstatement of why Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson acted to defend South Vietnam.

Of course the United States isn't fighting in Vietnam "to keep one or two individuals in Saigon's presidential palace." The United States is defending South Vietnam to protect the right of the South Vietnamese to have a government of their choosing, not to have one imposed on them by outsiders, including America.

Despite the pressures of the war, South Vietnam elected a parliament, president and vice president. The election, in which a great majority participated, was watched at firsthand by many outsiders who certified it as free of serious irregularity.

And what kind of a provisional coalition government does the Viet Cong say it must have as a condition for ending the war? The VC proposal, enunciated many times in Paris, is that members of the NLF must be taken into the government and that President Thieu and Vice President Ky must be removed from the government prior to the election. In other words, the elected leaders of South Vietnam would be ousted and the unelected Communists would be elevated to office.

Put alongside that proposal the words of the Massachusetts senator — that the United States isn't defending South Vietnam "to keep one or two individuals in Saigon's presidential palace" — and you can see where Kennedy is headed.

How erratic?

WHEN SOME of Kennedy's remarks, including his criticism of the tactics of U.S. field commanders in Vietnam, which Hanoi gleefully radioed back to the American troops, were called into question, Senator Mansfield endorsed them and said it was quite in order for Kennedy to keep making them. But the next day Mansfield asked that there be "a "moratorium" on such talks while President Nixon is meeting with Thieu, on the grounds that it would make progress more difficult.

A sound second thought. But if this kind of loose talk, this kind of playing at being President without the responsibility of being President, ought to be suspended during the Nixon-Thieu meetings, such a moratorium is even more needed during the difficult, delicate negotiations in Paris. Heckling from the sidelines can do nothing but push a Vietnam peace further into the future.

Murphy Labor Bill Trick Angers Fellow Senators

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious cloakroom criticism of a senator is a rare thing, and it is even rarer for such criticism to leak beyond the guarded confines of the Senate.

But Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., has aroused such criticism. His transgression: resort to a parliamentary tactic that is considered a breach of good faith.

Murphy acted clearly within the written rules of the Senate. But there is little doubt that he flouted one of the unwritten rules that helps make the Senate's creaky machinery work.

The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, of which Murphy is a member, had a bill before it to bring farm workers under the protection of the National Labor Relations Act. This would permit such workers to organize into unions and to bargain collectively for wages and working conditions.

Many of Murphy's constituents —the growers and planters in California —opposed it.

Murphy wrote a substitute farm labor bill, containing many restrictions on the right to strike. He called his bill the "consumer food protection act of 1969." It would prohibit any strike that would result in crop damage.

Referral of bills in the Senate is an inexact science, but there are rules governing it. Generally, a senator will introduce a bill and ask that it be referred to the "appropriate" committee. The parliamentarian, in the name of the presiding officer, routinely routes the measure to the committee having jurisdiction — paramount jurisdiction if two or more committees would appear to have a claim on the bill.

But under the "unanimous consent" rule, the Senate may do anything it pleases, regardless of what other written rules say. By tradition, a unanimous consent request is seldom made without consultation with others to make sure the consent actually is unanimous.

LAST MONTH, the Democrats held a caucus — a meeting of only Democratic members — while the Senate was in session. Republican senators were holding a policy meeting at the same time.

Besides Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., inattentive at his desk, only Murphy and another Republican or two were on the floor. The Californian chose that moment to introduce his bill.

He asked unanimous consent that it be referred to the committee on Agriculture and Forestry, which generally protects growers.

"Without objection, the bill will be received; and, without objection, will be referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry," said the President of the Senate.

NO OBJECTION was heard from the floor, but there was plenty later. Normally the measure would have gone to the Labor Committee.

A great part of the Senate's routine business is done by unanimous consent. Resorting to its use on non-routine matters is considered a breach of faith.

"We'd have anarchy around here if every Senator tried what Murphy did," one Senator said. "It's unheard of," said another.

Tax Refunds Start Going Out —But Are They Worth Trouble

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When the Legislature voted in 1968 to submit to the people a constitutional provision for a tax refund of $70 on each privately owned residence, it apparently had no conception of the vast amount of paper work that would be involved.

Now, with the mailing of the $70 checks just around the corner, it has a better idea of the immensity of the task.

Probably within a week, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy's staff, which has worked for months getting ready for the big push, will start putting the checks in the mail.

Approximately $168 million will be mailed to some 2.5 million homeowners throughout the state. Two and a half million checks are a lot of checks, even though the lists of recipients are furnished by the 58 counties.

THE POSTAGE bill alone is enough to stagger the ordinary businessman's imagination. And the bill for 2.5 million envelopes won't be easy either. Add to this the printing costs of the checks, the work that went with putting them into a computer, stuffing the envelopes, and the weeding out of the chiselers who tried to get more than one $70 refund, and you have a job that in magnitude could stump an efficiency expert.

But sending out the checks isn't all. They have to be cashed, run through a bank, and be returned to State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest for reconciliation.

This is going to be one of the hard parts of the operation. Although Mrs. Priest is changing to a computer system for bank reconciliation, which must be accurate to the penny, processes have not yet been completed satisfactorily. Faced with a double job, it may take some time to complete this work.

OF COURSE mailing checks is no new operation for the state of California. This mass process began back in 1938, with the start of the unemployment insurance program. At that time, only now-antiquated IBM machines were available for this mass job, but without this automatic process, it would have been an almost impossible task to accomplish.

Now the state has many types of mass mailings, including unemployment insurance, relief checks, old age pension checks, compensation checks, along with checks paying for the normal functions of government. It is somewhat frightening to think about the amount of checks the state government alone puts out each month. Yet generally, the job is done efficiently and well, and there are minimum complaints that the money does not arrive on time. All of which is a tribute not to the computer, but to the people who program the computer, for a machine still has to have a human brain behind its operations.

Say, 'Bye, Bye, Birdie' To Tax Rate –It Just Went Over The Fence

It's almost certain now that the basic county tax rate next year will hcit the highest since 1954-55, when the rate was $2.55.

Since then, the rate has never climbed above $2.30. Supervisors had hoped to hold it at the current $2.27, but that's out the window.

After the first few days of budget deliberations, it's becoming quite clear that what chopping there was to be done has already been accomplished by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

You sit through the long daily sessions from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. and have to sympathize with the supervisors. They're trying to cut, but each time run up against essential services, whose costs are going up, not down — courts, welfare, police patrol, mental health.

THE WOOD sculpture exhibits in the Civic Center outside the supervisors' chambers are good conversation pieces because artist Melvin Schuler hasn't given titles to any of his works. Each viewer can see whatever he wants in them.

For example, one large chunk of carved wood looks like an elephant to one, a molar (tooth) to another, and a man's torso to a third.

One girl said the flowing lines of carved walnut make her want to dance and sing. Others look at them as a waste of good walnut. "I wouldn't mind having this to make me a nice desk," drawled one workman, rubbing the handsome grain on the polished sculpture.

THE COUNTY employees Bowling League, which is as famed for its colorful team names as for its bowling talents, is carrying on in the best of tradition.

This year's champion is the Aristo Craps, composed of Gene and Phyllis Vasco and Elmer and Lelah Berry.

They barely nosed out the foursome of Tina Price, George Mack, Hazel Fuselli and Bob Zeigler, who call themselves Soc It To Em.

Trophies for team and individual performances were handed out at a dinner held at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club on Saturday.

'Tisn't Twiggie That Triumphs; 'Tis The Ample, Buxom Lass

If there's anything that sets my teeth on edge it's the subject of dieting.

Somehow, some sneaky scamp with the inclinations of a sadist and the wit of a Puck started the rumor circulating among women that to be beautiful is to be slim as a kite string, a shadowy sprite tiptoeing on the brink of starvation.

The ladies, with that mysterious reasoning that is peculiarly their own, have tenaciously clung to this ill-conceived notion despite all masculine pleadings and exhortations to the contrary. They refuse to be convinced that man's fancy is not to the will-o-the-wisp but to the more substantial, the more eloquently rounded female form that leaves no possible doubt as to its presence.

IT'S DISCONCERTING, yes even demoralizing, to fight the fight of daily existence, feeling a certain amount of pride and sense of accomplishment, only to return home to be met by a tittupy wraith tottering on the edge of malnutrition.

He begins to wonder if the effort is worth it all.

There's no better way of knowing your efforts are bearing fruit than to be greeted at the day's end by your lady, a picture of glowing contentment and womanly voluptuousness, an image to do Reubens proud, a vision to fill the eyes to overflowing.

I HAVE A VIVID recollection of a lady occupying a table next to mine at the Olympic Hotel in Seattle some years ago. She and the gentleman with her were being served as I was seated. I was instantly attracted to her.

She sat firmly in her chair, her back straight, feet square on the floor and fairly well apart. A tureen of soup was before them, lentil soup it was, with thick slices of sausage floating in it, and they ate it with sour French bread (as it should be of course) and a bottle of Gamay. Seizing the bread fully in her hands, she tore off hunks of it, dunked, drank and didn't stop until the last sausage was gone.

Here was a woman, a woman whose no-nonsense approach to matters and her uncommon zest for life made her unabashed at being observed eating with both hands.

Then a platter of whole, boiled lobsters were brought before them and, with obvious relish and a bottle of Reisling, were made to (poof!) disappear.

THE LADY went about the business without any hanky-panky. At times she had both elbows on the table, other times she punctuated whatever it was she was saying with a lobster claw, waving it under her gentleman's nose. She talked over, around, and through great chunks of delicious white lobster meat which she washed down with gulps of Reisling.

I was enchanted.

After the lobster came a Chateaubriand for two on a large wooden plank surrounded by whipped potatoes, glazed carrots, small white onions and mushroom caps sauteed. And a bottle of Cabernet Sauvignon.

BY THIS TIME I was in love.

The Chateaubriand vanished, only to be followed by a platter of assorted cheeses accompanied by brandy and coffee.

When they finished, the gentleman, with Falstaffian heartiness, called for his check, paid it with gusto, wrapped a fur about his lady and proudly escorted her out.

And no wonder! There, my friends, was a woman!

'Fairness Doctrine' Upheld By Tribunal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled, 7 to 0, today that radio and television broadcasters are subject to the government's "fairness doctrine" and can be ordered to air opposing views on controversial issues raised in their own programs.

The opinion by Justice Byron R. White rejected the claim of a Pennsylvania broadcasting company and the industry at large that the authority exercised by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) infringed on the First Amendment guarantees of right of freedom of the press.

The court, sitting as an eight-judge panel since the resignation of Abe Fortas, took these other actions:

Struck down as unconstitutional an Ohio law forbidding advocating sabotage or unlawful methods of terrorism as "a means of accomplishing industrial or political reform." In reversing the conviction of a Cincinnati man, Clarence Brandenberg, for anti-Negro and anti-Semetic statements at a Ku Klux Klan meeting, the Court also voted, 8 to 0, to overturn a 1927 decision which had upheld a similar California law.

Ruled 7 to 1 that state laws cannot permit the garnishee of a worker's wages without first granting him a hearing. The opinion by Justice William O. Douglas struck down specifically a Wisconsin law but at least 17 other states operate under similar statues and as many as 250,000 garnishee actions may be nullified by the ruling. The lone dissenter, Justice Hugo L. Black, contended the decision was an intrusion of state authority.

Refused a hearing to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who appealed a lower court ruling which barred him from seeking damages from columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson for publishing material based on stolen documents that led to Dodd's 1967 censure by the Senate.

Turned down a request by Cleveland L. Sellers Jr., a Negro civil rights worker, for review of his broadscale challenge of the racial composition of local draft boards. Sellers, a native of Bamberg, S.C., claimed Negroes have a right to refuse induction because members of their race have been systematically excluded from the boards.

Teen-Ager Is Booked For Growing Suspected Weed

A 16-year-old Greenbrae boy, whose mother was at a loss to explain his sudden interest in backyard gardening, has been booked into Juvenile Hall for allegedly cultivating a healthy crop of 250 marijuana plants, some up to four feet high.

It was at least the sixth marijuana garden to be discovered by Marin County authorities in less than one month. Since May 15 discoveries have been made twice in San Anselmo, in Santa Venetia, Larkspur and near Inverness.

Treacy was arrested on suspicion of possession and cultivation of marijuana.

Prandi said the plants were growing in well-watered soil in two beds of the yard and in other locations behind the home at 380 Vist Grande Street.

A nashish pipe, cigarette papers and seeds believed to be marijuana were recovered from the youth's room, reports said.

Street Work To Be Topic For Novato

Street repair and reconstruction will be the main issue before the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps will report on the status of street projects. The council will be asked to authorize specifications and call for bids on work on Simmons Lane and award a contract for work at Wilson Avenue and Novato Boulevard.

In other business, Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams will report on progress of Pioneer Memorial Park. The council will be asked to advertise for bids for a spray pool at the park.

Other items to come before the council include an appeal by William Jonas from planning commission denial of a reader board for the Novak Square shopping center, setting a joint meeting with the parks and recreation advisory commission on recreational facilities and the final map of the Schuman Center subdivision.

Girls Booked In Shoplifting Probe

Two San Rafael girls, one 17, the other 16, were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of shoplifting after they each walked out of Disco, 1 Larkspur Plaza, Larkspur, each with a a1.50 can of hair conditioner in her purse, police said today.

They swere arrested, officers reported, after a Disco employee reported them at 1:10 p.m.

VAN DELLEN

Summer was a nightmare prior to the discovery of polio vaccine. Newspapers carried daily reports on the number of people who were stricken.

The early symptoms resembled a respiratory infection and whenever a child developed a cold, the parents spent an anxious 24 hours awaiting the outcome.

Any youngster with the slightest indication of polio was hospitalized for observation. Many of these children were listed as having nonparalytic polio even though subsequent tests disproved the diagnosis.

In 1955, there were 13,850 cases of paralytic polio in the United States. Shortly thereafter, Salk vaccine became available and, in 1960, the oral (Sabin) product was introduced.

THANKS TO THE VACCINES, a dramatic drop in the incidence of the disease occurred and by 1967, only 41 paralytic cases were reported.

The medical profession is now concerned that the new generation of mothers will be so complacent about polio that they will neglect to have the children immunized during the first year.

Every baby that comes into the world adds to the number of susceptible infants in our population. Unless immunized early, the tyke goes unprotected until of school age. In 1967, 13 of 18 victims were under 4 years old, 11 of them never received polio vaccine. During the first 11 months of 1968 there were 20 cases, all unimmunized preschool children.

THE DANGER MULTIPLIES as the number of susceptible children increases, especially in large cities. We might be proud of the fact that, in 1966, 70 per cent of all pre-schoolers received at least three doses of polio vaccine. But in some nonwhite groups, the percentage dropped below 60.

There is definite evidence of a growing complacency in that the number of unvaccinated individuals is growing.

PREVENTION IS the answer in polio. We have no remedy for the acute phase of the disease when the virus is attacking the nervous system and causing paralysis. The best solution is routine immunization in the first year of life.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CHIGGERS EVERY SUMMER

Mrs. H. writes: Every summer my husband suffers from chigger bites all over his body. Nothing seems to help these bites and he was told he could take some product internally to prevent them. Do you know what this drug could be?

REPLY

No. Has your husband tried a good insect repellent? In addition, when he walks in infested areas he should wear high boots and other protective clothing, and should not sit or lie on the grass.

SPREADING INFECTION

REPLY

Any infection can. Pus in the middle ear, unless released, may break through into the mastoid or brain or destroy the hearing apparatus. Spreading through the bloodstream also occurs. This is why the family doctor should be consulted when the condition exists. Not next week or next month, but now.

ARTHRITIS AND GLANDS

A. G. writes: Does the status of the endocrine glands play a role in arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, but the exact association is not known. When a woman with arthritis becomes pregnant, for example, the joint pains disappear. Certain adrenal hormones also affect the disease and it may disappear entirely while hormones such as cortisone or ACTH are taken.

GIANT CARNIVAL OPENS WED., JUNE 12 THRU SUN., JUNE 15 NOON TO MIDNIGHT

Color Dad Bright On Sunday For A Summer Of Fun

Everyone has his own approach to Father's Day gift giving.

Some turn imaginative: "What is it that Dad would never buy for himself?"

Each approach has its own merits, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, and there is something to satisfy each in this year's wide range of exciting men's fashions.

Father's Day is Sunday, which means it is time now to give some thought to gift selection. To help you choose wisely and fashionably, here's a review of some classic gift ideas for your favorite father:

TIES:

Note that most of the new ties are wider this year. Three-inch widths are now considered relatively conservative as some of the high fashion numbers measure five inches and more at their widest dimension.

As far as pattern and color in the new ties are concerned, just about anything goes — as long as you like it and he'll wear it. The fashion spectrum ranges from unpatterned solid colors in everything from soft pastels to deep rich tones. It includes the always popular stripes, flowered summery prints, paisleys, polka dots, free-form designs and plaids.

SHIRTS:

Like WOW! It wasn't so long ago that if Dad wore a pale blue, tan or yellow shirt he was considered a fashion plate. Then along came "calliope colors" — hues that virtually shrilled their style song. There are brilliant blues, deep raspberries, golds, spruce greens, slate grays, orangey melon tones, deep browns, indigo blues and kelly greens. Those colors, plus others, come in stripes, checks and plaids with sharp contrasting or harmonizing colors and tailored in permanent press constructions. They are the leaders in the great male fashion revival.

Available in both traditional and forward fashion collar styles, in broadcloth, chambray, madras and oxford, the new vibrantly colored shirts have had a fashion impact on the wardrobes of some of the most conservative Dads.

As an added summer feature, all of those colors and patterns can be had in short-sleeved models to beat the heat.

SPORTSHIRTS:

You can get a little reckless here, for sportshirts is where most men do their style innovating. The two top knits are the classic collared "polo" shirt with a two- or three-button placket and the updated mock-turtles.

Look for many of the "hot" dress shirt colors in woven sportshirts plus brand new prints and any number of bold stripes, plaids and checks, some of which are classics, others being imaginative innovations. The permanent press feature in many of those styles keeps them fresh and crisp in the most humid weather and also provides an easy-care factor.

SWIMWEAR:

Key your swimwear gifts to Dad's aquatic bent. Many of the younger fathers are ardent surfers, SCUBA divers or spear-fishers. Others take pride in keeping up or trouncing their sons in fast sprints. Those Dads will want the new stretch knits and trim-cut speed trunks.

Sunbathing fathers who take an occasional plunge "to cool off" will appreciate the easier-fitting boxer and semi-boxer models.

That, however, is only half the story. Speedster or plunger, Dad will need a cover-up when not in water. Sunbathing Pops will go for cabana sets with either matching or coordinated tops and trunks. The more athletic types go for the "mix'n'match" bit created by wearing beach pullovers or zippered beach jackets to meet their specific tastes and needs.

JEWELRY:

If you are uncertain as to size or color preference, cuff links, tie tacs, tie bars can help you solve the problem.

As far as the "in" look in jewelry is concerned, selections are so broad your best move is to key gifts to his personal tastes. For instance, if he is a traditionalist, he will prefer the neat classic pieces, medium to small in size and simple in design. Sports motifs, heraldic designs and tie clasps rather than tacs are apt to make him happiest.

On the other hand, if he is a fashion-oriented fellow, he will probably enjoy wearing the larger pieces, stones in intricate settings and the opulent baroque designs.

If your Dad is a member of a fraternal order he might like cuff links and/or a tie clasp decorated with his organization's emblem.

LEATHER GOODS:

Nearly all men love fine leather and the many personal artifacts made of it. Does he need a new wallet, pocket secretary, a key case, a credit card case, an attache case or a brief bag?

Selections are better than ever this year and his favorite men's store has newly styled items to fit every budget.

Belts have added style this year. Look at smooth or finely grained dress belts for wear with business clothes. Consider the rugged, waxey leathers with big, bold buckles for sportswear. Colorful elastic and webbelts also fit nicely into the summer scene.

SOCKS:

The day of the all-purpose black sock is over. The well-dressed Dad coordinates the color of his business socks with his suits and has a completely separate wardrobe of sport socks to wear with slacks and casual outfits.

The two types are not only distinctly different in color and texture, but they also come in several lengths for various purposes. For business and dress-up wear, he needs some calf-length or above-the-calf length ribbed hose in colors to coordinate with his suits. The droopy ankle-length sock is definitely "out" with business and professional men.

By the same token, his sport socks are more colorful and employ novelty knits as well as handsome patterns. There are sport socks to match, harmonize or contrast with the new slacks, sport shirts and accessories. Some have cushion soles to pamper golfers and tennis players and many are in the s-t-r-e-t-c-h constructions that fit smoothly, won't wrinkle and stay up.

SLACKS-WALK SHORTS:

A tip about selecting Dad's slacks: always consider the shirts and sportcoats in his wardrobe. Pick from slacks of dressy fabrics to compliment his blazers and sportcoats, or from casual wash'n'wear permanent press slacks and walk shorts for active sportswear or fro "just lounging."

Patterned slacks are as popular as the plain colors and are ideal for wear with blazers. Some of the current patterns are wildest since the colorful printed patterns have been around. New prints include floral patterns, geometrics and "native-type" tapa designs borrowed from the South Sea Islands.

Plain colors are often not as plain as they seem at first glance, as subtle mixtures of varied hue are blended into the yarns. There are also various types of twills as well as a selection of wrinkle-free, easily packable knits.

Look for bold bright colors, soft pastel shades and, of course, the classic grays and "natural" tans. There are both bold and modified plaids, stripes and checks as well as windowpane patterns.

John Churchills Are In Peace Corps

By MOLLY MARIN

News of their unexpected acceptance in the Peace Corps is causing much excitement among friends of the John Churchills in Sausalito.

Sausalito residents for many years, the Churchills applied for service in the Peace Corps in South America about a year and a half ago, Gertrude Churchill says, they wanted to do something for the underprivileged people in that area.

They have been assigned to Santiago, Chile, for two years and two months and will leave on July 2 from Washington, D.C., for Santiago, where they will receive their training.

A chemical engineer, Mr. Churchill, though two years past retirement age, is employed as executive sales manager with the Drew Chemical Co. in San Francisco. His work with the Peace Corps will be under the urban development program of the Chilean government and will involve supervising men who are building their own homes during hours when they are not at work on their regular jobs.

A registered nurse before her marriage, Mrs. Churchill has been a housewife for the past 30 years and is looking forward to working in health education.

The Churchills have two children, a married daughter, Mrs. Hugh White, who lives with her husband and year-old son John in Resada, and another daughter, Elaine, who will be in her junior year at Arizona State College in the fall. She will go to Santiago for a semester's work in February.

Mrs. Churchill has been very active in the Sausalito Woman's Club, the Sausalito Salvage Shop and the Women's Guild of the Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito.

Mr. and Mrs. Arie Slikkerveer and their three children will be living in the Churchill's home while they are gone.

Mrs. Irene Cuneo of Mill Valley was the bridesmaid. Other Marinites attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gelardi and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lundwall, all of Mill Valley.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gettle have children from a previous marriage. Mr. Gettle is the father of Mrs. Charles McCaffrey of San Rafael and Jay Gettle, stationed with the Army at Ft. Ord, and the new Mrs. Gettle has a daughter, Mrs. Charles Bruce of Alameda.

ROBERT AND Becky Matson, who have lived in Mill Valley for the past 15 years, are busy getting ready to spend a year in Nagasaki, Japan, where he will be employed as a naval architect. They will be leaving on June 23.

With them this summer will be their daughter Tletha, who will be studying music at the Interlocken Arts Academy at Interlocken, Mich., next fall, and their son Christopher, who will bein his junior year in the fall at the Colorado School of Mines in Golden, Colo.

The Matsons have had an opportunity to learn something of the Japanese language, cooking and social customs from a young Japanese woman, Yukiki Tsumaru, who has been living with them and studying art and English here since April.

Color Dad Bright On Sunday For A Summer Of Fun

Everyone has his own approach to Father's Day gift giving.

Some turn imaginative: "What is it that Dad would never buy for himself?"

Each approach has its own merits, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, and there is something to satisfy each in this year's wide range of exciting men's fashions.

Father's Day is Sunday, which means it is time now to give some thought to gift selection. To help you choose wisely and fashionably, here's a review of some classic gift ideas for your favorite father:

TIES:

Note that most of the new ties are wider this year. Three-inch widths are now considered relatively conservative as some of the high fashion numbers measure five inches and more at their widest dimension.

As far as pattern and color in the new ties are concerned, just about anything goes — as long as you like it and he'll wear it. The fashion spectrum ranges from unpatterned solid colors in everything from soft pastels to deep rich tones. It includes the always popular stripes, flowered summery prints, paisleys, polka dots, free-form designs and plaids.

SHIRTS:

Like WOW! It wasn't so long ago that if Dad wore a pale blue, tan or yellow shirt he was considered a fashion plate. Then along came "cal iope colors" — hues that virtually shrilled their style song. There are brilliant blues, deep raspberries, golds, spruce greens, slate grays, orangey melon tones, deep browns, indigo blues and kelly greens. Those colors, plus others, come in stripes, checks and plaids with sharp contrasting or harmonizing colors and tailored in permanent press constructions. They are the leaders in the great male fashion revival.

Available in both traditional and forward fashion collar styles, in broadcloth, chambray, madras and oxford, the new vibrantly colored shirts have had a fashion impact on the wardrobes of some of the most conservative Dads.

As an added summer feature, all of those colors and patterns can be had in short-sleeved models to beat the heat.

SPORTSHIRTS:

You can get a little reckless here, for sportshirts is where most men do their style innovating. The two top knits are the classic collared "polo" shirt with a two- or three-button placket and the updated mock-turtles.

Look for many of the "hot" dress shirt colors in woven sportshirts plus brand new prints and any number of bold stripes, plaids and checks, some of which are classics, others being imaginative innovations. The permanent press feature in many of those styles keeps them fresh and crisp in the most humid weather and also provides an easy-care factor.

SWIMWEAR:

Key your swimwear gifts to Dad's aquatic bent. Many of the younger fathers are ardent surfers, SCUBA divers or spear-fishers. Others take pride in keeping up or trouncing their sons in fast sprints. Those Dads will want the new stretch knits and trim-cut speed trunks.

Sunbathing fathers who take an occasional plunge "to cool off" will appreciate the easier-fitting boxer and semi-boxer models.

That, however, is only half the story. Speedster or plunger, Dad will need a cover-up when not in water. Sunbathing Pops will go for cabana sets with either matching or coordinated tops and trunks. The more athletic types go for the "mix'n'match" bit created by wearing beach pullovers or zippered beach jackets to meet their specific tastes and needs.

JEWELRY:

If you are uncertain as to size or color preference, cuff links, tie tacs, tie bars can help you solve the problem.

As far as the "in" look in jewelry is concerned, selections are so broad your best move is to key gifts to his personal tastes. For instance, if he is a traditionalist, he will prefer the neat classic pieces, medium to small in size and simple in design. Sports motifs, heraldic designs and tie clasps rather than tacs are apt to make him happiest.

On the other hand, if he is a fashion-oriented fellow, he will probably enjoy wearing the larger pieces, stones in intricate settings and the opulent baroque designs.

If your Dad is a member of a fraternal order he might like cuff links and/or a tie clasp decorated with his organization's emblem.

LEATHER GOODS:

Nearly all men love fine leather and the many personal artifacts made of it. Does he need a new wallet, pocket secretary, a key case, a credit card case, an attache case or a brief bag?

Selections are better than ever this year and his favorite men's store has newly styled items to fit every budget.

Belts have added style this year. Look at smooth or finely grained dress belts for wear with business clothes. Consider the rugged, waxey leathers with big, bold buckles for sportswear. Colorful elastic and webbelts also fit nicely into the summer scene.

SOCKS:

The day of the all-purpose black sock is over. The well-dressed Dad coordinates the color of his business socks with his suits and has a completely separate wardrobe of sport socks to wear with slacks and casual outfits.

The two types are not only distinctly different in color and texture, but they also come in several lengths for various purposes. For business and dress-up wear, he needs some calf-length or above-the-calf length ribbed hose in colors to coordinate with his suits. The droopy ankle-length sock is definitely "out" with business and professional men.

By the same token, his sport socks are more colorful and employ novelty knits as well as handsome patterns. There are sport socks to match, harmonize or contrast with the new slacks, sport shirts and accessories. Some have cushion soles to pamper golfers and tennis players and many are in the s-t-r-e-t-c-h constructions that fit smoothly, won't wrinkle and stay up.

SLACKS-WALK SHORTS:

A tip about selecting Dad's slacks: always consider the shirts and sportcoats in his wardrobe. Pick from slacks of dressy fabrics to compliment his blazers and sportcoats, or from casual wash'n'wear permanent press slacks and walk shorts for active sportswear or fro "just lounging."

Patterned slacks are as popular as the plain colors and are ideal for wear with blazers. Some of the current patterns are wildest since the colorful printed patterns have been around. New prints include floral patterns, geometrics and "native-type" tapa designs

Plain colors are often not as plain as they seem at first glance, as subtle mixtures of varied hue are blended into the yarns. There are also various types of twills as well as a selection of wrinkle-free, easily packable knits.

Look for bold bright colors, soft pastel shades and, of course, the classic grays and "natural" tans. There are both bold and modified plaids, stripes and checks as well as windowpane patterns.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Number Of Family Fights Is The Important Question

DEAR HELEN:

My wife left me. I want her back. Tell me how?

I had a few beers after work, and one thing led to another so I came home at 6 a.m., smashed. My wife said some mean things and my temper isn't the coolest. I grabbed her by the hair and yelled "Shut up!" and she said she was leaving, so I said "Make it right now!" and she did.

She and the baby are staying with her sister, and she won't even talk to me on the phone.

How can I tell her it will never happen again when I can't get her to speak to me? — NEVER AGAIN

DEAR N.A.:

You left out one important detail: Was this your first big fight — or your last? If your wife has heard the old "It will never happen again" routine once too often, I can't help you. But if you goofed up only once, then a dozen roses and a contrite note might soften her. By this time she may have remembered all those mean things she said. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Will our smut-pollution never end? I mean the filth we see in print, and on films and in the theater? Our children even get advertisements for lewd books and articles through the mail. I turned them over to the Postal Department, but these advertisers are smart — they just stay within the law.

I personally wouldn't go to see a so-called adult movie, or one of those terribly well-promoted plays which do all for "art." Nor would I read a book just because it was banned somewhere, or reviewers make it a best-seller by calling it dirty.

But I'm afraid I'm in the minority. So long as people won't be their own censors, I think we should have tougher censorship laws. — HOMEMAKER

DEAR HOMEMAKER:

Censorship doesn't cure smut any more than pancake makeup cures a pimple. So long as the curious enjoy being shocked, the shockers will get rich — and the more we howl about certain "dirty" books, movies, plays, etc. the more money they will make.

There's only one way to fight hard core pornography — by general revulsion. When people become fed up, they'll turn back to worthwhile art and literature, just as they have done all through history. That time might arrive sooner if critics would concentrate more on solid merit, and less on the super sex-ational. (Even when they pan it, they sell it. — H.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Number Of Family Fights Is The Important Question

DEAR HELEN:

I had a few beers after work, and one thing led to another so I came home at 6 a.m., smashed. My wife said some mean things and my temper isn't the coolest. I grabbed her by the hair and yelled "Shut up!" and she said she was leaving, so I said "Make it right now!" and she did.

She and the baby are staying with her sister, and she won't even talk to me on the phone.

How can I tell her it will never happen again when I can't get her to speak to me? — NEVER AGAIN

DEAR N.A.:

You left out one important detail: Was this your first big fight — or your last? If your wife has heard the old "It will never happen again" routine once too often, I can't help you. But if you goofed up only once, then a dozen roses and a contrite note might soften her. By this time she may have remembered all those mean things she said. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Will our smut-pollution never end? I mean the filth we see in print, and on films and in the theater? Our children even get advertisements for lewd books and articles through the mail. I turned them over to the Postal Department, but these advertisers are smart — they just stay within the law.

I personally wouldn't go to see a so-called adult movie, or one of those terribly well-promoted plays which do all for "art." Nor would I read a book just because it was banned somewhere, or reviewers make it a best-seller by calling it dirty.

But I'm afraid I'm in the minority. So long as people won't be their own censors, I think we should have tougher censorship laws. — HOMEMAKER

DEAR HOMEMAKER:

Censorship doesn't cure smut any more than pancake makeup cures a pimple. So long as the curious enjoy being shocked, the shockers will get rich — and the more we howl about certain "dirty" books, movies, plays, etc. the more money they will make.

There's only one way to fight hard core pornography — by general revulsion. When people become fed up, they'll turn back to worthwhile art and literature, just as they have done all through history. That time might arrive sooner if critics would concentrate more on solid merit, and less on the super sex-ational. (Even when they pan it, they sell it. — H.

Not if you live in Lebanon, Ore., and it's the climax of the 60th annual strawberry festival.

Any housewife can make the cake. All she needs is 350 pounds of flour, 27 pounds of baking powder, 325 pounds of sugar, 225 pounds of liquid milk, 125 pounds of shortening, 4 quarts of flavoring, 196 pounds of fresh eggs, 3 pounds of salt, 300 gallons of soft ice cream and 3,000 pounds of strawberries.

As Chef Claude Durlam told UPI: "You start by creaming 514 cups of sugar and 224 cups of shortening. Add 192 cups of eggs. Sift together 992 cups of flour, 976 teaspoons of salt and 2,048 teaspoons of baking powder.

"Add alternately to the first mixture with 448 cups of milk into which you have poured 18 cups of vanilla. When properly blended, pour into sheet cake pans and bake at 375 degrees until your brown straw comes out clean."

To serve, rent about four acres of city park, put up plenty of tables, put out the welcome sign, and you've got a party for 14,000 guests.

That's how many people were expected to show up in this small community about 60 miles south of Portland to celebrate the grand climax of the annual strawberry festival.

Thet own of about 8,000 residents, where the slogan is "where industry and agriculture meet, holds a grand parade, in which the world's largest strawberry shortcake is the centerpiece.

A special knife, made from a saw blade, will be used for the ceremonial cutting of the first piece.

Bright Ideas For Father On His Day

TOILETRIES:

The distaff side does not need advice on buying scents and toiletries. It is sufficient to point out they are now at new peaks of popularity with men. Myriad types of shaving preparations, soaps, colognes, deodorants, hair dressings, skin lotions for either dry or oily skin, suntan aids and body fresheners will be among the most appreciated Father's Day presents.

It isn't essential to give him his "usual" brand or scent as most men now like to vary their brands and scents. Attractively packaged single items and multiple assortments are on the market.

BOUTIQUE ITEMS:

Boutique items, found on a special counter of his men's shop, are the answer to gifting a Dad who "has everything" or who prefers to select his own clothes.

These smart gifts include items that are useful, ornamental or both. They range from smoking accessories to model cars and ships, from electrically operated gadgets to clothes brushes, and from bar accessories to nautical novelties and shoe horns.

Mr. And Mrs. Larkin To Note Anniversary

The Allan Larkins of Kentfield will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Wednesday. Their children will honor them June 15 at a party at the Laurel Lodge in San Francisco.

Married at Old St. Mary's Church in San Francisco, the couple lived in San Francisco until 1945, when they moved to San Rafael. It was a return to Marin County for both.

Mrs. Larkins, the former Alberta Brizzolara, is a native of San Anselmo. She attended San Anselmo Grammar School, where her father, A. L. Brizzolara, was a trustee. She is a graduate of San Domenico Upper School. The Brizzolaras originally came to Marin for a summer just before the turn of the century. When summer was over they decided to stay instead of going back to San Francisco.

Mr. Larkins was born in San Francisco but spent most of his childhood in San Anselmo. He attended grammar school with the older Brizzolara children and was always hanging around the house, according to his wife of 50 years. Mr. Larkins was graduated from San Rafael High School.

The couple were married following Mr. Larkins release from the Army after World War I and after "Alberta grew up a little bit."

"San Anselmo's grown, but it's the same old town," says the native, whose only advice to young couples is, "Use your head instead of your mouth."

The Larkin's five children, who will host the party, are Allan Larkins Jr. of San Rafael, Mrs. Maurey Stocks (Alberta) of San Rafael, twins Kenneth and William Larkins of Kentfield and Mrs. Robert Kunst (Marian) of San Rafael.

They have 17 grandchildren and one and 'three-fourths' great grand children.

Members of the wedding party who are planning to attend the celebration are Mrs. Larkin's sister, Mmes. Walter Seberg and Clyde Burch, both of San Francisco, who with Mrs. Helen Walsh of San Rafael were bridesmaids, and Mrs. Jack Werner of Redwood City, who was a flower girl at the wedding.

Millions Of Berries Top Huge Shortcake

By ANNE BARDWELL

Yachting, known as a gentleman's sport on the East Coast, became a free-swinging affair reflecting the rowdy environment of California's gold rush days, when it was transplanted to San Francisco.

And, despite its respectable reputation today, the San Francisco Yacht Club, the oldest such organization on the West Coast and second oldest in the nation, was as boisterous as the community in which it was born.

Organized yachting and the San Francisco Yacht Club both appeared on the bay in August, 1869, when a small group of yachtsmen built a clubhouse on Long Bridge in San Francisco's Mission Bay and sponsored the bay's first regatta and first cruise — this to Napa Creek.

The club enjoyed great popularity its first year with many yachtsmen purchasing life memberships for a mere $50, the monthly dues today. However, internal disorganization, disrupted activities until the membership formally incorporated in 1873.

By 1877, development pressures on Mission Bay forced the club to seek a new anchorage, precipitating the first several quarrels which eventually forced the dissidents to establish, over a period of years, the Pacific Yacht Club and the St. Francis Yacht Club.

This particular quarrel concerned whether Old Town or the central Sausalito waterfront would be the best location for the club's new anchorage. Younger members won out and built a modest new clubhouse on Bridgeway near Princess Street while the dissidents broke away, organized the Pacific Yacht Club and moved into Shelter Bay.

Fire destroyed the original clubhouse in 1897 but members soon built a new one, far grander in style and it is this building which still stands on the waterfront housing the Ondine and Trident restaurants.

Owners of small yachts believing themselves slighted by club in preference to the larger yachts, finally broke away and founded Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Congestion and traffic of early day Sausalito tourists and commuters forced the club to look around for another anchorage in 1926 precipitating the third and final rift within the membership.

Once again some members wanted to remain in Marin County while others believed the club should return to the city of its birth. The argument was finally settled when the dissidents moved to San Francisco Marina district and founded the St. Francis Yacht Club while those who stuck with Marin moved to Belvedere Island.

The club rented the Pacific Motor Boat Club facilities for seven years until its own clubhouse was completed in 1934. It is this building on Belvedere Cove, enlarged and remodeled several times, which forms the core of the large rambling white stucco building which now stands on the Belvedere shore.

MUSIC REVIEW

College-Community Band Again Winner

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin music lovers who regularly attend College of Marin concerts can count on interesting programming in presentations directed by music department head John H. Myers.

Saturday night's spring concert in the Fine Arts Theater of the college's community band made up of students and community musicians ran true to form in this respect. Yes, marches there were, a type of composition peculiarly suited to band. Four of them included the usual one by Sousa in accordance with Myers's continuing project of performing all the marches of that composer still available.

His "Solid Men to the Front," the 26th performed to date, was a less familiar one, which made a good opening for the evening.

The others were "Centennial" march by the American composer Howard Hanson; "The Vanished Army" march by the British Sousa, Kenneth J. Alford, dedicated to World War I casualties; and "Washington Grays," played as an encore.

Substitution of the Hanson work for a toccata for percussion instruments by Mexico's leading composer Carlos Chavez, which was to have been played by six percussionists, was something of a disappointment to me, since it promised to be an interesting new experience.

Giving the program its unusual character were an English masters suite consisting of arrangements by Philip Gordon of works by leading English composers living between 1582 and 1727: a "Military Symphony in F" by the Belgian composer Francois Gossec and "La Boutique Fantasque," an enchanting combination of the melodic gifts of Rossini and Respighi, in which some of Rossini's original music transformed into ballet music by Resphighi was arranged for band by Dan Godfrey.

I was particularly impressed with the rich toned brass in the English masters suite and with the woodwinds in the slow parts of "La Boutique," a nocturne, valse lent and andantino.

Not so unusual but containing the most thrilling sonority of the evening was "The Flying Dutchman" overture by Wagner with its dramatic turbulence and soaring melodies.

A "Ballad for Band" by the contemporary American composer Morton Gould was interesting for its passages of long sustained tone, achieved with varying degrees of success by individual instruments.

Cancer Fells Actor Robert Taylor At 57

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robert Taylor, leading man to many of the most glamorous stars in films during a career which spanned 35 years, is dead of cancer at 57.

During his career he was also billed with such names as Jean Harlow, Ava Gardner, Elizabeth Taylor, Myrna Loy, Joan Crawford, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner, Katharine Hepburn and Greer Garson—usually in sentimental films designed to appeal to women.

He was married to another star, Barbara Stanwyck, for 11 years.

In his biggest years, around 1940 to 1950, Taylor was one of the screen's highest paid actors. But he said he never planned it that way.

"I went into acting because it was the only job offered to me at the time," he said once. "It's not my sole interest in life, being an actor, but it's the only one that made me any money."

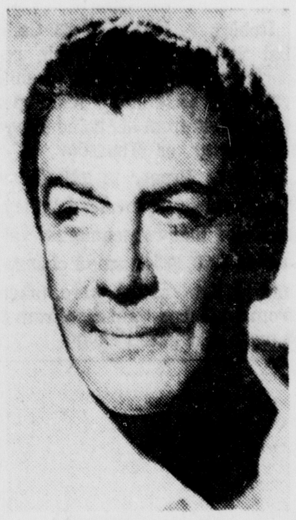
He threw himself vigorously into his other interests: flying, hunting, fishing and ranching.

Before he died of lung cancer yesterday, Taylor had been in and out of the hospital seven times in nine months. He spent the rest of the time at his 113-acre suburban ranch, where he raised quarter horses and chickens.

A spokesman said Taylor knew his disease, discovered late last year, was terminal. The 170-pound 6-footer quit smoking cigarettes in October before most of a lung was removed because of what was then described as a fungus infection called valley fever. he had been a three-pack-a-day man who said he "smoked since I was a kid."

Taylor was under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio from 1934 to 1958—a Hollywood record for a star—graduating from pretty-boy roles as his face creased and his wavy dark hair thinned.

From 1959 to 1962 he played a tough cop on the television series "The Detective." Since 1966 he had appeared on the "Death Valley Days" show.



ROBERT TAYLOR
Means to an end

Taylor was born Aug. 6, 1911, in Filley, Neb., the son of a grain dealer who later became a doctor. He enjoyed recalling his youth there and in Beatrice, Neb., where theater marquees announced his first movies with his real name: "Starring Spangler Arlington Brugh."

At Pomona College near Los Angeles, Taylor joined the drama club and a year after graduation signed an MGM contract for $35 a week.

Holder of a civilian pilot's license, he was a Navy flying instructor and directed training films during World War II.

His marriage to Miss Stanwyck ended in 1951, when she divorced him, charging mental cruelty. They had no children.

Three years later Taylor married a German actress, Ursula Thiess, who was with him at St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica when he died. They had a son, Terence, in 1955, and a daughter, Tessa, in 1959.

Five Hub Boys In Fight Cited To Probation Dept.

Five San Anselmo youths who were involved in two fights because of a "long hair" altercation last Tuesday were cited to the Marin County Probation Department, police said today.

Cited Saturday were four boys — two 13, one 14 and one 12 years old — on suspicion of disorderly conduct after they teased John Andrew Fatooh, 14, last Tuesday. In an ensuing fight between John and one of the boys, Fatooh was taken to the hospital where his spleen was removed.

Also cited Saturday was a 15-year-old for investigation of battery after he reportedly struck one of the four boys — the 13-year-old — on Thursday at a Little League game in retaliation for the attack on Fatooh, police reported. The 15-year-old is currently on probation.

The initial fight took place after the four boys teased Fatooh about his long hair, police said.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said the four youths were cited to allay any feelings by other persons of the necessity to retaliate for the injuries the Fatooh boy received.

He said the four boys plan to do yard work at the Fatooh home during the summer, work which John would normally have been able to do.

MUSIC REVIEW

College-Community Band Again Winner

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin music lovers who regularly attend College of Marin concerts can count on interesting programming in presentations directed by music department head John H. Myers.

Saturday night's spring concert in the Fine Arts Theater of the college's community band made up of students and community musicians ran true to form in this respect. Yes, marches there were, a type of composition peculiarly suited to band. Four of them included the usual one by Sousa in accordance with Myers's continuing project of performing all the marches of that composer still available.

His "Solid Men to the Front," the 26th performed to date, was a less familiar one, which made a good opening for the evening.

The others were "Centennial" march by the American composer Howard Hanson; "The Vanished Army" march by the British Sousa, Kenneth J. Alford, dedicated to World War I casualties; and "Washington Grays," played as an encore.

Substitution of the Hanson work for a toccata for percussion instruments by Mexico's leading composer Carlos Chavez, which was to have been played by six percussionists, was something of a disappointment to me, since it promised to be an interesting new experience.

Giving the program its unusual character were an English masters suite consisting of arrangements by Philip Gordon of works by leading English composers living between 1582 and 1727: a "Military Symphony in F" by the Belgian composer Francois Gossec and "La Boutique Fantasque," an enchanting combination of the melodic gifts of Rossini and Respighi, in which some of Rossini's original music transformed into ballet music by Resphighi was arranged for band by Dan Godfrey.

I was particularly impressed with the rich toned brass in the English masters suite and with the woodwinds in the slow parts of "La Boutique," a nocturne, valse lent and andantino.

Not so unusual but containing the most thrilling sonority of the evening was "The Flying Dutchman" overture by Wagner with its dramatic turbulence and soaring melodies.

A "Ballad for Band" by the contemporary American composer Morton Gould was interesting for its passages of long sustained tone, achieved with varying degrees of success by individual instruments.

The band of some 55 players achieved a completely satisfying, full bodied sound.

By ANNE BARDWELL

Yachting, known as a gentleman's sport on the East Coast, became a free-swinging affair reflecting the rowdy environment of California's gold rush days, when it was transplanted to San Francisco.

And, despite its respectable reputation today, the San Francisco Yacht Club, the oldest such organization on the West Coast and second oldest in the nation, was as boisterous as the community in which it was born.

Organized yachting and the San Francisco Yacht Club both appeared on the bay in August, 1869, when a small group of yachtsmen built a clubhouse on Long Bridge in San Francisco's Mission Bay and sponsored the bay's first regatta and first cruise — this to Napa Creek.

The club enjoyed great popularity its first year with many yachtsmen purchasing life memberships for a mere $50, the monthly dues today. However, internal disorganization, disrupted activities until the membership formally incorporated in 1873.

By 1877, development pressures on Mission Bay forced the club to seek a new anchorage, precipitating the first several quarrels which eventually forced the dissidents to establish, over a period of years, the Pacific Yacht Club and the St. Francis Yacht Club.

This particular quarrel concerned whether Old Town or the central Sausalito waterfront would be the best location for the club's new anchorage. Younger members won out and built a modest new clubhouse on Bridgeway near Princess Street while the dissidents broke away, organized the Pacific Yacht Club and moved into Shelter Bay.

Fire destroyed the original clubhouse in 1897 but members soon built a new one, far grander in style and it is this building which still stands on the waterfront housing the Ondine and Trident restaurants.

Owners of small yachts believing themselves slighted by club in preference to the larger yachts, finally broke away and founded Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Congestion and traffic of early day Sausalito tourists and commuters forced the club to look around for another anchorage in 1926 precipitating the third and final rift within the membership.

Once again some members wanted to remain in Marin County while others believed the club should return to the city of its birth. The argument was finally settled when the dissidents moved to San Francisco Marina district and founded the St. Francis Yacht Club while those who stuck with Marin moved to Belvedere Island.

The club rented the Pacific Motor Boat Club facilities for seven years until its own clubhouse was completed in 1934. It is this building on Belvedere Cove, enlarged and remodeled several times, which forms the core of the large rambling white stucco building which now stands on the Belvedere shore.

Electrical Failure Is Crash Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Transportation Safety Board says there was an electrical failure on a United Air Lines Boeing 727 just before it plunged into the Pacific Ocean last Jan. 18, shortly after takeoff from Los Angeles International Airport.

The board reported yesterday evening the power supplied by three generators failed. A preliminary report indicated one of the three generators was inoperative three days before the accident and that the plane had been flown 41 hours with only two functioning generators.

Loss of electricity means hydraulic and other flight controls, instrument panels and cockpit lighting would no longer function. A cockpit blackout at night would have left the crew unable to make required corrections to keep the plane flying.

Normally, cockpit conversations are monitored on two tape recorders, but the power loss in flight rendered them inoperable for all but nine seconds during the critical moments after a fire warning was reported to ground controllers and the plane slashed into the ocean.

During those nine seconds, the board's report said, the cockpit conversation "was urgent in nature and concerned maintaining control of the aircraft."

The board said there was no evidence of overheating on the exterior or interior of one engine where a fire was indicated. There also was no explanation for the power loss.

Budget Is Due Tentative Nod

The San Rafael Board of Education is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district office to adopt tentative 1969-70 budgets of $4,601,142 in the elementary district and $4,742,671 in the high school district.

Supt. John F. Plank declined when the budgets were introduced at the last meeting to project tax rates based upon the spending programs.

In other business tonight, the board is scheduled to adopt salary schedules and a fringe benefit plan for employees and consider student transportation changes.

Homeowners Set Protest Session

Representatives of the Peacock Gap, Glenwood and Bayside Acres homeowners' groups have summoned a meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Peacock Gap Country Club to protest cutbacks they say the county is planning in the South San Pedro Road widening project.

Funds for the project will be considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors when it takes it up the public works portion of the county budget Wednesday.

Rifles Among Stolen Items

Rifles, cameras and stereophonic equipment were taken in three burglaries reported Friday, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Alfred H Payne of 911 Greenhill Road, Homestead Valley, reported that four rifles and a revolver, value not listed, were taken Friday.

Robert T. Evans of 33 Calle Del Sierra, Stinson Beach, reported that a stereophonic unit, valued at $350, and a telescope, were taken from his home either Wednesday or Thursday.

Nita L. Prager of 222 Cleveland Avenue, Homestead Valley, reported that two cameras, valued at $390, $35 in small change, and a light meter were taken from her home sometime from 8 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Friday.

Planners To View Units

The San Rafael Planning Commission is expected to make a recommendation at its meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. on whether zoning permitting 40 units on a parcel at 237 Picnic Avenue should be altered.

The city council, confronted by a petition from 80 persons requesting a lower density at the site, last week put a freeze on development there until a zoning ruling is made. Picnic Hill Properties sought to build the units.

The commission also is to consider a request for a use permit for an 87-unit development at 127-197 Professional Center Parkway and architectural designs for a 22-unit apartment at 1428 Mission Road and a chicken restaurant at 561 Second Street.

Fairfax Festival Plans Expansion

The Fairfax Festival Committee proposes to add three new areas to its Sept. 20-21 festival — a children's art show, a teen-age art show conducted by teen-agers and participation by civic groups.

Also, reported secretary Jane Beighley, the festival may include a new car show.

Any $7,400 car is tight—new.

The sinewy Mercedes-Benz 280SE is built to be rattle-free even after 50,000 miles.

Lift the hood, and you'll see why.

One of the sweet pleasures of driving any brand-new car is that firm, buttoned-up feeling it has when it thumps across the inevitable potholes and corrugated railroad tracks.

Especially if the car you traded-in had taken to moaning and groaning over such indignities.

Mercedes-Benz engineers like the nice, tight, "new-car feel" so much they think it ought to last longer than new-car smell, new-car payments, and even a new-car warranty. In fact, they see no reason why you should not go right on enjoying it year after year after year.

And, since Mercedes-Benz engineers stubbornly refuse to waste time on annual face-lifts or superfluous gimmickry, they have ample opportunity to make such dreams come true.

The 280SE is rated the safest, most roadworthy car in the "luxury" field. A sound investment, too.

Born to last

Result: every Mercedes-Benz 280SE begins life in a shower of sparks. Its chassis and body are not bolted into being, like those of a conventional sedan, but solidified by thousands of welds into a single, rigid unit.

Flip up the hood or peer into the wheel wells behind the tires, and examine the frame. You can actually see the telltale pockmarks of the welds.

And you'll "feel" the difference they make from the first tar strip you hit. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 280SE will ever rattle.

When welding stops, hands in soft gloves caress the exterior of the body to detect bumps and burrs. They are smoothed away. Vital seams are soldered and buffed to oblivion.

Then the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

Next, it is baked, spray-painted, hand-sanded, sprayed again, then hand-sprayed. Even the insides of the hubcaps are coated. Total primer and paint anti-corrosion protection: over 44 pounds.

Unrelenting power

Bearings are delicately machined to within 4/10,000ths of an inch, and pistons and connecting rods are painstakingly matched and balanced. Yet this power plant is about as fragile as a bull. It's built to cruise above 100 mph on Germany's wide-open autobahns for hours on end (and often does).

Heroic handling

The legendary stamina of a Mercedes-Benz is a virtue you can appreciate only with the passing of time. But you needn't wait a moment to savor this car's true genius: its quick reflexes and heroic handling ability.

The 280SE bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans in the so-called "fine car" field.

Scrapping the solid "beam" rear-axle system of domestic sedans, it uses an articulated axle, so that each rear wheel can move up and down independently of the other, just as the front wheels do.

This endows the car with the agility of a scrambling quarterback. You can blast it over rutted gravel lanes; it behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road—and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering, either. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you are blessed with the "feel" of the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Taut, sensitive steering is retained even with Mercedes-Benz power steering—characterized by Car and Driver as "unquestionably the most precise unit of its kind ever developed."

Awesome brakes

Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the awesome stopping power of really good brakes.

Disc brakes.

Mercedes-Benz engineers insist on them. Nor do they stint by putting disc brakes only at the front wheels, and settling for conventional drum brakes on the rear. They attach a massive, caliper-type disc brake to every wheel of every Mercedes-Benz.

Someday, doubtless, 4-wheel disc brakes will be offered on a domestic "luxury" car.

The pinnacle of safety

The responsiveness which makes the 280SE such a pleasure to drive is its best defense against blundering motorists. However, if the worst happens, the car is designed to shield you. Naturally, it meets all the U.S. safety regulations. But a Mercedes-Benz has additional safety features.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay shut on impact. The front and rear of the car are engineered to crumple in a crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's cars, the Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Showroom experiments

The 280SE is as habitable as it is durable, roadworthy, and safe.

Slip behind the wheel, and flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you. It should: it was contoured with help from orthopedic physicians. The springs inside are actually tuned to the car's suspension movements—to cancel thousands of tiny, tiring tremors every mile.

Check the rear shelf. Carpeted. Feel the underside of the dash. No spaghetti tangle of wires—it's fully finished off. Finger the wood trim. Real walnut, not plastic.

Many cars are designed to win admiration for their owners. Mercedes-Benz cars are designed to win admiration from their owners.

280SE vs. 280S vs. 280SEL

The 280SE sells for about $7,400 complete with automatic shift, power steering, vinyl upholstery, white walls, and AM/FM radio.

If you can live without the 15% power-boost from that "E"—for Einspritzmotor, or fuel-injection engine—you can make a tidy savings by ordering the standard 280S.

You can also order a 280SEL—the 280SE with a wheelbase four inches longer. (Four inches invested in legroom for the rear compartment, not squandered in useless overhang.)

College-Community Band Again Winner

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin music lovers who regularly attend College of Marin concerts can count on interesting programming in presentations directed by music department head John H. Myers.

Saturday night's spring concert in the Fine Arts Theater of the college's community band made up of students and community musicians ran true to form in this respect. Yes, marches there were, a type of composition peculiarly suited to band. Four of them included the usual one by Sousa in accordance with Myers's continuing project of performing all the marches of that composer still available.

His "Solid Men to the Front," the 26th performed to date, was a less familiar one, which made a good opening for the evening.

The others were "Centennial" march by the American composer Howard Hanson; "The Vanished Army" march by the British Sousa, Kenneth J. Alford, dedicated to World War I casualties; and "Washington Grays," played as an encore.

Substitution of the Hanson work for a toccata for percussion instruments by Mexico's leading composer Carlos Chavez, which was to have been played by six percussionists, was something of a disappointment to me, since it promised to be an interesting new experience.

Giving the program its unusual character were an English masters suite consisting of arrangements by Philip Gordon of works by leading English composers living between 1582 and 1727: a "Military Symphony in F" by the Belgian composer Francois Gossec and "La Boutique Fantasque," an enchanting combination of the melodic gifts of Rossini and Respighi, in which some of Rossini's original music transformed into ballet music by Resphighi was arranged for band by Dan Godfrey.

I was particularly impressed with the rich toned brass in the English masters suite and with the woodwinds in the slow parts of "La Boutique," a nocturne, valse lent and andantino.

Not so unusual but containing the most thrilling sonority of the evening was "The Flying Dutchman" overture by Wagner with its dramatic turbulence and soaring melodies.

A "Ballad for Band" by the contemporary American composer Morton Gould was interesting for its passages of long sustained tone, achieved with varying degrees of success by individual instruments.

The band of some 55 players achieved a completely satisfying, full bodied sound.

Cancer Fells Actor Robert Taylor At 57

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robert Taylor, leading man to many of the most glamorous stars in films during a career which spanned 35 years, is dead of cancer at 57.

During his career he was also billed with such names as Jean Harlow, Ava Gardner, Elizabeth Taylor, Myrna Loy, Joan Crawford, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner, Katharine Hepburn and Greer Garson—usually in sentimental films designed to appeal to women.

He was married to another star, Barbara Stanwyck, for 11 years.

In his biggest years, around 1940 to 1950, Taylor was one of the screen's highest paid actors. But he said he never planned it that way.

"I went into acting because it was the only job offered to me at the time," he said once. "It's not my sole interest in life, being an actor, but it's the only one that made me any money."

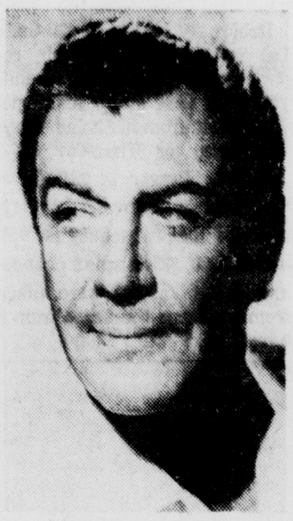
He threw himself vigorously into his other interests: flying, hunting, fishing and ranching.

Before he died of lung cancer yesterday, Taylor had been in and out of the hospital seven times in nine months. He spent the rest of the time at his 113-acre suburban ranch, where he raised quarter horses and chickens.

A spokesman said Taylor knew his disease, discovered late last year, was terminal. The 170-pound 6-footer quit smoking cigarettes in October before most of a lung was removed because of what was then described as a fungus infection called valley fever. he had been a three-pack-a-day man who said he "smoked since I was a kid."

Taylor was under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio from 1934 to 1958—a Hollywood record for a star—graduating from pretty-boy roles as his face creased and his wavy dark hair thinned.

From 1959 to 1962 he played a tough cop on the television series "The Detective." Since 1966 he had appeared on the "Death Valley Days" show.



ROBERT TAYLOR
Means to an end

Taylor was born Aug. 6, 1911, in Filley, Neb., the son of a grain dealer who later became a doctor. He enjoyed recalling his youth there and in Beatrice, Neb., where theater marquees announced his first movies with his real name: "Starring Spangler Arlington Brugh."

At Pomona College near Los Angeles, Taylor joined the drama club and a year after graduation signed an MGM contract for $35 a week.

Holder of a civilian pilot's license, he was a Navy flying instructor and directed training films during World War II.

His marriage to Miss Stanwyck ended in 1951, when she divorced him, charging mental cruelty. They had no children.

Three years later Taylor married a German actress, Ursula Thiess, who was with him at St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica when he died. They had a son, Terence, in 1955, and a daughter, Tessa, in 1959.

Five Hub Boys In Fight Cited To Probation Dept.

Five San Anselmo youths who were involved in two fights because of a "long hair" altercation last Tuesday were cited to the Marin County Probation Department, police said today.

Cited Saturday were four boys — two 13, one 14 and one 12 years old — on suspicion of disorderly conduct after they teased John Andrew Fatooh, 14, last Tuesday. In an ensuing fight between John and one of the boys, Fatooh was taken to the hospital where his spleen was removed.

Also cited Saturday was a 15-year-old for investigation of battery after he reportedly struck one of the four boys — the 13-year-old — on Thursday at a Little League game in retaliation for the attack on Fatooh, police reported. The 15-year-old is currently on probation.

The initial fight took place after the four boys teased Fatooh about his long hair, police said.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said the four youths were cited to allay any feelings by other persons of the necessity to retaliate for the injuries the Fatooh boy received.

He said the four boys plan to do yard work at the Fatooh home during the summer, work which John would normally have been able to do.

MARIN REACTION

Bay Police Force Is Proposed

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A proposal for a "regional police force" in the nine-county, 91-city Bay Area has drawn mixed reactions from Marin County law enforcement officials, ranging from unqualified support to decided coolness.

Chief Robert J. DiGrazia of Novato wholeheartedly supports the regional plan put before the Association of Bay Area Governments last week because he feels it would save money and upgrade the quality of law enforcement.

Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo, however, was cool to the plan. While not outrightly rejecting it, he said he was concerned that it would hurt small police forces like his.

Chiefs of other small Marin County departments agreed with him. One, who asked not to be identified, said, "It looks like we're moving more and more toward a police state."

The proposal, according ot Robert Mullen, coordinator of the new ABAG Criminal Justice Advisory Board, calls for each of the police jurisdictions in the cities and counties involved to maintain its own separate police force.

Lawmen from each of the forces, however, would be selected for special training, equipment and perhaps, even their own special regional police uniforms. This special force could be deployed to any part of the region for any sort of disturbance or special crime problem, Mullen said.

Also envisioned in the proposal, which will be studied under a $75,000 grant from the federal Safe Streets Act passed last year, are regional facilities in a variety of law enforcement areas.

Possible regional activities would include a police academy crime laboratory, communications network, data center, intelligence activities, joint helicopter patrols and consolidation of local jails and work farms into larger, and presumably more efficient, detention facilities.

The regional force also would provide for coordinating various probation departments, narcotics prevention and rehabilitation programs, community relations activities and other areas.

In addition to the initial federal grant, ABAG is eligible for another $113,000 in federal funds. Millions of dollars in other federal funds are also available on a matching 90-10 per cent basis to local agencies to develop new programs.

DiGrazia, whose department is considered by other law enforcement officials to be one of the most progressive in Marin County, said a regional force would be a boon to small departments which now cannot spend the time or money to recruit and train good officers.

Coordination of files, records, purchasing and the like also would save funds and free police officers from "nonservice" requirements and free them from clerical work, he said.

Buchignani reserved final judgment until further study, but asked, "While these men were being trained for this special unit, how would the smaller districts — and even the larger ones — properly police their areas?"

He also asked whether local chiefs — who know the needs of their own communities — would retain control over their own men. "What they're striving for more than anything else is to have a number of policemen ready for disorders," he said. "What I'd like to know is who would administer this force of men. I would have to have some control over my own men, how many to send."

While he said he favored a crime lab, he questioned who would determine its location. "It wouldn't do us any good if it were located in East Bay," he said.

DiGrazia said, however, that he felt several crime labs would be created with one serving, for instance, Marin, Sonoma and Napa counties.

Mill Valley's chief, Dan Terzich, also felt a regional police force would put a burden on smaller departments. "How much control would the local departments have over the citizens in their own jurisdictions?" he asked.

Chief Charles J. Chiesa of San Rafael, which has the largest force in the county, also felt the demand for police personnel in Bay Area jurisdictions outside of Marin would put extra pressure on his force.

"The larger the department is, the easier it is to send help," he said of the present mutual assistance agreement among counties and cities. "But when you get down to our size, it tends to weaken your strength here (locally). That might be a problem with a regional force."

Chiesa did, however, feel recruiting would be substantially upgraded by a regional police force. This would especially help smaller forces, he said, because of better methods, more time, and a higher regional pay scale.

Frank L. Nelson, chief of Corte Madera's department until succeeded by David L. McIntosh on July 1, said of the regional plan, "It's the coming thing and it's going to happen."

He said he favored the idea but added that he would still "rely on the National Guard" to handle problems like the recent Berkeley People's Park demonstrations.

Other police chiefs in the county either reserved judgment until they had studied the proposal or could not be reached. Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos could not be reached.

Bolinas Under Attack On Lagoon Policies

Nature Conservancy, the organization which played a major role in the purchase of Kent Island in Bolinas Lagoon for Marin County, today charged the Bolinas Harbor District with trying to thwart turning the entire lagoon over to county administration.

Nature conservancy spokesman Huey Johnson said John Gilchrist, lobbyist for the California Marine Parks and Harbors Association, was working with Bolinas district officials to prevent passage of the bill introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley R-San Rafael, to give the county jurisdiction over the 1,200-acre lagoon area.

Johnson noted the voters' call for dissolution of the district earlier this year and support for Bagley's bill from the Sierra Club, the Marin conservation League, Conservation Associates, the Planning and Conservation League and Audubon Canyon Ranch.

Their support, Johnson said, refuted Harbor District officials claims that district policies, which include a harbor of refuge and development in the lagoon, are needed to preserve the lagoon.

Hub Schools Pay On Agenda

Salaries for teachers and classified employees for 1969-70 in the San Anselmo School District will be discussed by the school board at its 7 p.m. meeting today in Red Hill School.

Trustees will hear a proposal from Donald A. Shaw Red Hill School principal, to make French an elective for seventh and eighth graders this fall instead of being required as it is now for sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

Flame-Proofing Averts Big Cotati Church Fire

An attempt apparently was made to set fire to St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Cotati Friday but flame-proofing of curtains and rugs averted what could have been "a tremendous fire," Cotati fire chief Ralph McGinnis said today.

Damage to the church was minor and no dollar value has yet been estimated, the chief said.

McGinnis said the apparent arson attempt was made shortly before Rev. Hugh Donohue arrived at the church to prepare for the 7 a.m. mass Friday. When Donohue arrived, the church was filled with smoke.

McGinnis said a fire-proofed drapery behind the altar had been scorched from the floor up to the five-foot level and the cloth cover of the tabernacle had been used for ignition. There also was a hole burned in the carpet and candles had been melted and strewn over the pews, he said.

An empty wine bottle and several cigarette butts were found in the church.

Teen Drug Party Hit By Police

A teen-age marijuana party was broken up about noon Saturday after neighbors complained to Novato police.

Although several teen-agers fled through the rear door and escaped from the residence at 1105 Mirabella, police apprehended four of them, they reported.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was used and possession of narcotics paraphernalia was Dale E. Kush, 18, of 1203 Chase Street, Novato. He is out on $325 bail. He is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Two 17-year-old youths were cited to juvenile authorities and booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of the possession of marijuana for sale and being in a place where narcotics was used. On one youth, police reported finding $261.

A 15-year-old boy was cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of possessing a substance thought to be LSD and being in a place narcotics were used. He was released to the custody of his parents.

Tools Are Stolen

Walter Rhea of Menlo Park reported to Corte Madera police that between 1 p.m., Saturday and 8:25 p.mm, Sunday, someone removed a padlock from a building he is renting on Paradise Drive and stole $165 in power tools, police reported today. Police were not given the exact number of the building.

Talks Are Resumed In Ferryboat Halt

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A strike which had idled ferries, water taxis and sightseeing boats out of Tiburon entered its sixth day today as formal negotiations were resumed.

A spokesman for the striking Marine Engineers Beneficial Association expressed optimism that something would come out of today's meeting but Lester Bedient, general manager of Harbor Tours Inc., one of the struck firms, was pessimistic.

Bedient's firm operates ferries from Tiburon to Angel Island and also ferries about 200 daily commuters to San Francisco daily.

Bedient said today's talks were concerned chiefly with contracts of towing companies that are negotiating with the union. Settlement of the strike against Harbor Tours, which also operates excursion boats throughout th Bay, probably would not come until after the tugboat companies settle, he said.

That could take another week, Bedient said, since union members are still working at some tugboat companies under a contract extension through June 15.

Sixteen captains of Harbor Tours are on strike. Bedient said he felt their contract would be included in any overall contract settlement reached by the union and other boat companies.

Sonic Booms Are Possible

Sonic booms may be heard in Marin County and Southern Sonoma county early Thursday morning as the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base takes part in an exercise of the Western North American Air Defense Region's defenses.

Planes from the Strategic Air Command will make a simulated attack on the Western United States and Canada, including the Bay Area.

Planes from the Fourth Air Force, which includes the 78th Fighter Wingn will rise to meet the attack, possibly causing sonic booms. More than 20,000 men and women in the United States Air Force, Army and Navy, and Canadian Armed Force will take part in the exercise which will include the area from Britsh Columbia to Southern California.

Vandals hit two public buildings in Marin City yesterday, sheriff's deputies reported.

At 5 a.m., deputies found windows at Manzanita School had been broken out with rocks and sticks.

Electrical Failure Is Crash Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Transportation Safety Board says there was an electrical failure on a United Air Lines Boeing 727 just before it plunged into the Pacific Ocean last Jan. 18, shortly after takeoff from Los Angeles International Airport.

The board reported yesterday evening the power supplied by three generators failed. A preliminary report indicated one of the three generators was inoperative three days before the accident and that the plane had been flown 41 hours with only two functioning generators.

Loss of electricity means hydraulic and other flight controls, instrument panels and cockpit lighting would no longer function. A cockpit blackout at night would have left the crew unable to make required corrections to keep the plane flying.

Normally, cockpit conversations are monitored on two tape recorders, but the power loss in flight rendered them inoperable for all but nine seconds during the critical moments after a fire warning was reported to ground controllers and the plane slashed into the ocean.

During those nine seconds, the board's report said, the cockpit conversation "was urgent in nature and concerned maintaining control of the aircraft."

The board said there was no evidence of overheating on the exterior or interior of one engine where a fire was indicated. There also was no explanation for the power loss.

Budget Is Due Tentative Nod

The San Rafael Board of Education is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district office to adopt tentative 1969-70 budgets of $4,601,142 in the elementary district and $4,742,671 in the high school district.

Supt. John F. Plank declined when the budgets were introduced at the last meeting to project tax rates based upon the spending programs.

In other business tonight, the board is scheduled to adopt salary schedules and a fringe benefit plan for employees and consider student transportation changes.

Homeowners Set Protest Session

Representatives of the Peacock Gap, Glenwood and Bayside Acres homeowners' groups have summoned a meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Peacock Gap Country Club to protest cutbacks they say the county is planning in the South San Pedro Road widening project.

Funds for the project will be considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors when it takes it up the public works portion of the county budget Wednesday.

Rifles Among Stolen Items

Rifles, cameras and stereophonic equipment were taken in three burglaries reported Friday, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Alfred H Payne of 911 Greenhill Road, Homestead Valley, reported that four rifles and a revolver, value not listed, were taken Friday.

Robert T. Evans of 33 Calle Del Sierra, Stinson Beach, reported that a stereophonic unit, valued at $350, and a telescope, were taken from his home either Wednesday or Thursday.

Nita L. Prager of 222 Cleveland Avenue, Homestead Valley, reported that two cameras, valued at $390, $35 in small change, and a light meter were taken from her home sometime from 8 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Friday.

Planners To View Units

The San Rafael Planning Commission is expected to make a recommendation at its meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. on whether zoning permitting 40 units on a parcel at 237 Picnic Avenue should be altered.

The city council, confronted by a petition from 80 persons requesting a lower density at the site, last week put a freeze on development there until a zoning ruling is made. Picnic Hill Properties sought to build the units.

The commission also is to consider a request for a use permit for an 87-unit development at 127-197 Professional Center Parkway and architectural designs for a 22-unit apartment at 1428 Mission Road and a chicken restaurant at 561 Second Street.

Fairfax Festival Plans Expansion

The Fairfax Festival Committee proposes to add three new areas to its Sept. 20-21 festival — a children's art show, a teen-age art show conducted by teen-agers and participation by civic groups.

Also, reported secretary Jane Beighley, the festival may include a new car show.

Any $7,400 car is tight—new. The sinewy Mercedes-Benz 280SE is built to be rattle-free even after 50,000 miles.

Lift the hood, and you'll see why.

One of the sweet pleasures of driving any brand-new car is that firm, buttoned-up feeling it has when it thumps across the inevitable potholes and corrugated railroad tracks.

Especially if the car you traded-in had taken to moaning and groaning over such indignities.

Mercedes-Benz engineers like the nice, tight, "new-car feel" so much they think it ought to last longer than new-car smell, new-car payments, and even a new-car warranty. In fact, they see no reason why you should not go right on enjoying it year after year after year.

And, since Mercedes-Benz engineers stubbornly refuse to waste time on annual face-lifts or superfluous gimmickry, they have ample opportunity to make such dreams come true.

The 280SE is rated the safest, most roadworthy car in the "luxury" field. A sound investment, too.

Born to last

Result: every Mercedes-Benz 280SE begins life in a shower of sparks. Its chassis and body are not bolted into being, like those of a conventional sedan, but solidified by thousands of welds into a single, rigid unit.

Flip up the hood or peer into the wheel wells behind the tires, and examine the frame. You can actually see the telltale pockmarks of the welds.

And you'll "feel" the difference they make from the first tar strip you hit. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 280SE will ever rattle.

When welding stops, hands in soft gloves caress the exterior of the body to detect bumps and burrs. They are smoothed away. Vital seams are soldered and buffed to oblivion.

Then the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

Next, it is baked, spray-painted, hand-sanded, sprayed again, then hand-sprayed. Even the insides of the hubcaps are coated. Total primer and paint anti-corrosion protection: over 44 pounds.

Unrelenting power

Bearings are delicately machined to within 4/10,000ths of an inch, and pistons and connecting rods are painstakingly matched and balanced. Yet this power plant is about as fragile as a bull. It's built to cruise above 100 mph on Germany's wide-open autobahns for hours on end (and often does).

Heroic handling

The legendary stamina of a Mercedes-Benz is a virtue you can appreciate only with the passing of time. But you needn't wait a moment to savor this car's true genius: its quick reflexes and heroic handling ability.

The 280SE bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans in the so-called "fine car" field.

Scrapping the solid "beam" rear-axle system of domestic sedans, it uses an articulated axle, so that each rear wheel can move up and down independently of the other, just as the front wheels do.

This endows the car with the agility of a scrambling quarterback. You can blast it over rutted gravel lanes; it behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road—and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering, either. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you are blessed with the "feel" of the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Taut, sensitive steering is retained even with Mercedes-Benz power steering—characterized by Car and Driver as "unquestionably the most precise unit of its kind ever developed."

Awesome brakes

Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the awesome stopping power of really good brakes.

Disc brakes.

Mercedes-Benz engineers insist on them. Nor do they stint by putting disc brakes only at the front wheels, and settling for conventional drum brakes on the rear. They attach a massive, caliper-type disc brake to every wheel of every Mercedes-Benz.

Someday, doubtless, 4-wheel disc brakes will be offered on a domestic "luxury" car.

The pinnacle of safety

The responsiveness which makes the 280SE such a pleasure to drive is its best defense against blundering motorists. However, if the worst happens, the car is designed to shield you. Naturally, it meets all the U.S. safety regulations. But a Mercedes-Benz has additional safety features.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay shut on impact. The front and rear of the car are engineered to crumple in a crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's cars, the Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Showroom experiments

The 280SE is as habitable as it is durable, roadworthy, and safe.

Slip behind the wheel, and flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you. It should: it was contoured with help from orthopedic physicians. The springs inside are actually tuned to the car's suspension movements—to cancel thousands of tiny, tiring tremors every mile.

Check the rear shelf. Carpeted. Feel the underside of the dash. No spaghetti tangle of wires—it's fully finished off. Finger the wood trim. Real walnut, not plastic.

Many cars are designed to win admiration for their owners. Mercedes-Benz cars are designed to win admiration from their owners.

280SE vs. 280S vs. 280SEL

The 280SE sells for about $7,400 complete with automatic shift, power steering, vinyl upholstery, white walls, and AM/FM radio.

If you can live without the 15% power-boost from that "E"—for Einspritzmotor, or fuel-injection engine—you can make a tidy savings by ordering the standard 280S.

You can also order a 280SEL—the 280SE with a wheelbase four inches longer. (Four inches invested in legroom for the rear compartment, not squandered in useless overhang.)

Other models to ponder:

Mill Valley's chief, Dan Terzich, also felt a regional police force would put a burden on smaller departments. "How much control would the local departments have over the citizens in their own jurisdictions?" he asked.

Chief Charles J. Chiesa of San Rafael, which has the largest force in the county, also felt the demand for police personnel in Bay Area jurisdictions outside of Marin would put extra pressure on his force.

"The larger the department is, the easier it is to send help," he said of the present mutual assistance agreement among counties and cities. "But when you get down to our size, it tends to weaken your strength here (locally). That might be a problem with a regional force."

Chiesa did, however, feel recruiting would be substantially upgraded by a regional police force. This would especially help smaller forces, he said, because of better methods, more time, and a higher regional pay scale.

Frank L. Nelson, chief of Corte Madera's department until succeeded by David L. McIntosh on July 1, said of the regional plan, "It's the coming thing and it's going to happen."

He said he favored the idea but added that he would still "rely on the National Guard" to handle problems like the recent Berkeley People's Park demonstrations.

Other police chiefs in the county either reserved judgment until they had studied the proposal or could not be reached. Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos could not be reached.

Bolinas Under Attack On Lagoon Policies

Nature Conservancy, the organization which played a major role in the purchase of Kent Island in Bolinas Lagoon for Marin County, today charged the Bolinas Harbor District with trying to thwart turning the entire lagoon over to county administration.

Nature conservancy spokesman Huey Johnson said John Gilchrist, lobbyist for the California Marine Parks and Harbors Association, was working with Bolinas district officials to prevent passage of the bill introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley R-San Rafael, to give the county jurisdiction over the 1,200-acre lagoon area.

Johnson noted the voters' call for dissolution of the district earlier this year and support for Bagley's bill from the Sierra Club, the Marin conservation League, Conservation Associates, the Planning and Conservation League and Audubon Canyon Ranch.

Their support, Johnson said, refuted Harbor District officials claims that district policies, which include a harbor of refuge and development in the lagoon, are needed to preserve the lagoon.

Hub Schools Pay On Agenda

Salaries for teachers and classified employees for 1969-70 in the San Anselmo School District will be discussed by the school board at its 7 p.m. meeting today in Red Hill School.

Trustees will hear a proposal from Donald A. Shaw Red Hill School principal, to make French an elective for seventh and eighth graders this fall instead of being required as it is now for sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

Flame-Proofing Averts Big Cotati Church Fire

An attempt apparently was made to set fire to St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Cotati Friday but flame-proofing of curtains and rugs averted what could have been "a tremendous fire," Cotati fire chief Ralph McGinnis said today.

Damage to the church was minor and no dollar value has yet been estimated, the chief said.

McGinnis said the apparent arson attempt was made shortly before Rev. Hugh Donohue arrived at the church to prepare for the 7 a.m. mass Friday. When Donohue arrived, the church was filled with smoke.

McGinnis said a fire-proofed drapery behind the altar had been scorched from the floor up to the five-foot level and the cloth cover of the tabernacle had been used for ignition. There also was a hole burned in the carpet and candles had been melted and strewn over the pews, he said.

An empty wine bottle and several cigarette butts were found in the church.

Teen Drug Party Hit By Police

A teen-age marijuana party was broken up about noon Saturday after neighbors complained to Novato police.

Although several teen-agers fled through the rear door and escaped from the residence at 1105 Mirabella, police apprehended four of them, they reported.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was used and possession of narcotics paraphernalia was Dale E. Kush, 18, of 1203 Chase Street, Novato. He is out on $325 bail. He is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Two 17-year-old youths were cited to juvenile authorities and booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of the possession of marijuana for sale and being in a place where narcotics was used. On one youth, police reported finding $261.

A 15-year-old boy was cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of possessing a substance thought to be LSD and being in a place narcotics were used. He was released to the custody of his parents.

Tools Are Stolen

Walter Rhea of Menlo Park reported to Corte Madera police that between 1 p.m., Saturday and 8:25 p.mm, Sunday, someone removed a padlock from a building he is renting on Paradise Drive and stole $165 in power tools, police reported today. Police were not given the exact number of the building.

Talks Are Resumed In Ferryboat Halt

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A strike which had idled ferries, water taxis and sightseeing boats out of Tiburon entered its sixth day today as formal negotiations were resumed.

A spokesman for the striking Marine Engineers Beneficial Association expressed optimism that something would come out of today's meeting but Lester Bedient, general manager of Harbor Tours Inc., one of the struck firms, was pessimistic.

Bedient's firm operates ferries from Tiburon to Angel Island and also ferries about 200 daily commuters to San Francisco daily.

Bedient said today's talks were concerned chiefly with contracts of towing companies that are negotiating with the union. Settlement of the strike against Harbor Tours, which also operates excursion boats throughout th Bay, probably would not come until after the tugboat companies settle, he said.

That could take another week, Bedient said, since union members are still working at some tugboat companies under a contract extension through June 15.

Sixteen captains of Harbor Tours are on strike. Bedient said he felt their contract would be included in any overall contract settlement reached by the union and other boat companies.

Sonic Booms Are Possible

Sonic booms may be heard in Marin County and Southern Sonoma county early Thursday morning as the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base takes part in an exercise of the Western North American Air Defense Region's defenses.

Planes from the Strategic Air Command will make a simulated attack on the Western United States and Canada, including the Bay Area.

Planes from the Fourth Air Force, which includes the 78th Fighter Wingn will rise to meet the attack, possibly causing sonic booms. More than 20,000 men and women in the United States Air Force, Army and Navy, and Canadian Armed Force will take part in the exercise which will include the area from Britsh Columbia to Southern California.

Vandals Hit Two Buildings

Vandals hit two public buildings in Marin City yesterday, sheriff's deputies reported.

At 5 a.m., deputies found windows at Manzanita School had been broken out with rocks and sticks.

Thinking About Smuggling

If not, then try smuggling along your favorite dreams, for here you will see, that, from which the tapestry of dreams is woven. Would you be intrigued by about 275 feet of your own Tiburon-on-the-Bay shoreline, private beach, and about 5 acres of tidelands as a protective buffer? Visualize a beautiful acre plateau above the beach; with every window in command of magnificent views to blue Bay, rugged rock or green stately lawn & trees. Via land the main portals of this majestic, authentic English mansion are first sighted thru an iron-gated brick-entry wall. There it stands proud, sturdy, ageless, 'neath the rambling charm of a multi-gabled slate roof. Its entire exterior is garbed in mellowed-red-brick that appears complacently relaxed in the caress of soft green ivy.

The butler and maids have departed, and tho vacant, much warmth prevails.

Upon entering the two story high beige Carrara-marble-floored reception hall, the gracious flow of living space will begin your capitulation. Descend to the grand paneled Dining Room; amble thru the masonry tile-floored sun-room; stroll over oak plank flooring; figuratively recline before the handsome black marble fireplace of the elegant Living Room. 'Tis quite natural that you will then envision the grandeur of gay social events and the delightful tranquil living that can be revitiated here.

Finally, you will note the 4 family sized Bedrooms with 4½ Baths on the 2nd floor; the central thermo controlled heating system, the built-in elec. kitchen., the 2 Bdrm. & ½ Ba., maids' quarters and . . . and . . . and . . .

Please phone for an appointment; we will be happy to smuggle you in via land or sea.

AN IDEA
Are you reading the Want Ads every day, hoping to spot a good buy? Then consider for a moment another way of doing the same thing which we think may be better.

It is a fact that often OUR best buys never get advertised at all. We have over $13 million in Marin property listed for sale at any one time, and naturally we can't advertise all we have for sale every day. And furthermore, we call OUR buyers BEFORE a property gets to the papers, and if it is what they want, it is sold before it is advertised at all!

So our suggestion is that you tell us what it is that YOU are looking for in Marin. Chances are we have it listed now, or if not, that we will have it listed soon, because we have a continuous flow of new listings from a backlog of FIFTY-NINE YEARS of selling here (relistings) as well as from our complete coverage with SIX MARIN COUNTY OFFICES.

As soon as we spot what you are looking for, WE WILL CALL YOU FIRST, BEFORE WE ADVERTISE THE PROPERTY. Become one of our buyers . . . call

Thinking About Smuggling

If not, then try smuggling-along your favorite dreams, for here you will see, that, from which the tapestry of dreams is woven. Would you be intrigued by about 275 feet of your own Tiburon-on-the-Bay shoreline, private beach, and about 5 acres of tidelands as a protective buffer? Visualize a beautiful acre plateau above the beach; with every window in command of magnificent views to blue Bay, rugged rock or green stately lawn & trees. Via land the main portals of this majestic, authentic English mansion are first sighted thru an iron-gated brick-entry wall. There it stands proud, sturdy, ageless, 'neath the rambling charm of a multi-gabled slate roof. Its entire exterior is garbed in mellowed-red-brick that appears complacently relaxed in the caress of soft green ivy.

The butler and maids have departed, and tho vacant, much warmth prevails.

Upon entering the two story high beige Carrara-marble-floored reception hall, the gracious flow of living space will begin your capitulation. Descend to the grand paneled Dining Room; amble thru the masonry tile-floored sun-room; stroll over oak plank flooring; figuratively recline before the handsome black marble fireplace of the elegant Living Room. 'Tis quite natural that you will then envision the grandeur of gay social events and the delightful tranquil living that can be revitiated here.

Finally, you will note the 4 family sized Bedrooms with 4½ Baths on the 2nd floor; the central thermo controlled heating system, the built-in elec. kitchen., the 2 Bdrm. & ½ Ba., maids' quarters and . . . and . . . and . . .

Please phone for an appointment; we will be happy to smuggle you in via land or sea.

AN IDEA

Are you reading the Want Ads every day, hoping to spot a good buy? Then consider for a moment another way of doing the same thing which we think may be better.

It is a fact that often OUR best buys never get advertised at all. We have over $13 million in Marin property listed for sale at any one time, and naturally we can't advertise all we have for sale every day. And furthermore, we call OUR buyers BEFORE a property gets to the papers, and if it is what they want, it is sold before it is advertised at all!

So our suggestion is that you tell us what it is that YOU are looking for in Marin. Chances are we have it listed now, or if not, that we will have it listed soon, because we have a continuous flow of new listings from a backlog of FIFTY-NINE YEARS of selling here (relistings) as well as from our complete coverage with SIX MARIN COUNTY OFFICES.

As soon as we spot what you are looking for, WE WILL CALL YOU FIRST, BEFORE WE ADVERTISE THE PROPERTY. Become one of our buyers . . . call

JOB NO. 363

MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed Proposals will be received by, and shall be filed with, the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 p.m., June 16, 1969, for:

Construction of a reinforced triple box culvert as an extension of the existing Sutro Avenue Bridge over Novato Creek, including earthwork, wingwalls, rails, and other related construction; construction of an asphalt concrete walkway along Sutro Avenue located between Novato Boulevard and Center Road; and construction of a 72" R.C.P. Storm Drain across Sutro Avenue.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be seen at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin. Request for forms or information shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Plans and Specifications (but not including Standard Specifications, or other documents included by reference), and Proposal Forms may be obtained by prospective bidders upon payment of a deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) (cash or check made payable to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin) to guarantee safe return of the plans and specifications within ten (10) days after bid opening. Failure to so return the plans and specifications will cause forfeiture of the deposit to the County.

All bids must be submitted on the Proposal form obtained from the Director of Public Works and shall be accompanied by a Proposal Guaranty of at least ten percent (10%) of the bid. Guaranties shall be in the form of a certified or Cashier's Check or Bidder's Bond. Failure of the successful bidder to execute and return the contract, or to file acceptable bond, as required, within the time allotted shall be cause for the annulment of the award and forfeiture of the Proposal Guaranty.

The bid bonds of bidders, other than the successful bidder, may be retained by the Board of Supervisors for a period of thirty (30) days after award or until the successful bidder executes the contract and furnishes bonds, whichever occurs first. If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded fails, or refuses, to execute the contract within fifteen (15) days of notice of award, as herein provided, the Board of Supervisors may award to the next lowest responsible bidder and apply the bid bond of the bidder failing, or refusing, to execute contract, against the County's damages resulting from such failure. If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded executes the contract as herein required, the bid bonds of bidders to whom no award was made will be returned upon request.

Said proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m. in Room No. 343, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above for receiving bids. Only the total amount bid will be read and not specific items going to make up said total unless written request for reading of each sub-total and individual items of the bid is requested in writing at the time of the submission of proposals. Bidders will be at liberty to inspect and review bids in the Office of the Director of Public Works to which they will be removed for the purpose of checking after the opening and reading of the totals.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will award the bid at 1:30 p.m., June 17, 1969, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein, and neither partial bids nor contingent bids will be considered.

TIME LIMIT

If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded fails, or refuses, to execute the contract within fifteen (15) days of notice of award, as herein provided, the Board of Supervisors may award to the next lowest responsible bidder and apply the bid bond of the bidder failing, or refusing, to execute contract, against the County's damages resulting from such failure. If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded executes the contract as herein required, the bid bonds of bidders to whom no award was made will be returned upon request.

Said proposals will be opened and read at 1:30 p.m. in Room No. 343, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above for receiving bids. SUTRO AVENUE
BRIDGE WIDENING
JOB NO. 363

MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed Proposals will be received by, and shall be filed with, the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 p.m., June 16, 1969, for:

Construction of a reinforced triple box culvert as an extension of the existing Sutro Avenue Bridge over Novato Creek, including earthwork, wingwalls, rails, and other related construction; construction of an asphalt concrete walkway along Sutro Avenue located between Novato Boulevard and Center Road; and construction of a 72" R.C.P. Storm Drain across Sutro Avenue.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be seen at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin. Request for forms or information shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Plans and Specifications (but not including Standard Specifications, or other documents included by reference), and Proposal Forms may be obtained by prospective bidders upon payment of a deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) (cash or check made payable to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin) to guarantee safe return of the plans and specifications within ten (10) days after bid opening. Failure to so return the plans and specifications will cause forfeiture of the deposit to the County.

All bids must be submitted on the Proposal form obtained from the Director of Public Works and shall be accompanied by a Proposal Guaranty of at least ten percent (10%) of the bid. Guaranties shall be in the form of a certified or Cashier's Check or Bidder's Bond. Failure of the successful bidder to execute and return the contract, or to file acceptable bond, as required, within the time allotted shall be cause for the annulment of the award and forfeiture of the Proposal Guaranty.

The bid bonds of bidders, other than the successful bidder, may be retained by the Board of Supervisors for a period of thirty (30) days after award or until the successful bidder executes the contract and furnishes bonds, whichever occurs first. If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded fails, or refuses, to execute the contract within fifteen (15) days of notice of award, as herein provided, the Board of Supervisors may award to the next lowest responsible bidder and apply the bid bond of the bidder failing, or refusing, to execute contract, against the County's damages resulting from such failure. If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded executes the contract as herein required, the bid bonds of bidders to whom no award was made will be returned upon request.

Said proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m. in Room No. 343, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above for receiving bids. Only the total amount bid will be read and not specific items going to make up said total unless written request for reading of each sub-total and individual items of the bid is requested in writing at the time of the submission of proposals. Bidders will be at liberty to inspect and review bids in the Office of the Director of Public Works to which they will be removed for the purpose of checking after the opening and reading of the totals.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will award the bid at 1:30 p.m., June 17, 1969, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein, and neither partial bids nor contingent bids will be considered.

TIME LIMIT

The Contractor shall commence work on or before the fifteenth (15th) day following the date of written notification by the Director of Public Works that the contract has been awarded by the Board of Supervisors. During this fifteen (15) day interval, the necessary contract documents shall be executed by the Contractor and returned to the Department of Public Works. All work shall be completed on the project within fifty (50) working days counting from and including the said 15th day.

Canceled Shows Are Winners Of Emmys

And Barbara Bain, who has announced she is quitting "Mission: Impossible," claimed her third Emmy with one of the frankest acceptance speeches on record.

These were the highlights last night of the annual presentations by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, televised by CBS.

"Get Smart," canceled by NBC, won its second straight award as best comedy series and Don Adams his third in a row as best comedy series actor. The spy spoof was picked up by CBS for next season.

Hope Lange was a surprise victor as comedy series star for "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," also dropped by NBC. The series won a reprieve when it was bought by ABC.

Carl Betz, long the patient husband on "The Donna Reed Show," was named best dramatic series star for "Judd for the Defense," which has been dropped from the ABC schedule.

The writing platoon of "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" won Emmys for their contributions to the series which CBS fired amid much acrimony.

Describing the award of her Emmy as "a bittersweet moment," she remarked:

"There are a couple of people I'd like not to thank. Since they both know their names, I won't call them."

Another tense moment came in New York's Carnegie Hall when producer George Lefferts, winner for the best dramatic program, "Teacher, Teacher," criticized the academy for eliminating the best supporting actor award.

One nominee was the play's star, Billy Schulman, a retarded youth. Shortly afterwards, the academy made a special award to the boy.

The academy trustees gave an award to Apollo astronauts "for sharing with the American public and the rest of the world the incredible experience of the unfolding of the mysteries of outer space and the surface of the moon via live television."

A trustees' award also went to the late William R. McAndrew, long head of NBC news.

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

The bid bonds of bidders, other than the successful bidder, may be retained by the Board of Supervisors for a period of thirty (30) days after award or until the successful bidder executes the contract and furnishes bonds, whichever occurs first. If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded fails, or refuses, to execute the contract within fifteen (15) days of notice of award, as herein provided, the Board of Supervisors may award to the next lowest responsible bidder and apply the bid bond of the bidder failing, or refusing, to execute contract, against the County's damages resulting from such failure. If a bidder to whom the contract is awarded executes the contract as herein required, the bid bonds of bidders to whom no award was made will be returned upon request.

Said proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m. in Room No. 343, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above for receiving bids. Only the total amount bid will be read and not specific items going to make up said total unless written request for reading of each sub-total and individual items of the bid is requested in writing at the time of the submission of proposals. Bidders will be at liberty to inspect and review bids in the Office of the Director of Public Works to which they will be removed for the purpose of checking after the opening and reading of the totals.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will award the bid at 1:30 p.m., June 24, 1969, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein, and neither partial bids nor contingent bids will be considered.

Car Wash Asks New Site With Gasoline Sales

An application by Cloudburst Car Wash Inc. to construct an automatic car wash with gasoline sales on the west side of Highway 101 south of Novato Creek will be considered by the Novato Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The site is south of Dervin Ford on Ford Way. Cloudburst earlier sought the location on the east side of Seventh Street south of Lee Brothers Market, but was denied permission to sell gasoline there.

The commission also will consider extending for two years a use permit for the Novato Parents Nursery School in the Methodist Church at 1485 South Novato Boulevard and discuss an underground utilities ordinance, capital improvement program and alignment of Hill Road.

Strikers Hit Copter Plant

HURST, Tex. (AP) — Striking United Auto Workers today picketed the Bell Helicopter Co., a major supplier of copters for U.S. forces in Vietnam. About 10,000 workers were involved.

The strike action came after members of UAW Local 218 shouted down a tentative new contract negotiated by union leaders and management. The agreement would have hiked wages by up to 70 cents an hour during a three-year period to a peak of $5.14 in top job classifications.

After the rejection, Bell announced a shutdown at midnight yesterday of 13 plants in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. The strike had been set for that hour and picketing began on schedule.

Tricia Nixon To Attend Welsh Rites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tricia Nixon will fly to London June 28 for an eight-day round of activities, including the investiture of Prince Charles as Prince of Wales.

The President's daughter will be the guest of U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. Walter Annenberg during her visit, the White House announced today.

It will be her first trip abroad since her father took office, but not her first to Great Britain, where she has traveled with her family. Tricia, 23, will attend the traditional July 4th reception at the U.S. embassy and the Wimbledon tennis matches while in London.

The White House said the British foreign office had extended a special invitation to her to attend the investiture of Prince Charles at Caernarvon castle in Wales on July 1. The prince, heir apparent to the British throne, takes on the title in historic and colorful ceremonies.

Truth-In-Lending Becomes Law July 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new federal truth-in-lending law which becomes effective July 1 won't make credit any cheaper, but it could encourage borrowers to shop around for the best possible deal.

Lenders for the first time will have to furnish potential borrowers with complete and detailed figures on how much credit will cost and a realistic statement of the interest charge.

They also will have to be more specific in advertising.

No longer will it suffice to advertise a $15 electric iron, for example, for $1 down and $1 weekly payments. The ad will have to say how long the payments must be made and what the iron will have cost when the final payment is made.

The stated purpose of the new law is to let borrowers and customers know the exact cost of credit. It does not fix maximum or minimum charges for credit.

The law applies to banks, savings and loan associations, department stores, credit card issuers, credit unions, automobile dealers, residential mortgage brokers and anyone extending or arranging credit for which a finance charge is payable.

Exempted from its provisions are business and commercial credit, except agricultural credit, and credit over $25,000, except real estate transactions.

Closed Talks Slated On Pay

Trustees of the Tamalpais High School District will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. today in the district office to give instructions to staff on salary negotiations before convening in regular session at 8 p.m. for open salary discussion.

District teachers rejected a 4.2 per cent increase proposal at the last board meeting.

Also in open session tonight, the board is scheduled to continue budget discussion.

Trustees will consider salary proposals by administrative and nonteaching employees at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the district office.

Slower Rate Of Growth In Employment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate held steady at 3.5 per cent in May while employment showed a slower rate of growth which probably reflects a slowdown in the economy, the Labor Department said today.

Total nonfarm payroll employment increased by 90,000, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"Employment growth, rapid in late 1968 and early 1969, has slowed considerably in the past three months," said the bureau's report.

"Monthly payroll employment has slowed considerably in the past three months. Monthly payroll employment increases have averaged 100,000 in the February-May period, in contrast to 325,000 over the September-February period," it said.

"The recent slowing down has occured mainly in the goods-producing sector; employment in the service sector has continued to rise, although at a less rapid pace than in the earlier period," the report said.

Canceled Shows Are Winners Of Emmys

And Barbara Bain, who has announced she is quitting "Mission: Impossible," claimed her third Emmy with one of the frankest acceptance speeches on record.

These were the highlights last night of the annual presentations by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, televised by CBS.

"Get Smart," canceled by NBC, won its second straight award as best comedy series and Don Adams his third in a row as best comedy series actor. The spy spoof was picked up by CBS for next season.

Hope Lange was a surprise victor as comedy series star for "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," also dropped by NBC. The series won a reprieve when it was bought by ABC.

Carl Betz, long the patient husband on "The Donna Reed Show," was named best dramatic series star for "Judd for the Defense," which has been dropped from the ABC schedule.

The writing platoon of "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" won Emmys for their contributions to the series which CBS fired amid much acrimony.

Describing the award of her Emmy as "a bittersweet moment," she remarked:

"There are a couple of people I'd like not to thank. Since they both know their names, I won't call them."

Another tense moment came in New York's Carnegie Hall when producer George Lefferts, winner for the best dramatic program, "Teacher, Teacher," criticized the academy for eliminating the best supporting actor award.

One nominee was the play's star, Billy Schulman, a retarded youth. Shortly afterwards, the academy made a special award to the boy.

The academy trustees gave an award to Apollo astronauts "for sharing with the American public and the rest of the world the incredible experience of the unfolding of the mysteries of outer space and the surface of the moon via live television."

Youths Booked In Auto Probe

Two San Francisco youths were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of car theft after the car was demolished when it overturned on Highway 101 in Ignacio, the California Highway Patrol said.

Milton Bartholomew, 16, and Charles Pauley, 17, escaped the crash with minor cuts, the patrol said.

Police reports indicate the car was stolen at 2:18 a.m. yesterday from Joyce Shelfo of 452 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley. The accident happened at 4 a.m. when the car, southbound with Bartholomew driving, failed to make the turn onto an off-ramp, the patrol said.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Giants Take Time Off For College

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The resurgent San Francisco Giants went to college today—to hit baseballs not books—and looked to the future for the beginning of a two-game series with the torrid New York Mets tomorrow night. The Mets are on a 10-game winning streak.

Manager Clyde King's charges, who often win on the long ball of Willie McCovey, utilized a perfect bunt by his replacement to produce their fifth straight trumph yesterday, a 12-inning 9-8 thriller over Philadelphia.

Yesterday's victory was triggered when Phillies' reliever Al Raffo walked Bobby Bonds and Ken Henderson opening the 12th inning. Bob Burda, who took over first base for the ailing McCovey in the sixth, then bunted down the third base line.

Raffo charged off the mound, threw to third, but the sliding Bonds beat the throw. With the bases loaded, Davenport cracked the first pitch into right center for his fifth game winning blow of the season.

"I just didn't want to get behind Raffo, so I made up my mind to go after the first couple of pitches," explained Davenport.

"The old pro came through," praised King. "That sure was a beautiful bunt by Burda, but Bonds' hustle getting into third base made the play work."

McCovey, having trouble with his knee and hip, extended his batting streak to 14 games with a run-scoring single in the first inning before coming out.

"I hurt my hip," said the disconsolate McCovey.

Richie Allen belted a solo homer for Philadelphia in the first and his two-run blast highlighted a four-run rally in the fourth. The homers were his 14th and 15th of the season.

Hal Lanier, extending his batting streak to nine games, hit a two-run double as the Giants scored three runs in the bottom of the fourth for a 5-5 tie.

Mike Ryan's homer placed the Phils ahead in the seventh, but Willie May's two-run job, his eighth, featured a three-run rally in the eighth. Larry Hisle's two-run homer produced the tie off winner Frank Linzy in the ninth.

NOVATO'S ACE DILLON ON NORTH STARS TEAM

Russ Dillon, who pitched Novato High School to the Marin County Athletic League baseball championship, has been selected to play in the first North-South California All-Star high school baseball game June 21 at San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

The announcement was made this morning by Al Endriss of Redwood High School who will help coach Dillon and 15 other Northern California senior standouts against their Southern California counterparts in the game which will benefit the Joe DiMaggio League program.

JIM GILMARTIN

Small Crowd Makes Sears Official Groan

Sears Point International Raceway officials announced yesterday's crowd for the late model stock car races at approximately 9,000, but I think the vice president in charge of counting bodies must have flunked math. Or he writes figures with a fork.

It looked more like 5,000 or 6,000. Any figure you pick, however, still falls considerably short of the anticipated 15,000. "Very disturbing," groaned track president Bob Marshall.

A number of reasons for the financial bust were advanced, most popular of which was the weather. Although it stayed dry at the Point, rain fell in much of the Bay Area, convincing many racing fans that a journey to Sears would be pointless.

A Sports Car Club of American official on hand offered another explanation. "NASCAR racing hasn't matured yet on the Pacific Coast," he said. "It's big down south, but in this territory sports car racing is the big drawing card. Except for the main event, NASCAR doesn't offer much of a show. That business of qualifying one car at a time is rather boring. They should liven up the program, put on some novice races during intermission."

Price Is Rather Steep

Also, the tariff is rather steep — $6 a person. A man, wife and couple of teenagers could throw the family budget into a mess.

Yesterday's main event was as exciting as I had expected. It's quite a sight to see 26 late model cars representing some 50 tons of Detroit iron roaring into sharp curves at breakneck speed.

The crowd was treated to a number of spinouts and one genuine fender-bender when Dave Alonzo of Mountain View spun into a barrier and Don Noel of Northridge piled into him. Alonzo retired for the day but Noel continued, minus his left front fender. Eleven of the 60 laps were run under the yellow caution flags.

Winner Ray Elder, a 5-foot, 11-inch, 235-pound farmer, emerged without a scratch on his blue and white Dodge Charger. Of course he was so far out in front most of the afternoon you couldn't have hit him with a cannon.

Racing Is Family Matter

A pleasant, 26-year-old farmer, from Caruthers, 15 miles south of Fresno, Elder has one of racing's largest pit crews. There were a dozen "Racing Farmers" there yesterday but Ray's brudder, Little Richard, said: "Aw, we've got a lot more'n that. Shucks, we've got about 25 or 30 relatives and friends working for us." The family has 240 acres of cotton, alfalfa and blackeyed peas farmland.

Richard, the younger Elder, estimated that the car driven by Ray, the older Elder, and owned by papa Fred Elder, the eldest Elder, is worth about $20,000. "But that's just the car itself," he said. "If we got paid for the hours we worked on it the price would be much higher. Anyway, it takes a lot of victories to pay for it." Ray collected $2,910 yesterday, which cultivate a lot of blackeyed peas.

Hits 110 On Straightaway

The father of a young son and daughter, Ray Elder drove what track officials called "a perfect race." Averaging 66.8 mph and hitting 110 on the straightaways, he described the Sears road circuit as " . . . a little tight." Comparing it to the Riverside International Raceway, Elder said Sears is "tougher on the driver but easier on equipment." Except tires, perhaps.

In victory lane, mingled among the cheers of the crowd, was a noticeable hiss. Elder's left rear tire, which bare cord all during the homestretch, went flat on the bottom. "I knew it was about to go," he laughed. "The pit signalled me by signboard that it was going, but we couldn't take time for a pit stop so I just prayed. I couldn't have gone another lap at racing speed."

A Cramp In His Right Leg

Most NASCAR racing is done on banked, oval tracks, so the twisting, hilly Sears course is a unique challenge. "Only trouble I had," said Ray, "was a cramp in my right leg."

He brought along a thermos of ice water on the 150-mile Sunday drive. "At Riverside," he laughed, "they gave me a jug of Coke and I got a bellyache."

After yesterday's victory, however, he polished off a good portion of a magnum of champagne, the race being sponsored by Weible Champagne Vinyards.

Ray also got a number of smooches from lovely race queen Lani Miller, until Mrs. Ray Elder arrived on the scene to take over the mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Ray Elder Captures Stock Car Honors

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Ray Elder, a 26-year-old alfalfa, cotton and blackeyed peas farmer from Caruthers, Fresno County, plowed his 1969 Dodge Charger around the Sears Point International Raceway yesterday to harvest $2,910 of prize money as the victor of the 150-mile late model stock car race sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

Under threatening skies and in view of a disappointingly small crowd announced (generously) at 9,000 spectators, the hefty Elder and his blue and white Charger led for 54 of the 60 laps, finishing 17 seconds ahead of Norwalk's Jim Cook in a 1968 Ford Galaxie who won $1,000 for second. Third place money of $800 went to Marty Kinerk of Tucson, Ariz. in his 1967 Chevrolet Chevelle.

Lady Luck was a passenger with Elder because he finished the torrid race around the 12-turn, 2.5-mile road circuit on a tire that bared cord. "I couldn't have gone another lap at racing speed," he said afterwards, "and if I pitted for a change I would have lost."

TAKES LEAD

The victory in his 4,000-pound Charger also boosted Elder into undisputed first place in the NASCAR Pacific Coast Division's season-long points championship. Runner-up in final standings of 1966, '67 and '68, Elder had been tied for the 1969 lead with Ranny Dodd of Newhall, Los Angeles County, until his 100-point triumph yesterday moved him 42 points ahead of the closest pursuer.

Another major letdown was suffered by Jack McCoy of Modesto, the 1966 Pacific Coast champion who set a track qualifying record of 1 minute, 58.45 seconds (77 mph) yesterday morning. But on the first lap of the main event McCoy's '69 Dodge Charger lost its fan belt and things got progressively worse. He limped home on three cylinders in ninth place.

Elder, who won the pole position Saturday with a 1:57.99 qualifying run, made three pit stops, two for refueling and one to clean his windshield of oil deposited there by the blown engine of Portland's Dick Bown. The Oregonian had taken the lead during an Elder pit-stop and held it for four laps until his mishap. His rear wheels locked, spinning him off the road at turn number one in a spectacular cloud of smoke and dust as Elder whizzed by to take the lead for keeps.

The only other driver to take the lead from Elder was Kinerk who led two laps.

12 FINISH

Twenty-six cars started but only 12 were still running at the finish.

More than $12,000 in prize money was distributed. The

STATE BASEBALL TOURNEY

Big Sweep For San Rafael

Combining the unbeatable ingredients of sharp pitching, power hitting and a nearly impeccable defense, the San Rafael Braves opened the California State Semi-Professional Baseball Tournament with a bang over the weekend, scoring two impressive victories in the regional competition.

Saturday night Manager Joe Anselmo's Braves overcame an early 2-0 deficit to bury the Santa Rosa Athletics 14-3 at Santa Rosa and yesterday, in a light drizzle in Alameda, they walloped the Oakland Tigers 10-3. The double elimination tournament continues weekends through June 28 with the regional winner advancing to Eureka for the state finals.

ELIMINATED

Alameda, one of the pretourney favorites, lost two games over the weekend to be eliminated, leaving San Rafael as one of the favorites with its 2-0 won-lost record.

Starting San Rafael pitcher Bill Clark got off to a shaky start Saturday night as Santa Rosa nicked him for two first inning runs, but he settled down to pitch a seven-hitter while his muscular mates bombarded two pitchers for 18 hits. Leading the assault were Wayne Burd with a three-run home run and two-run double; Art Blunt with a two-run homer and four rbi, and Doug Wilson and Mike Selland with three singles apiece.

Defensive gems were turned in by outfielder Wilson and shortstop Tom Corder. The game was abbreviated to seven innings because of the tournament's 10-run rule.

Strikers Hit Copter Plant

HURST, Tex. (AP) — Striking United Auto Workers today picketed the Bell Helicopter Co., a major supplier of copters for U.S. forces in Vietnam. About 10,000 workers were involved.

The strike action came after members of UAW Local 218 shouted down a tentative new contract negotiated by union leaders and management. The agreement would have hiked wages by up to 70 cents an hour during a three-year period to a peak of $5.14 in top job classifications.

After the rejection, Bell announced a shutdown at midnight yesterday of 13 plants in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. The strike had been set for that hour and picketing began on schedule.

Tricia Nixon To Attend Welsh Rites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tricia Nixon will fly to London June 28 for an eight-day round of activities, including the investiture of Prince Charles as Prince of Wales.

The President's daughter will be the guest of U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. Walter Annenberg during her visit, the White House announced today.

It will be her first trip abroad since her father took office, but not her first to Great Britain, where she has traveled with her family. Tricia, 23, will attend the traditional July 4th reception at the U.S. embassy and the Wimbledon tennis matches while in London.

The White House said the British foreign office had extended a special invitation to her to attend the investiture of Prince Charles at Caernarvon castle in Wales on July 1. The prince, heir apparent to the British throne, takes on the title in historic and colorful ceremonies.

Truth-In-Lending Becomes Law July 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new federal truth-in-lending law which becomes effective July 1 won't make credit any cheaper, but it could encourage borrowers to shop around for the best possible deal.

Lenders for the first time will have to furnish potential borrowers with complete and detailed figures on how much credit will cost and a realistic statement of the interest charge.

They also will have to be more specific in advertising.

No longer will it suffice to advertise a $15 electric iron, for example, for $1 down and $1 weekly payments. The ad will have to say how long the payments must be made and what the iron will have cost when the final payment is made.

The stated purpose of the new law is to let borrowers and customers know the exact cost of credit. It does not fix maximum or minimum charges for credit.

The law applies to banks, savings and loan associations, department stores, credit card issuers, credit unions, automobile dealers, residential mortgage brokers and anyone extending or arranging credit for which a finance charge is payable.

Exempted from its provisions are business and commercial credit, except agricultural credit, and credit over $25,000, except real estate transactions.

Closed Talks Slated On Pay

Trustees of the Tamalpais High School District will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. today in the district office to give instructions to staff on salary negotiations before convening in regular session at 8 p.m. for open salary discussion.

District teachers rejected a 4.2 per cent increase proposal at the last board meeting.

Also in open session tonight, the board is scheduled to continue budget discussion.

Trustees will consider salary proposals by administrative and nonteaching employees at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the district office.

Slower Rate Of Growth In Employment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate held steady at 3.5 per cent in May while employment showed a slower rate of growth which probably reflects a slowdown in the economy, the Labor Department said today.

Total nonfarm payroll employment increased by 90,000, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"Employment growth, rapid in late 1968 and early 1969, has slowed considerably in the past three months," said the bureau's report.

"Monthly payroll employment has slowed considerably in the past three months. Monthly payroll employment increases have averaged 100,000 in the February-May period, in contrast to 325,000 over the September-February period," it said.

"The recent slowing down has occured mainly in the goods-producing sector; employment in the service sector has continued to rise, although at a less rapid pace than in the earlier period," the report said.

A microscope class will be held for two one-week sessions, June 23 to 27 and July 7 to 11 from 10 to 11 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Jeannette Pomeroy, 92 Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael.

Bill Casper Wins Western Open

MIDLOTHIAN, Ill. (AP) — Buffalo Billy Casper set his sights on a third United States Open golf championship today, his confidence bubbling, his game in great shape and his troublesome allergy problems subsiding.

"This sets me up very well for the Open," the one-time fat man said yesterday after shooting a brilliant, four-under-par 67 and winning the $26,000 first prize in the Western Open by four strokes on the water-logged Midlothian Country Club course.

CONFIDENCE

"I'm driving the ball very well, and long for me," the 37-year-old master said. "I hit a lot of good irons. And it gives you a great deal of confidence to roll in some putts like I did."

"Does winning this one make you the man to beat in the Open?" someone asked.

Billy laughed.

"Sure, if..." he said. "If I continue to drive the ball well, hit my irons real good, chip well and can drop some long putts, well, I'll be pretty hard to beat."

That formula, near-perfect golf, was his combination in winning his third Western title, one of the most prestigious in the country and second in age only to the U.S. Open, which will be played this week in Houston.

"When I teed off, I was surprised we were playing," Casper said.

Casper, who won his 43rd tour victory, pushed his career money winnings to $957,000. He finished with a 72-hole total of 276, four strokes in front of long-shot Rocky Thompson, in second with a 69 for 280.

Third-round leader Frank Beard fell to a 74 for 281 and third place, followed by England's Peter Townsend, 72 for 283. They were the only men to beat par for the tournament.

South African Gary Player, 72, was one of five at par 284. PGA champ Julius Boros had a 72 for 285; Masters champ George Archer 73 for 287, U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino a 73 for 288, defending champion Jack Nicklaus a 73 for 291.

Casper, winner of the Bob Hope Desert Classic early this year, but playing relatively poorly in recent weeks, said he may have solved some of the allergy problems that have plagued him.

"I'm going to Houston fortified," he said. "I've been living with a doctor for a week and a half and we think we may have worked something out."

Namath Remains A Restaurateur

NEW YORK (AP) — A new week began today for Joe Namath, restaurateur and retired quarterback. And the week began with the football world wondering if things may change and he might become a playing quarterback and former restaurateur.

"I doubt if things can be resolved," Namath said yesterday as he prepared to go to the West Coast on business, which includes some movie making.

"I doubt if I will play again."

The New York Jets' signal caller appeared determined to stick to his belief that it was wrong for pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle to order him to sell his interest in Bachelors III, because the New York nightspot reportedly was frequented by undesirable persons.

"Pete is right in a way if he thinks people who come into my place are gamblers and are bad for football," Namath said. "But I can't believe that. I haven't done anything wrong, and they admit it."

Namath also said he is distressed that it has been reported he was drinking the night he made his decision to retire in face of the Rozelle ultimatum.

STATEMENT

Rozelle, in a statement following Namath's retirement announcement Friday, said, "It is obviously impossible for a player to be aware of the background and habits of all persons to whom he is introduced.

"However, continuation of such associations after learning of a person's undesirable background and habits is cause for deep concern. Such conduct gives the appearance of evil, whether or not it actually exists, and thereby affects the player's reputation, the reputation of the fellow players and the integrity of the sport."

Rozelle also said, "At 7:15 p.m. last (Thursday) night, this office was advised by Namath's attorney that his interests were in the process of being sold and that this would be accomplished by 10 a.m. today (Friday)."

CHANGE IN PLANS

In a period between 7:15 p.m. Thursday night and some four hours later, Namath changed his mind. Why?

"I didn't change my mind," Namath said. "We were going to sell even later than 7:15. We had papers drawn up, but all the while I wasn't sure it was the right thing to do.

"A lot has been written that I was drinking with people that night. That's wrong. I wasn't drinking. This was a little stronger decision I was making than to be drinking.

Alcindor Apologizes For Punch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Alcindor, three-time UCLA All-American basketball star, has apologized for punching Los Angeles Stars' center Dennis Grey but Grey, his jaw shattered isn't talking.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1½ agile giant who led the Bruins to three straight national titles, sent Grey of the American Basketball Association Stars reeling Saturday during a pick-up basketball game. The blow sent Grey to a local hospital where a two-hour operation was required to set the broken bones.

AT GAME'S END

Grey said the altercation came after Lew had made a stuff shot to end the game at the Hamilton High School gymnasium. He said Alcindor suddenly lashed out. A few words were exchanged and Alcindor, unaware of the injury he had caused, left.

"I told him it was only a game," Grey said. "I told him that if he couldn't take it in a game like that, he would be killed if he tried it with (Wilt) Chamberlain or (Bill) Russell."

Grey admitted there had been physical contact between players during the game and admitted using "my forearm to try to keep him away from the basket."

APOLOGY

Alcindor, when informed of the seriousness of the injury, called the hospital and apologized. He said he would pay all medical expenses.

"I was provoked," said Lew. "I regret very much that I reacted the way I did. I am sorry for what happened."

Alcindor has signed a $1.4 million contract for next season with the Milwaukee Bucks.

Warren Davis, a Star teammate of Grey, said the game was the last one of the day and "the last one sometimes gets a little rough because the players are getting a little tired but there's never been a fight—this wasn't a fight, either."

EXCHANGE WORDS

Mauch Finally Kicks A Habit

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mauch, long-suffering manager of the National League expansion club, stationed himself on the coaching line for the first time this season yesterday and the Expos promptly broke their near-record losing streak at 20 games by squeezing past Los Angeles 4-3.

THE BEST

"I decided I'd try it while I was driving home last night," the Expos' skipper said of his decision to quit the dugout for the third base coach's box. "It was the best third base coaching I ever saw when I was in the minors.

"If I thought it would help, I'd coach both first and third base at the same time."

Rookie right-hander Jerry Robertson, backed by Russ Staub's two-run homer and Mack Jones' bases-empty blast, posted his first major league victory as the Expos ended their tailspin three losses short of the all-time mark . . . set by Mauch's 1961 Philadelphia Phillies.

METS STREAK

The New York Mets ran their unbeaten string to 10 games with a 3-2 comeback victory over San Diego; San Francisco stretched Philadelphia's losing skein to eight games with a 9-8 victory; Houston nipped St. Louis 2-1 in 11 innings and Atlanta swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 11-10 and 4-3.

Rain washed out the Cincinnati-Chicago Cubs game.

Ruben Chappins of Excelsior of Norwalk, one of three 1968 titlists to repeat, won the two-mile run in 8:57.0, a state record.

MICKEY MANTLE HONORED

Yanks Play Like Old Days

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Good pitching, not Mickey Mantle Day, inspired the New York Yankees to play like the Yankees of old. And it also served as an inspiration for the new Seattle Pilots to play like the Pilots of old.

With many former great Yankees and the largest crowd in the majors this season—60,096—on hand to do honor to Mantle, the Yankees swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 3-1 and 11-2 yesterday.

But Manager Ralph Houk dismissed any thoughts that Mantle's presence had anything to do with the twin victories that boosted the Yankees to .500 for the first time since May 1.

"The inspiration comes when you get good pitching," Houk said, referring to Mel Stottlemyre's three-hitter and a six-hitter by rookie Mill Burbach.

The Pilots, however, have no glorious past or former stars like the Yankees, but for the first 49 games of their existence, they had compiled the remarkable record for an expansion team of having never been shut out.

That ended Saturday when Jim Palmer of Baltimore blanked them, but the Pilots wasted little time returning to their good old ways, scoring five runs in the first inning yesterday en route to a 7-5 victory over the Orioles.

Jim Lonborg also continued to look like the pitcher he was in the past by hurling Boston to an 8-2 victory over Kansas City.

In other games, Washington beat Minnesota 7-5 in 12 innings and Cleveland blanked California 3-0 before losing 3-2. Oakland was rained out at Detroit.

OUT OF JAM

Stottlemyre, 9-4, the best Yankee pitcher since the days of Mantle's prime years, gave up a run in the second inning, worked out of a bases loaded jam in the third and didn't allow a hit for the last six innings.

Joe Pepitone, resembling the sluggers who won pennants for the Yanks of yesteryear, supplied the power with his 13th homer of the season with two on in the fourth off loser Gerry Nyman, 2-2.

After the between-game ceremonies in which Mantle's No. 7 uniform was officially retired, Burbach, 3-4, took over. He gave up only a third inning homer to Ed Hermann and a run in the eighth and started a decisive five-run fifth inning with a double.

Marin Swim Relay Team Sets 8th National Mark

Marin Swim Club's talented medley quartet of Cookie Arrighi, Anne Engel, Sue Secondo and Denise Ham — already listed seven times in national age group record books — broke a "barrier" yesterday in setting their eighth national mark in an Amateur Athletic Union meet at DeAnza College, Cupertino.

Swimming the 400-meter medley event in 4 minutes, 58 seconds, the Marin 13-14 year-olds became the first relay group at any age level ever to crack the "five minute barrier." Former national record of 5:00.2 was held by Santa Clara Swim Club since 1967.

Spencer Eldred (11-12 age group) led all Marin S.C. swimmers in individual scoring with a first in the 200 individual medley, second in 100 breast and fifth in 100 free.

Other Marin club scorers: Miss Ham, second, fifth and sixth places; Miss Arrighi, third, fourth and fifth; Miss Secondo, third; Miss Engel, two places.

Tamalpais Swim Club's Vicki Bitgood was another individual winner from Marin in the meet which attracted 50 teams. She won the 15-17 girls 100-meter breaststroke and placed in every other event in which she competed.

Sohner Loses

Sebastopol defeated Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo 5-4 in 10 innings Friday night in their playoff for the first half championship of the Petaluma Softball League. The teams had tied for the title with 5-1 won-lost records.

Fergy Jenkins and Bill Hands of the Chicago Cubs each yielded 26 home runs last season, most in the National League.

Giants Take Time Off For College

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The resurgent San Francisco Giants went to college today—to hit baseballs not books—and looked to the future for the beginning of a two-game series with the torrid New York Mets tomorrow night. The Mets are on a 10-game winning streak.

Manager Clyde King's charges, who often win on the long ball of Willie McCovey, utilized a perfect bunt by his replacement to produce their fifth straight trumph yesterday, a 12-inning 9-8 thriller over Philadelphia.

Yesterday's victory was triggered when Phillies' reliever Al Raffo walked Bobby Bonds and Ken Henderson opening the 12th inning. Bob Burda, who took over first base for the ailing McCovey in the sixth, then bunted down the third base line.

Raffo charged off the mound, threw to third, but the sliding Bonds beat the throw. With the bases loaded, Davenport cracked the first pitch into right center for his fifth game winning blow of the season.

"I just didn't want to get behind Raffo, so I made up my mind to go after the first couple of pitches," explained Davenport.

"The old pro came through," praised King. "That sure was a beautiful bunt by Burda, but Bonds' hustle getting into third base made the play work."

"I hurt my hip," said the disconsolate McCovey.

Richie Allen belted a solo homer for Philadelphia in the first and his two-run blast highlighted a four-run rally in the fourth. The homers were his 14th and 15th of the season.

Hal Lanier, extending his batting streak to nine games, hit a two-run double as the Giants scored three runs in the bottom of the fourth for a 5-5 tie.

Mike Ryan's homer placed the Phils ahead in the seventh, but Willie May's two-run job, his eighth, featured a three-run rally in the eighth. Larry Hisle's two-run homer produced the tie off winner Frank Linzy in the ninth.

NOVATO'S ACE DILLON ON NORTH STARS TEAM

Russ Dillon, who pitched Novato High School to the Marin County Athletic League baseball championship, has been selected to play in the first North-South California All-Star high school baseball game June 21 at San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

The announcement was made this morning by Al Endriss of Redwood High School who will help coach Dillon and 15 other Northern California senior standouts against their Southern California counterparts in the game which will benefit the Joe DiMaggio League program.

Small Crowd Makes Sears Official Groan

Sears Point International Raceway officials announced yesterday's crowd for the late model stock car races at approximately 9,000, but I think the vice president in charge of counting bodies must have flunked math. Or he writes figures with a fork.

It looked more like 5,000 or 6,000. Any figure you pick, however, still falls considerably short of the anticipated 15,000. "Very disturbing," groaned track president Bob Marshall.

A number of reasons for the financial bust were advanced, most popular of which was the weather. Although it stayed dry at the Point, rain fell in much of the Bay Area, convincing many racing fans that a journey to Sears would be pointless.

A Sports Car Club of American official on hand offered another explanation. "NASCAR racing hasn't matured yet on the Pacific Coast," he said. "It's big down south, but in this territory sports car racing is the big drawing card. Except for the main event, NASCAR doesn't offer much of a show. That business of qualifying one car at a time is rather boring. They should liven up the program, put on some novice races during intermission."

Price Is Rather Steep

Also, the tariff is rather steep — $6 a person. A man, wife and couple of teenagers could throw the family budget into a mess.

Yesterday's main event was as exciting as I had expected. It's quite a sight to see 26 late model cars representing some 50 tons of Detroit iron roaring into sharp curves at breakneck speed.

Winner Ray Elder, a 5-foot, 11-inch, 235-pound farmer, emerged without a scratch on his blue and white Dodge Charger. Of course he was so far out in front most of the afternoon you couldn't have hit him with a cannon.

Racing Is Family Matter

A pleasant, 26-year-old farmer, from Caruthers, 15 miles south of Fresno, Elder has one of racing's largest pit crews. There were a dozen "Racing Farmers" there yesterday but Ray's brudder, Little Richard, said: "Aw, we've got a lot more'n that. Shucks, we've got about 25 or 30 relatives and friends working for us." The family has 240 acres of cotton, alfalfa and blackeyed peas farmland.

Richard, the younger Elder, estimated that the car driven by Ray, the older Elder, and owned by papa Fred Elder, the eldest Elder, is worth about $20,000. "But that's just the car itself," he said. "If we got paid for the hours we worked on it the price would be much higher. Anyway, it takes a lot of victories to pay for it." Ray collected $2,910 yesterday, which cultivate a lot of blackeyed peas.

Hits 110 On Straightaway

The father of a young son and daughter, Ray Elder drove what track officials called "a perfect race." Averaging 66.8 mph and hitting 110 on the straightaways, he described the Sears road circuit as " . . . a little tight." Comparing it to the Riverside International Raceway, Elder said Sears is "tougher on the driver but easier on equipment." Except tires, perhaps.

In victory lane, mingled among the cheers of the crowd, was a noticeable hiss. Elder's left rear tire, which bare cord all during the homestretch, went flat on the bottom. "I knew it was about to go," he laughed. "The pit signalled me by signboard that it was going, but we couldn't take time for a pit stop so I just prayed. I couldn't have gone another lap at racing speed."

A Cramp In His Right Leg

Most NASCAR racing is done on banked, oval tracks, so the twisting, hilly Sears course is a unique challenge. "Only trouble I had," said Ray, "was a cramp in my right leg."

He brought along a thermos of ice water on the 150-mile Sunday drive. "At Riverside," he laughed, "they gave me a jug of Coke and I got a bellyache."

After yesterday's victory, however, he polished off a good portion of a magnum of champagne, the race being sponsored by Weible Champagne Vinyards.

Ray also got a number of smooches from lovely race queen Lani Miller, until Mrs. Ray Elder arrived on the scene to take over the mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Farmer Plows To Sears Point Win

Ray Elder Captures Stock Car Honors

I-J Sports Editor

Ray Elder, a 26-year-old alfalfa, cotton and blackeyed peas farmer from Caruthers, Fresno County, plowed his 1969 Dodge Charger around the Sears Point International Raceway yesterday to harvest $2,910 of prize money as the victor of the 150-mile late model stock car race sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

Under threatening skies and in view of a disappointingly small crowd announced (generously) at 9,000 spectators, the hefty Elder and his blue and white Charger led for 54 of the 60 laps, finishing 17 seconds ahead of Norwalk's Jim Cook in a 1968 Ford Galaxie who won $1,000 for second. Third place money of $800 went to Marty Kinerk of Tucson, Ariz. in his 1967 Chevrolet Chevelle.

Lady Luck was a passenger with Elder because he finished the torrid race around the 12-turn, 2.5-mile road circuit on a tire that bared cord. "I couldn't have gone another lap at racing speed," he said afterwards, "and if I pitted for a change I would have lost."

TAKES LEAD

The victory in his 4,000-pound Charger also boosted Elder into undisputed first place in the NASCAR Pacific Coast Division's season-long points championship. Runner-up in final standings of 1966, '67 and '68, Elder had been tied for the 1969 lead with Ranny Dodd of Newhall, Los Angeles County, until his 100-point triumph yesterday moved him 42 points ahead of the closest pursuer.

Another major letdown was suffered by Jack McCoy of Modesto, the 1966 Pacific Coast champion who set a track qualifying record of 1 minute, 58.45 seconds (77 mph) yesterday morning. But on the first lap of the main event McCoy's '69 Dodge Charger lost its fan belt and things got progressively worse. He limped home on three cylinders in ninth place.

Elder, who won the pole position Saturday with a 1:57.99 qualifying run, made three pit stops, two for refueling and one to clean his windshield of oil deposited there by the blown engine of Portland's Dick Bown. The Oregonian had taken the lead during an Elder pit-stop and held it for four laps until his mishap. His rear wheels locked, spinning him off the road at turn number one in a spectacular cloud of smoke and dust as Elder whizzed by to take the lead for keeps.

The only other driver to take the lead from Elder was Kinerk who led two laps.

12 FINISH

Twenty-six cars started but only 12 were still running at the finish.

Big Sweep For San Rafael

Combining the unbeatable ingredients of sharp pitching, power hitting and a nearly impeccable defense, the San Rafael Braves opened the California State Semi-Professional Baseball Tournament with a bang over the weekend, scoring two impressive victories in the regional competition.

Saturday night Manager Joe Anselmo's Braves overcame an early 2-0 deficit to bury the Santa Rosa Athletics 14-3 at Santa Rosa and yesterday, in a light drizzle in Alameda, they walloped the Oakland Tigers 10-3. The double elimination tournament continues weekends through June 28 with the regional winner advancing to Eureka for the state finals.

ELIMINATED

Alameda, one of the pretourney favorites, lost two games over the weekend to be eliminated, leaving San Rafael as one of the favorites with its 2-0 won-lost record.

Starting San Rafael pitcher Bill Clark got off to a shaky start Saturday night as Santa Rosa nicked him for two first inning runs, but he settled down to pitch a seven-hitter while his muscular mates bombarded two pitchers for 18 hits. Leading the assault were Wayne Burd with a three-run home run and two-run double; Art Blunt with a two-run homer and four rbi, and Doug Wilson and Mike Selland with three singles apiece.

Defensive gems were turned in by outfielder Wilson and shortstop Tom Corder. The game was abbreviated to seven innings because of the tournament's 10-run rule.

Yesterday's victory was led by catcher Rocky Shone who drove in four runs on two dou-

Second Guessing Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP) — Will they love Majestic Prince in September as they did in May?

Frank McMahon's big chestnut colt, who raced to spectacular victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness last month and into the hearts and imagination of the public, is no longer unbeaten and is not the Triple Crown champion his admirers hoped for.

5½ LENGTHS

Defeat, by 5½ lengths, came Saturday in the $147,800 Belmont Stakes and the conqueror was Rokeby Stable's Arts and Letters, the Prince's victim by a neck in the Derby and by a head in the Preakness.

Who's better?—a question that now has a solid foundation considering Arts and Letters' romp in the tough, 1½-mile Belmont compared to Majestic Prince's narrow victories in the shorter Derby and Preakness.

The answer should start coming in the late summer or fall when the two colts return to the races after being rested.

"Maybe we're the champion after all," trainer Elliott Burch, who, with Arts and Letters, scored his third Belmont victory, said yesterday. "We lost the first two by less than a half length and won this one by 5½.

HE'LL BE BACK

"It was one of those things," said Johnny Longden, trainer of Majestic Prince. "I still think we have a good horse, and he'll be back in the fall."

The Belmont had no sooner ended, with Dike, Distray, Rooney's Shield and Prime Fool following the Big Two under the wire, than the second guessing started.

Was Bill Hartack, aboard Majestic Prince, fooled by the exceedingly slow pace? Was the distance too much for the Prince? Was he fit?

"The colt just relaxed too much on Bill without him realizing it," said Longden. "There's no doubt Hartack should have been closer to such a slow pace, but I'm not blaming anybody."

However, television commentator Eddie Arcaro, like Longden a former great jockey, said:

TRAPPED

Hartack, who would not comment, kept Majestic Prince off the pace even after Arts and Letters had taken the lead and by the time Prince made his challenge, the winner and jockey Braulio Baeza were too far in front. The time was 2:28 4-5, far off the track and stakes record of 2:26 3-5 by Gallant Man in 1957.

Four Games Open DiMag League Slate

Pete Cooney collected two hits and drove in both runs to lead the Italian Club to a 2-1 victory over Annex Motors yesterday at Novato High in the closest game on the Marin County Area Joe DiMaggio Baseball League's season-opening schedule.

In other games:

Bill Kelly pitched a four-hitter, striking out seven and Tom Olson drove home three runs on a double and two singles to give Toby's Truckers a 7-1 victory over the Mill Valley Chiefs;

RUNS 3:55.9 MILE

Ryun Hopes To Beat Keino

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Ryun hopes Kenya's Kip Keino returns to Los Angeles for a race in July during the U.S.-British Commonwealth - Russia track and field meet.

The Kansas University senior made that clear after running his first sub-four-minute mile of 1969 with a 3:55.9 in the Coliseum - Compton Invitational on Saturday night, fastest in the world this year.

SAME TRACK

Ryun toured the same Memorial Coliseum track where he set the world record for 1,500 meters in 1967 at 3:33.1, with Keino placing second. A year later, in the metric mile at Mexico City in the Olympics, Keino came out victorious with his best time ever—3:34.9.

Ryun placed second in 3:37.8.

That was at the mile-plus altitude so familiar to Keino and now Ryun hopes Kenya will join the British Commonwealth team for the triangular meet at sea level July 18-19.

"Before Saturday's race, I was apprehensive about the whole season," explained Ryun who also holds the world mile record but who has been hampered by ailments including a sore knee this spring.

LOOKS FORWARD

"Now I am looking forward to all the races—especially that international meet. If everything goes right, it would be nice to run against Kip Keino again."

The mile run proved the highlight of the Saturday night meet before 10,269 fans. There were other outstanding performances but in the mile, all five of the top finishers eclipsed four minutes. The four runners behind Ryun each posted his career best—Sam Bair, 3:56.7; Martin Liquori, 3:57.6; Frank Murphy, 3:58.1! and John Lawson, 3:59.3.

Arizona State's Chuck La Benz, whose 3:58.4 a week ago in Berkeley had been the world's fastest this year, wasn't a threat this time, finishing seventh in the nine man field.

MEET RECORD

Jay Silvester set the only meet record with a discus throw of 208-2 bettering his own 204-4 of 1963. Ryun's time wasn't a record since he had run a 3:53.2 in 1967.

Bob Seagren and John Pennel continued their so far unsuccessful assault on 18-feet in the pole vault with each missing three times. They had cleared a meet record equalling 17-6¼ with Seagren the winner on the basis of fewer misses.

Sounds ridiculous, doesn't it?

But what if everybody in this country were to throw their hands up in despair and say they don't give a hoot.

That's right, a U.S. Savings Bond.

If everybody were to buy just one $25.00 Savings Bond (cost $18.75), your country would be stronger economically to wipe out some of those scars we've been sporting.

Of course, everybody would be helping themselves, too. If you were to sign up on a Bond purchase plan where you work or bank, you'd have quite a nice nest egg for yourself one of these days.

You'd have a lot more dollars in the kitty for things like college educations, that new home, or a secure retirement.

So think about a U.S. Savings Bond today.

Tomorrow.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.

HE'S LOOKING AHEAD

Bill Casper Wins Western Open

MIDLOTHIAN, Ill. (AP) — Buffalo Billy Casper set his sights on a third United States Open golf championship today, his confidence bubbling, his game in great shape and his troublesome allergy problems subsiding.

"This sets me up very well for the Open," the one-time fat man said yesterday after shooting a brilliant, four-under-par 67 and winning the $26,000 first prize in the Western Open by four strokes on the water-logged Midlothian Country Club course.

CONFIDENCE

"I'm driving the ball very well, and long for me," the 37-year-old master said. "I hit a lot of good irons. And it gives you a great deal of confidence to roll in some putts like I did."

"Does winning this one make you the man to beat in the Open?" someone asked.

Billy laughed.

"Sure, if..." he said. "If I continue to drive the ball well, hit my irons real good, chip well and can drop some long putts, well, I'll be pretty hard to beat."

That formula, near-perfect golf, was his combination in winning his third Western title, one of the most prestigious in the country and second in age only to the U.S. Open, which will be played this week in Houston.

"When I teed off, I was surprised we were playing," Casper said.

Casper, who won his 43rd tour victory, pushed his career money winnings to $957,000. He finished with a 72-hole total of 276, four strokes in front of long-shot Rocky Thompson, in second with a 69 for 280.

Third-round leader Frank Beard fell to a 74 for 281 and third place, followed by England's Peter Townsend, 72 for 283. They were the only men to beat par for the tournament.

South African Gary Player, 72, was one of five at par 284. PGA champ Julius Boros had a 72 for 285; Masters champ George Archer 73 for 287, U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino a 73 for 288, defending champion Jack Nicklaus a 73 for 291.

Casper, winner of the Bob Hope Desert Classic early this year, but playing relatively poorly in recent weeks, said he may have solved some of the allergy problems that have plagued him.

"I'm going to Houston fortified," he said. "I've been living with a doctor for a week and a half and we think we may have worked something out."

Namath Remains A Restaurateur

NEW YORK (AP) — A new week began today for Joe Namath, restaurateur and retired quarterback. And the week began with the football world wondering if things may change and he might become a playing quarterback and former restaurateur.

"I doubt if things can be resolved," Namath said yesterday as he prepared to go to the West Coast on business, which includes some movie making.

"I doubt if I will play again."

The New York Jets' signal caller appeared determined to stick to his belief that it was wrong for pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle to order him to sell his interest in Bachelors III, because the New York nightspot reportedly was frequented by undesirable persons.

"Pete is right in a way if he thinks people who come into my place are gamblers and are bad for football," Namath said. "But I can't believe that. I haven't done anything wrong, and they admit it."

Namath also said he is distressed that it has been reported he was drinking the night he made his decision to retire in face of the Rozelle ultimatum.

STATEMENT

Rozelle, in a statement following Namath's retirement announcement Friday, said, "It is obviously impossible for a player to be aware of the background and habits of all persons to whom he is introduced.

"However, continuation of such associations after learning of a person's undesirable background and habits is cause for deep concern. Such conduct gives the appearance of evil, whether or not it actually exists, and thereby affects the player's reputation, the reputation of the fellow players and the integrity of the sport."

Rozelle also said, "At 7:15 p.m. last (Thursday) night, this office was advised by Namath's attorney that his interests were in the process of being sold and that this would be accomplished by 10 a.m. today (Friday)."

CHANGE IN PLANS

In a period between 7:15 p.m. Thursday night and some four hours later, Namath changed his mind. Why?

"I didn't change my mind," Namath said. "We were going to sell even later than 7:15. We had papers drawn up, but all the while I wasn't sure it was the right thing to do.

"A lot has been written that I was drinking with people that night. That's wrong. I wasn't drinking. This was a little stronger decision I was making than to be drinking.

Alcindor Apologizes For Punch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Alcindor, three-time UCLA All-American basketball star, has apologized for punching Los Angeles Stars' center Dennis Grey but Grey, his jaw shattered isn't talking.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1½ agile giant who led the Bruins to three straight national titles, sent Grey of the American Basketball Association Stars reeling Saturday during a pick-up basketball game. The blow sent Grey to a local hospital where a two-hour operation was required to set the broken bones.

AT GAME'S END

Grey said the altercation came after Lew had made a stuff shot to end the game at the Hamilton High School gymnasium. He said Alcindor suddenly lashed out. A few words were exchanged and Alcindor, unaware of the injury he had caused, left.

"I told him it was only a game," Grey said. "I told him that if he couldn't take it in a game like that, he would be killed if he tried it with (Wilt) Chamberlain or (Bill) Russell."

Grey admitted there had been physical contact between players during the game and admitted using "my forearm to try to keep him away from the basket."

APOLOGY

Alcindor, when informed of the seriousness of the injury, called the hospital and apologized. He said he would pay all medical expenses.

"I was provoked," said Lew. "I regret very much that I reacted the way I did. I am sorry for what happened."

Alcindor has signed a $1.4 million contract for next season with the Milwaukee Bucks.

Warren Davis, a Star teammate of Grey, said the game was the last one of the day and "the last one sometimes gets a little rough because the players are getting a little tired but there's never been a fight—this wasn't a fight, either."

EXCHANGE WORDS

Mauch Finally Kicks A Habit

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mauch, long-suffering manager of the National League expansion club, stationed himself on the coaching line for the first time this season yesterday . . . and the Expos promptly broke their near-record losing streak at 20 games by squeezing past Los Angeles 4-3.

THE BEST

"I decided I'd try it while I was driving home last night," the Expos' skipper said of his decision to quit the dugout for the third base coach's box. "I was the best third base coach I ever saw when I was in the minors.

"If I thought it would help, I'd coach both first and third base at the same time."

Rookie right-hander Jerry Robertson, backed by Rusty Staub's two-run homer and Mack Jones' bases-empty blast, posted his first major league victory as the Expos ended their tailspin three losses short of the all-time mark . . . set by Mauch's 1961 Philadelphia Phillies.

METS STREAK

The New York Mets ran their unbeaten string to 10 games with a 3-2 comeback victory over San Diego; San Francisco stretched Philadelphia's losing skein to eight games with a 9-8 victory; Houston nipped St. Louis 2-1 in 11 innings and Atlanta swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 11-10 and 4-3.

Rain washed out the Cincinnati-Chicago Cubs game.

Reynaldo Brown of Compton, a member of the U.S. Olympic team as a junior, went seven feet in the high jump for the first time this year to equal his state record set last year.

Ruben Chappins of Excelsior of Norwalk, one of three 1968 titlists to repeat, won the two-mile run in 8:57.0, a state record.

MICKEY MANTLE HONORED

Yanks Play Like Old Days

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Good pitching, not Mickey Mantle Day, inspired the New York Yankees to play like the Yankees of old. And it also served as an inspiration for the new Seattle Pilots to play like the Pilots of old.

With many former great Yankees and the largest crowd in the majors this season—60,096—on hand to do honor to Mantle, the Yankees swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 3-1 and 11-2 yesterday.

But Manager Ralph Houk dismissed any thoughts that Mantle's presence had anything to do with the twin victories that boosted the Yankees to .500 for the first time since May 1.

"The inspiration comes when you get good pitching," Houk said, referring to Mel Stottlemyre's three-hitter and a six-hitter by rookie Mili Burbach.

The Pilots, however, have no glorious past or former stars like the Yankees, but for the first 49 games of their existence, they had compiled the remarkable record for an expansion team of having never been shut out.

That ended Saturday when Jim Palmer of Baltimore blanked them, but the Pilots wasted little time returning to their good old ways, scoring five runs in the first inning yesterday en route to a 7-5 victory over the Orioles.

Jim Lonborg also continued to look like the pitcher he was in the past by hurling Boston to an 8-2 victory over Kansas City.

In other games, Washington beat Minnesota 7-5 in 12 innings and Cleveland blanked California 3-0 before losing 3-2. Oakland was rained out at Detroit.

OUT OF JAM

Stottlemyre, 9-4, the best Yankee pitcher since the days of Mantle's prime years, gave up a run in the second inning, worked out of a bases loaded jam in the third and didn't allow a hit for the last six innings.

Joe Pepitone, resembling the sluggers who won pennants for the Yanks of yesteryear, supplied the power with his 13th homer of the season with two on in the fourth off loser Gerry Nyman, 2-2.

After the between-game ceremonies in which Mantle's No. 7 uniform was officially retired, Burbach, 3-4, took over. He gave up only a third inning homer to Ed Hermann and a run in the eighth and started a decisive five-run fifth inning with a double.

Quartet Wins Best Ball Golf At Marin C.C.

The quartet of Al Morris, Don May, Mark Sanford and Kai Thomsen netted 55 strokes Saturday to win low net honors in the Marin Country Club's best ball foursome golf tournament at Novato.

Other leading teams: Jim Wieder, Guy Baty, Jim O'Donnell, Norv MacDonald, 56; Walt Kessler, Theodore Gallagher, Gerard Domilise, James Dodd, 56; Al Harlen, Ernest Blum, Richard Bibbero, Jim Bibbero, 58.

BILL D'ALVERY shot 77-19 — 58 to win the Mill Valley Golf Club Vice President Day tournament yesterday on the municipal course. He was followed by Keeler Nash, 73-14 — 59; Dave Balotti, 79-20 — 59, and Dr. David Schmidt, 75-15 — 60.

Baseball averages were first compiled in 1865.

Marin Swim Relay Team Sets 8th National Mark

Marin Swim Club's talented medley quartet of Cookie Arrighi, Anne Engel, Sue Secondo and Denise Ham — already listed seven times in national age group record books — broke a "barrier" yesterday in setting their eighth national mark in an Amateur Athletic Union meet at DeAnza College, Cupertino.

Swimming the 400-meter medley event in 4 minutes, 58 seconds, the Marin 13-14 year-olds became the first relay group at any age level ever to crack the "five minute barrier." Former national record of 5:00.2 was held by Santa Clara Swim Club since 1967.

Spencer Eldred (11-12 age group) led all Marin S.C. swimmers in individual scoring with a first in the 200 individual medley, second in 100 breast and fifth in 100 free.

Other Marin club scorers: Miss Ham, second, fifth and sixth places; Miss Arrighi, third, fourth and fifth; Miss Secondo, third; Miss Engel, two places.

Tamalpais Swim Club's Vicki Bitgood was another individual winner from Marin in the meet which attracted 50 teams. She won the 15-17 girls 100-meter breaststroke and placed in every other event in which she competed.

Sohner Loses

Sebastopol defeated Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo 5-4 in 10 innings Friday night in their playoff for the first half championship of the Petaluma Softball League. The teams had tied for the title with 5-1 won-lost records.

Fergy Jenkins and Bill Hands of the Chicago Cubs each yielded 26 home runs last season, most in the National League.

Today is Monday, June 9, the 160th day of 1969 with 205 to follow.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1942 Selective Service officials issued a new order placing men with children last on the World War II conscription list.

A thought for the day: Henrik Ibsen said, "A community is like a ship—every one ought to be prepared to take the helm."

Larkspur Planners To Hear Variance

The Larkspur Planning Commission will hold hearings at 8 p.m. tomorrow on variance applications for tandem parking from John S. Russell at 545 South Eliseo Drive and Everett Pezoldt at 557 South Eliseo Drive.

Also on the agenda are an application from Humingbird Hill Co. for approval of general plans for 54 apartments at 3 Via Hidalgo and discussion of a proposal to change the name of North Industrial Way to Rich Street.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Sound Rule: Avoid Drawing Trumps When Dummy Can Ruff

One of the basic principales of playing a hand at a trump contract is to ruff losers in the dummy when dummy has shortness in a side suit combined with length in trumps. Don't draw the trumps in such cases until after you have ruffed your losers.

HEART SETUP

You take the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds in order to return a heart at once. You expect to lose one diamond and two hearts, but you plan to ruff your third low heart with one of dummy's trumps.

An opponent wins and returns a trump in a belated attempt to get the trumps out of dummy. You win with dummy's nine of trumps and lead the other heart. The opponents win and lead another trump to your ace.

But now you have won the race. You can lead your last heart and ruff with dummy's jack of trumps. You get back with the ace of clubs to draw the last missing trump, and then you claim your contract.

ONE ROUND FATAL

You would lose your game if you drew even one round of trumps before leading hearts. West would take the first heart with the king and would lead a second trump. This would allow East to win the second heart and lead a third round of trumps, removing the last trump from the dummy. Now you would lose three hearts and one diamond.

COULD DEFEAT

West could defeat you by his own efforts if he opened a trump instead of the king of diamonds. However, any defender who finds this brilliant opening lead has X-ray eyes and should study medicine in order to make the maximum contribution to humanity with his great gift.

The point to remember is that if you begin such a hand by drawing trumps you are playing the opponents' game. You should bet on them instead of on your own side.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens the bidding with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—8 7 4
♡—Q J 10 8 7
♦—9 8 3
♣—7 3

What do yousay?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts or pass.

The hand is not really worth a response, but the argument for a raise is that you may just barely manage to keep the opponent out of the auction. Your partner should be able to win only one heart trick at most on defense, and the opponents may therefore be able to make a high contract in some other suit if they can just get into the bidding.

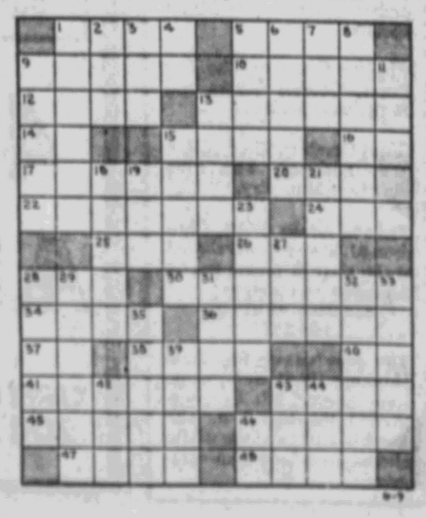
Saturday's Answer



The manta ray, or devil fish, can crush man or boat with powerful pectoral fins. But its major prey is the tiny shrimp.

Second Guessing Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP) — Will they love Majestic Prince in September as they did in May?

Frank McMahon's big chestnut colt, who raced to spectacular victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness last month and into the hearts and imagination of the public, is no longer unbeaten and is not the Triple Crown champion his admirers hoped for.

5½ LENGTHS

Defeat, by 5½ lengths, came Saturday in the $147,800 Belmont Stakes and the conqueror was Rokeby Stable's Arts and Letters, the Prince's victim by a neck in the Derby and by a head in the Preakness.

Who's better?—a question that now has a solid foundation considering Arts and Letters' romp in the tough, 1½-mile Belmont compared to Majestic Prince's narrow victories in the shorter Derby and Preakness.

The answer should start coming in the late summer or fall when the two colts return to the races after being rested.

"Maybe we're the champion after all," trainer Elliott Burch, who, with Arts and Letters, scored his third Belmont victory, said yesterday. "We lost the first two by less than a half length and won this one by 5½.

HE'LL BE BACK

"It was one of those things," said Johnny Longden, trainer of Majestic Prince. "I still think we have a good horse, and he'll be back in the fall."

The Belmont had no sooner ended, with Dike, Distray, Rooney's Shield and Prime Fool following the Big Two under the wire, than the second guessing started.

Was Bill Hartack, aboard Majestic Prince, fooled by the exceedingly slow pace? Was the distance too much for the Prince? Was he fit?

"The colt just relaxed too much on Bill without him realizing it," said Longden. "There's no doubt Hartack should have been closer to such a slow pace, but I'm not blaming anybody."

However, television commentator Eddie Arcaro, like Longden a former great jockey, said:

TRAPPED

Hartack, who would not comment, kept Majestic Prince off the pace even after Arts and Letters had taken the lead and by the time Prince made his challenge, the winner and jockey Braulio Baeza were too far in front. The time was 2:28 4-5, far off the track and stakes record of 2:26 3-5 by Gallant Man in 1957.

Walks, wild pitches, errors and passed balls helped the Presidio wallop Healdsburg 17-4;

Holiday Magic was held to two hits but capitalized on 12 walks to beat Herb's Pool Service 4-0.

RUNS 3:55.9 MILE

Ryun Hopes To Beat Keino

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Ryun hopes Kenya's Kip Keino returns to Los Angeles for a race in July during the U.S.-British Commonwealth - Russia track and field meet.

The Kansas University senior made that clear after running his first sub-four-minute mile of 1969 with a 3:55.9 in the Coliseum - Compton Invitational on Saturday night, fastest in the world this year.

SAME TRACK

Ryun toured the same Memorial Coliseum track where he set the world record for 1,500 meters in 1967 at 3:33.1, with Keino placing second. A year later, in the metric mile at Mexico City in the Olympics, Keino came out victorious with his best time ever—3:34.9.

Ryun placed second in 3:37.8.

That was at the mile-plus altitude so familiar to Keino and now Ryun hopes Kenya will join the British Commonwealth team for the triangular meet at sea level July 18-19.

"Before Saturday's race, I was apprehensive about the whole season," explained Ryun who also holds the world mile record but who has been hampered by ailments including a sore knee this spring.

LOOKS FORWARD

"Now I am looking forward to all the races—especially that international meet. If everything goes right, it would be nice to run against Kip Keino again."

The mile run proved the highlight of the Saturday night meet before 10,269 fans. There were other outstanding performances but in the mile, all five of the top finishers eclipsed four minutes. The four runners behind Ryun each posted his career best—Sam Bair, 3:56.7; Martin Liquori, 3:57.6; Frank Murphy, 3:58.1! and John Lawson, 3:59.3.

Arizona State's Chuck La Benz, whose 3:58.4 a week ago in Berkeley had been the world's fastest this year, wasn't a threat this time, finishing seventh in the nine man field.

MEET RECORD

Jay Silvester set the only meet record with a discus throw of 208-2 bettering his own 204-4 of 1963. Ryun's time wasn't a record since he had run a 3:53.2 in 1967.

Juan Martinez of Mexico continued his undefeated United States campaign with a 13:46.6 in the 5,000 meters, beating Tracy Smith by a second with a final drive in the last 200 meters.

Bob Seagren and John Pennel continued their so far unsuccessful assault on 18-feet in the pole vault with each missing three times. They had cleared a meet record equalling 17-6¼ with Seagren the winner on the basis of fewer misses.

John Carlos proved the only double but his times of 9.5 in the 100 and 20.7 in the 220 weren't up to his usual standards.

Sounds ridiculous, doesn't it?

But what if everybody in this country were to throw their hands up in despair and say they don't give a hoot.

Indeed, there would be no tomorrow.

But fortunately, Americans have a way of solving their problems.

And that's just what's going to happen in these troubled times. Simply because it's always been an American tradition.

Now, how can you, as one little ole citizen in this big, wide country of ours, be of any help?

That's right, a U.S. Savings Bond.

If everybody were to buy just one $25.00 Savings Bond (cost $18.75), your country would be stronger economically to wipe out some of those scars we've been sporting.

Of course, everybody would be helping themselves, too. If you were to sign up on a Bond purchase plan where you work or bank, you'd have quite a nice nest egg for yourself one of these days.

You'd have a lot more dollars in the kitty for things like college educations, that new home, or a secure retirement.

So think about a U.S. Savings Bond today.

Tomorrow.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Price Not Always A Reliable Guage

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Most of my earnings — I am a high school student — have been invested rather hastily I am afraid. My holdings are: Atlas Corp., California Financial and P & F Industries. Although they have been stable, I am concerned whether they have long-range merit. — H. F.

A. It is obvious that price was an important factor in your selection. As you may now realize, this is not a reliable yardstick for measuring a company's potential.

Atlas Corp., with the poorest earnings record of the three, may work out for you. Loss operations in mercury and asbestos have been discontinued, fixed price delivery of uranium to the AEC has been cut sharply, a commercial contract for 700,000 lb. of uranium has been negotiated and additional shares in a service business will be acquired.

California Financial reported improved earnings of 15 cents a share in the March quarter. Mortgage demand is strong and this holding company is not dependent on out-of-state savings accounts, so prospects are favorable.

P&F has made — or agreed to make — six acquisitions thus far this year, with eight completed last year. The most recent earnings report was for the nine months through September when net dropped 40 per cent.

Q. I am enclosing an article about a split in Xerox shares. When would you have to buy to get the extra shares? Does the price go way down after the split? — E. D.

A. Stockholders approved a 3-for-1 split in Xerox shares payable June 17 to stockholders of record May 16. However, in this case shares will be traded on both an old and a when-issued basis until the "ex-dividend" date, June 18. Although the share price will "go down" after the split in order to compensate for the additional shares, your total ownership in the company remains unchanged. In other words, whether you buy 100 shares at $30 or 300 shares at $10, you have still invested $3,000 either way.

NEW MINICAR ON SCENE

This Subaru 360 Sport Car from Japan, now being handled by Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley, made its debut in this country in March at the New York Automobile Show. It offers bucket seats, special odometer and tacometer, two-tone paint job and weighs only 925 pounds. Economy performance of 66 miles per gallon is claimed.

Prime Rate Action Sets Stocks Back

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices on the stock market moved lower today on news the cost of borrowing money is going up.

Two major New York City banks announced shortly before the market opening they were boosting the prime rate by a point. The market opened slightly lower but, as the rate boost found supporters in the rest of the banking industry, the market skid accelerated.

A few issues advanced on the impetus of a pleasant corporate news. McDonnell Douglas was in the plus column with news it had won a $500-million order to make 36 air buses for four European airlines. Witco Chemical, announcing price increases, added a fraction.

Steels and autos moved lower, generally in fractions. Most chemicals also were losers.

Near the close, electronics were particularly hard hit, with many issues losing a point or more. IBM lost 2 3-4. Honeywell gave up 2. Collins Radio and Litton Industries each surrendered more than 1.

Building mateerials issues declined. Armstrong Cork and Georgia-Pacific Corp. each moved a point lower. U.S. Gypsum gave up 1 1-8.

Ross Hospital Building Own Pharmaceuticals Factory

For several years a producer of many pharmaceuticals for its own use and for other institutions, Ross General Hospital soon will have a separate facility for this manufacturing operation.

A new 13,000-square-foot building designed by Wagstaff and MacDonald and engineered by Schaaf and Jacobs, Inc. is under construction on Paul Drive at Northgate Industrial Park. Contractor Al Villa expects to have it completed by July 1. The hospital's laundry will also be nearby.

According to A. H. Angelini, director of pharmacy, most of the production will be in intravenous and irrigating solutions. Other lines which have been developed will also be expanded. Among these are lotions, ointments, bulk hospital solutions for sterilization and sterilized water for inhalation uses.

Today is Monday, June 9, the 160th day of 1969 with 205 to follow.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1942 Selective Service officials issued a new order placing men with children last on the World War II conscription list.

In 1943 Congress passed an act providing for "pay-as-you-go" income tax deductions, authorizing employers to withhold payments from weekly salary checks.

A thought for the day: Henrik Ibsen said. "A community is like a ship—every one ought to be prepared to take the helm."

Larkspur Planners To Hear Variance

The Larkspur Planning Commission will hold hearings at 8 p.m. tomorrow on variance applications for tandem parking from John S. Russell at 545 South Eliseo Drive and Everett Pezoldt at 557 South Eliseo Drive.

Also on the agenda are an application from Humingbird Hill Co. for approval of general plans for 54 apartments at 3 Via Hidalgo and discussion of a proposal to change the name of North Industrial Way to Rich Street.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Sound Rule: Avoid Drawing Trumps When Dummy Can Ruff

One of the basic principales of playing a hand at a trump contract is to ruff losers in the dummy when dummy has shortness in a side suit combined with length in trumps. Don't draw the trumps in such cases until after you have ruffed your losers.

Opening lead — ◇ K

HEART SETUP

You take the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds in order to return a heart at once. You expect to lose one diamond and two hearts, but you plan to ruff your third low heart with one of dummy's trumps.

An opponent wins and returns a trump in a belated attempt to get the trumps out of dummy. You win with dummy's nine of trumps and lead the other heart. The opponents win and lead another trump to your ace.

But now you have won the race. You can lead your last heart and ruff with dummy's jack of trumps. You get back with the ace of clubs to draw the last missing trump, and then you claim your contract.

ONE ROUND FATAL

You would lose your game if you drew even one round of trumps before leading hearts. West would take the first heart with the king and would lead a second trump. This would allow East to win the second heart and lead a third round of trumps, removing the last trump from the dummy. Now you would lose three hearts and one diamond.

COULD DEFEAT

West could defeat you by his own efforts if he opened a trump instead of the king of diamonds. However, any defender who finds this brilliant opening lead has X-ray eyes and should study medicine in order to make the maximum contribution to humanity with his great gift.

The point to remember is that if you begin such a hand by drawing trumps you are playing the opponents' game. You should bet on them instead of on your own side.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens the bidding with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠—8 7 4
♡—Q J 10 8 7
♦—9 8 3
♣—7 3

What do yousay?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts or pass.

The hand is not really worth a response, but the argument for a raise is that you may just barely manage to keep the opponent out of the auction. Your partner should be able to win only one heart trick at most on defense, and the opponents may therefore be able to make a high contract in some other suit if they can just get into the bidding.

The manta ray, or devil fish, can crush man or boat with powerful pectoral fins. But its major prey is the tiny shrimp.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Price Not Always A Reliable Guage

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Most of my earnings — I am a high school student — have been invested rather hastily I am afraid. My holdings are: Atlas Corp., California Financial and P & F Industries. Although they have been stable, I am concerned whether they have long-range merit. — H. F.

A. It is obvious that price was an important factor in your selection. As you may now realize, this is not a reliable yardstick for measuring a company's potential.

Atlas Corp., with the poorest earnings record of the three, may work out for you. Loss operations in mercury and asbestos have been discontinued, fixed price delivery of uranium to the AEC has been cut sharply, a commercial contract for 700,000 lb. of uranium has been negotiated and additional shares in a service business will be acquired.

California Financial reported improved earnings of 15 cents a share in the March quarter. Mortgage demand is strong and this holding company is not dependent on out-of-state savings accounts, so prospects are favorable.

P&F has made — or agreed to make — six acquisitions thus far this year, with eight completed last year. The most recent earnings report was for the nine months through September when net dropped 40 per cent.

Q. I am enclosing an article about a split in Xerox shares. When would you have to buy to get the extra shares? Does the price go way down after the split? — E. D.

A. Stockholders approved a 3-for-1 split in Xerox shares payable June 17 to stockholders of record May 16. However, in this case shares will be traded on both an old and a when-issued basis until the "ex-dividend" date, June 18. Although the share price will "go down" after the split in order to compensate for the additional shares, your total ownership in the company remains unchanged. In other words, whether you buy 100 shares at $30 or 300 shares at $10, you have still invested $3,000 either way.

NEW MINICAR ON SCENE

This Subaru 360 Sport Car from Japan, now being handled by Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley, made its debut in this country in March at the New York Automobile Show. It offers bucket seats, special odometer and tacometer, two-tone paint job and weighs only 925 pounds. Economy performance of 66 miles per gallon is claimed.

Prime Rate Action Sets Stocks Back

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices on the stock market moved lower today on news the cost of borrowing money is going up.

Two major New York City banks announced shortly before the market opening they were boosting the prime rate by a point. The market opened slightly lower but, as the rate boost found supporters in the rest of the banking industry, the market skid accelerated.

A few issues advanced on the impetus of a pleasant corporate news. McDonnell Douglas was in the plus column with news it had won a $500-million order to make 36 air buses for four European airlines. Witco Chemical, announcing price increases, added a fraction.

Steels and autos moved lower, generally in fractions. Most chemicals also were losers.

Near the close, electronics were particularly hard hit, with many issues losing a point or more. IBM lost 2 3-4. Honeywell gave up 2. Collins Radio and Litton Industries each surrendered more than 1.

Building mateerials issues declined. Armstrong Cork and Georgia-Pacific Corp. each moved a point lower. U.S. Gypsum gave up 1 1-8.

Ross Hospital Building Own Pharmaceuticals Factory

For several years a producer of many pharmaceuticals for its own use and for other institutions, Ross General Hospital soon will have a separate facility for this manufacturing operation.

A new 13,000-square-foot building designed by Wagstaff and MacDonald and engineered by Schaaf and Jacobs, Inc. is under construction on Paul Drive at Northgate Industrial Park. Contractor Al Villa expects to have it completed by July 1. The hospital's laundry will also be nearby.

Administrator Dr. John C. Siemens says he knows of no other hospital with a separate facility for producing its own pharmaceuticals.

According to A. H. Angelini, director of pharmacy, most of the production will be in intravenous and irrigating solutions. Other lines which have been developed will also be expanded. Among these are lotions, ointments, bulk hospital solutions for sterilization and sterilized water for inhalation uses.
